NEW PRESIDENT INSTALLED AT COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

Nicholas Murray Butler Formally Assumes the Position in the Presence of Distinguished Assembly

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs)

New York April 19—Prof Nicholas Murray Butler was installed as president of Columbia university with imposing ceremonies today These ceremonies were attended by the president of the United States and the heads of the principal institutions of learning in the country

President Roosevelt arrived in this city from Washington at 6 30 a m He was accompanied by Mrs Roosevelt Secretary and Mrs Cortelyou Surgeon General Rixey and Dr John S Urie The president went at once to the residence of his aunt Mrs James W Roosevelt where he met Dr Butler at breakfast A few minutes before noon the president left the house accompanied by former Mayor Abram Hewitt and escorted by Squadron A and a body of mounted police was driven to the university arriving there at 1 o clock As Mr Roosevelt ascended the broad steps of the library he was greeted with loud cheers from a great concourse of students which he acknowledged by bowing repeatedly

Governor Odell and Mayor Low former president of the university arrived a few minutes later and followed President Roosevelt into the library where luncheon was served

The installation proceedings proper took place in the gymnasium to which the students of the university the members of the faculty the representatives of the national state and city governments the clergy, the alumni the representatives of the universities and colleges the emeritus officers and trustees marched in imposing procession

Prominent among those on the stage were President Roosevelt, Dr von Holleben the German ambassador Lord Kelvin Governor Odell Bishop Potter Rev Morgan Dix President Charles Eliot of Harvard President Francis L Patton of Princeton President William R Harper of Chicago, President Arthur S Hadley of Yale Mgr Conaty of the Catholic university of America President J G Schurman of Cornell Rev Dr Marvin R Vincent of the Union Theological seminary Chancellor McCracken of the New York university Colonel Albert T Mills superintendent of the West Point academy President Alexander S Webb of the College of the City of New York President Charles F Thwing of the Western Reserve university, President Mary F Wooley, of Mount Holyoke college Bishop Henry Y Satterlee of Washington, D C, Major General Brooke, U S A. Governor General Taft of the Philippines, Sir Percy Sanderson the British consul general Rear Admiral Parker, Archbishop Corrigan Postmaster-General Henry C Payne and ex Secretary Richard B Olney

The procession to the gymnasium was most impressive The college colors of the great universities of the country the solemn black gowns offset by the crimson of Harvard, the yellow and black of Princeton, the dark blue of Yale the red of Cornell, the blue and black of Pennsylvania blended with the colors of Oxford and Cambridge of England and the brilliant uniforms of military and diplomatic officers formed a magnificent spectacle

Bringing up the rear of this great procession of learning, and the most conspicuous figure of all was the president of the United States Cheer after cheer went up from the throats of thousands of students as the president walked along the line of march Within easy reach of President Roosevelt and never leaving his side until he passed within the walls of Alumni hall were four secret service men

The formal program for the installation was opened by prayer by Dr Vincent William C Schermerhorn on behalf of the board of trustees formally delivered the keys of the university to the new president

As President Butler took the oath of office the great mass of students rose and the hall rang with Columbia cheers Dean John Howard Van Amringe delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the faculty

R Fulton Cutting delivered an address on behalf of the alumni of the university Allan Beach Arnold Bradley president of the senior class of the university made an address of welcome on behalf of the student body

After a musical number had been rendered by the college orchestra the second part of the long program made up of congratulatory addresses by various college presidents was begun The speakers were Messrs Eliot, Hadley, Patton and Harper

William T Harris was the next speaker

After a selection by the university band President Butler made his inaugural address and the ceremonies were closed with the singing of the national anthem in which the president joined heartily and by the pronouncing of the benediction by Rt Rev Bishop H C Potter

At the conclusion of the ceremonies the university students formed in a great square at the head of the steps leading from the gymnasium and gave their college cheer ending with the cry Roosevelt Roosevelt

In response the president said

"I want to thank you all from the bottom of my heart for this kind and hearty reception I also wish to say how glad I am to be here today to see my old and valued friend made president of this great institution Incidentally I wish to say that the cheering and enthusiasm recalls to me my foot ball days

The president then turned and amid a perfect storm of shouts entered his carriage and departed with his escort He went to Mrs James W Roosevelt s residence

In the evening the alumni of Columbia gave a banquet at Sherry s in honor of the new president of the university Among those who made addresses were President Roosevelt and Mayor Low

NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER.

H. Clay Evans of Tennessee who recently resigned as pension commissioner, is mentioned as a possible United States minister to Cuba

OPPOSES REMOVAL OF MERGER SUIT

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs)

St Paul Minn April 19—The attorney general of Minnesota W B Douglass will oppose the removal of the merger suit from the Ramsey county district court into the United States circuit court He will go into the United States circuit court and there move the court to remand the suit to the county court from which it came

General Douglass said today after consultation with Senator Wilson associate counsel in the case

The transfer of the case will not embarrass or hinder the acts of the states It is immaterial in which court the case is tried but the motion to remand will at once bring up the question of jurisdiction and when that is settled we can proceed with the trial of the case on its merits In any event it will reach the supreme court without unnecessary delay "

The state expects President Hill of the Northern Securities company to renew in the federal court his motion to vacate the service of summons on the Northern Securities company and himself as president of the company on the same ground that the motion was made in the Ramsey county district court that the Northern Securities company is not doing business as a corporation in Minnesota and has appointed no agent in this state to receive service The service on Mr Hill as president of the Northern Securities company will be objected to on the ground that he is not a resident of this state in that capacity but only as an individual

Should the service be vacated then the state will probably try to secure service by publication

BIG STRIKE BEGUN IN SAN FRANCISCO

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs)

San Francisco April 19—The strike of the street car men began tonight At [illegible] only line affected was that on Market and Powell [illegible] Shortly before 8 o clock the cars [illegible] stopped and in a short time the [illegible] tied up [illegible] cars extending [illegible] blocks It is [illegible] strike [illegible] the strike will soon extend [illegible] and that by Monday the entire United Railroads system [illegible] two systems the California Street and [illegible] lines are not involved The executive committee of the [illegible] of the Amalgamated [illegible] Railway Employes [illegible] claim that [illegible] will quit work

The committee has issued a statement to the public [illegible] sympathy and support and setting forth their demands which are [illegible] of 25 cents per hour and 10 hours per day work to be performed within 12 consecutive hours that they be allowed to belong to a union and that men discharged for unionism be reinstated

The United Railroads which has but lately taken charge of the system which was formerly the Market Street railway has through its executive committee issued a statement to the effect that the new organization has no intention of reducing wages but on the contrary it has been determined that wherever the compensation on other lines is less than that given by the Market Street railway such compensation shall be raised to the same basis The company is ready at any time to consider carefully any complaint made by any employe

PREFERS COLORADO SPRINGS TO DANISH WEST INDIES

Mayor Robinson has received a reply from Jacob A Riis the noted writer and authority on sociological subjects whom President Roosevelt wants to send to the Danish West Indies An invitation was sent to Mr Riis to be present at the Chautauqua gathering here next summer as a speaker and it has been hoped that he could arrange to be present His letter to the mayor speaks for itself

New York April 14 1902

My Dear Sir

I am going to Washington to talk with the president who wants me to go to the Danish West Indies as governor when they are ceded to us I do not want to go and shall I hope convince him that he is on the wrong track So soon as that matter is settled I shall write you a letter in reply to your letter about the Chautauqua speeches That [illegible] a week

I have never been at the Rockies and do want to come if I can Meanwhile believe me truly yours Jacob A Riis

GAMBLING IN BLOOD

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs)

Denver April 19—Major General Frederick Funston was the principal speaker at the banquet of the Colorado Society Sons of the Revolution in celebration of the anniversary of the battle of Lexington General Funston spoke briefly on the lines of his previous speeches so far as the Philippines war was concerned He declared that the prolongation of the war was due more to the influence of outsiders than to the desire of the Filipinos for independence The condition of the Filipino under Aguinaldo s so called republic he declared was worse than during the most oppressive days of Spanish rule Said General Funston

I have my sympathy for the senior senator from Massachusetts who is suffering from an overheated conscience

The general however expressed the greatest contempt for the men who he declared at the outbreak of the Spanish war wanted us to take everything Spain had but are now playing at peanut politics and gambling in the blood of their countrymen

At the afternoon session the society elected the following officers

SENATOR TELLER WANTS TO KNOW WHAT'S WHAT

Washington April 19—Mr Teller (Colo) today introduced in the senate the following

Whereas It has been currently reported that nearly the entire crop of Cuban sugar has been purchased and is now held by what is generally known as the sugar trust which is the principal consumer of raw sugar in the United States and that any concession given to the raiser of raw sugar in the island of Cuba or any measure intended for their relief by admitting their sugar at reduced rates of duty into the United States will only benefit the sugar trust and that the Cubans will receive no real benefit from such concession and

Whereas It is alleged that a number of the citizens of the United States who have acquired large holdings of cane producing lands in Cuba are now especially urging the reduction of duty on sugar under the claim that such reduction will benefit the people of Cuba therefore be it

Resolved That the committee on relations with Cuba be directed to make an investigation as to the truth of these charges and to report to the senate and to report in addition thereto what is the normal cost of making sugar in the island of Cuba, and also if any concessions shall be made in the way of a reduction of the duty on sugar coming from Cuba into the United States what concessions should be made by the government of Cuba about to be established on articles produced in the United States and exported into the said island of Cuba in order to make a reciprocal and equitable arrangement as to exports to Cuba and imports therefrom to the United States "

The resolution was referred to the committee on relations with Cuba at the suggestion of Mr Platt of Connecticut, chairman of that committee

DENVER POLITICS

Special to the Gazette

Denver, April 19—Politics is beginning to warm up a little in Denver for the fall campaign Inside the Republican party the Stevenson Wolcott element seems to be quite active It is said they have a complete slate made up for the fall convention which they hope to force through Their candidate for governor is either John W Springer or Mayor R R Wright whichever appears to be best for them when the time comes Their candidate for congressman-at-large is F E Brooks of Colorado Springs and in the northern district S S Downer of Boulder and in the southern district Judge Dixon of Pueblo

There is much feeling here inside the Republican party against the manner in which Stevenson Frank Howbert Bailey and Brady are emphasizing themselves as the big It in the party and there is much talk even on the Wolcott side of the house in favor of relegating them to rear seats

There will be a lively contest at the primaries in Denver and the chances are that the Stevenson crowd will be knocked out by the Evans, Graham, Goudy, Seaman and Bonygne forces The young element in the party is opposed to Stevenson and the Republican women are a unit against him His leadership this fall means certain defeat in this county whereas if he is beaten at the primaries the county can be carried for the Republican ticket

There are well authenticated rumors that Stevenson and Wolcott are having a great deal of friction Stevenson complains bitterly to his intimate friends about Wolcott s treatment of him There is no doubt Stevenson would quit Wolcott if he had any other place to go, but Moffat and Evans threw him out of the Tramway company and the anti Wolcott forces would not touch him with a thousand foot pole Then too Stevenson always camps pretty close to the political barrel and it is safe to predict that even if Wolcott makes a door mat of him he will stay by Wolcott

The Democrats appear to be considerably at sea both as to the governorship and the senatorship There is a rumor that Thomas wants to be governor again and that he favors Teller for the senate

Adams is an avowed candidate for the senate, and he favors Orman for re election

The Denver Democratic ring has crippled the party very much in this city and if the Republicans had anything better than Stevenson to offer the people Denver would go Republican by a big majority

The beet sugar controversy in congress has weakened the Republicans in northern Colorado where six months ago the prospects were good for a sweeping Republican victory

TROUBLE IN CHINA

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs)

Peking April 19.—The populace is becoming increasingly excited over rumors that trouble is imminent between the imperial and the foreign troops but the demeanor of the Chinese continues friendly toward foreigners the best informed of whom discredit the rumors of the existence of an anti-foreign feeling

The commanders of the guards at the foreign legations met today and arranged plans for defense should trouble arise

The intention of the empress dowager to review the imperial troops on the return of the court from the journey to the western tombs of the dynasty, has been abandoned, presumably because the Chinese officials considered that the holding of the review might be construed as a demonstration against the foreign troops

WILHELMINA'S CONDITION

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs)

The Hague, April 19—A dispatch received from Castle Loo tonight says the normal course of Queen Wilhelmina's malady has not been interrupted and her condition is fairly satisfactory. Her majesty has taken some liquid nourishment.

OIL IN REPUBLIC WELL

Special to the Gazette.

Boulder April 19—Everyone interested in oil here and that means practically the whole population of Boulder is feeling very jubilant tonight more especially stockholders in the Republic Oil & Development company The reason for this is that at a depth of 961 feet instead of being merely a hole in the ground the Republic is a full fledged oil well with a capacity variously estimated at from 30 to 100 barrels per day

As chronicled in this morning's paper the drill struck oil sand at a depth of 870 feet yesterday afternoon and drilling was suspended awaiting orders from the general manager of the company Mr Teagarden went out to the well and after looking things over, decided to continue drilling Work was immediately resumed and at about 11 o clock the amount of oil began to increase and soon the bailer came up full every time Drilling was continued until 3 o clock this afternoon when the flow had become so great that it was impossible to drill so the tools were pulled up The bailer was sent down again and again and each time it came up full An effort was made to drain the well in this manner but it proved an impossibility After all the barrels about had been filled the oil was poured on the ground and fully 100 barrels were wasted in this way The oil is somewhat darker and greener than that found in the other wells but is of practically the same quality

The well is down just 961 feet having drilled through 91 feet of the oil sand strata and there is no telling how much farther it extends If the flow continues at its present rate the well will probably not be sunk any deeper It is the general opinion among oil men that the Republic is an edge well that is close to the edge of the oil basin and that the sand is the same stratum found 1 00 feet deeper in the McKenzie If this is so it must have an enormous depth as the two wells are only about 1 800 feet apart Tubing will be put in on Monday and as soon as tankage can be secured the well will commence steady pumping Conservative estimates place the Republic at 30 barrels well and if it does that well it will be by all odds the best in the field As it is only about one third as deep as the other wells the company will save about $ 000 on drilling alone to say nothing of the saving in casing and tubing and it will also be much easier to pump than the deeper ones Messrs Smith & Perry who came here from Indiana and West Virginia to work for Mr Huselton were the crew on duty when oil was struck and are being congratulated by their comrades on their good fortune in bringing in what is probably the best well in the field up to date

The strike caused great excitement in Boulder and is the one topic of talk on the street tonight Messrs Allison Teagarden and the other officers of the company are wearing contented smiles and showing samples of the oil to numerous friends Republic stock which had been selling at five cents per share is away up in the air now and other stocks will also feel the effect of the strike The other companies owning property adjoining and in the immediate vicinity of the Republic are greatly encouraged and will use every effort to get their wells down as speedily as possible in the hope of being as successful

It remains to be seen how long it will be before the Republic s record of a producing well in 10 days from the time rigging was begun will be broken

WAS HERE IN '58

A pioneer of this region is in this city in the person of David Kellogg now of Seattle who was here in 58 when the oldest inhabitants were Indians and antelope and the Garden of the Gods was unstoried and unsung Mr Kellogg is accompanied by his wife and daughter and says that this is the first time he has been in this vicinity since those memorable early days The magic with which Colorado Springs has sprung up into prosperity and greatness brought forth expressions of surprise from the old trailer

"Fifty eight of us left Kansas City in the summer of 1858 said Mr Kellogg last evening and followed the valley of the Arkansas to the Fountain and then up the Fountain northward thence to Cherry creek along which we went until we came to what is now the site of Denver where we camped for some time At that time there were only two white men in the region George McDougall at the mouth of Fountain creek and a man named Smith at the mouth of Cherry creek who had small camps and corrals for their cattle This was then the greatest antelope country in the United States.

"In January of the following year we left the site of Denver and came south attempting to cross the headwaters of Plum creek but were driven back on account of the great snow drifts Finally we succeeded in effecting a crossing of the headwaters of the Monument. This was the first passage of what is called the Palmer Lake divide and we claim to have been the discoverers of the route Following the Monument valley we arrived at what was then known as the Red Rock corral Now it is famous as the Gateway to the Garden of the Gods a prominent landmark Anyone who had ever seen it once would know it wherever he saw it reproduced in photograph or picture I saw a picture of it in Seattle and although I had seen it 40 years before I recognized it immediately "

Mr Kellogg further stated that at the Red Rock corral there were two townsites laid out and the two parties quarreled so that they came near entering upon actual warfare When the winter was over he returned to Kansas City by way of the old Platte River trail and although he has been to the Pacific coast he has never had the good fortune to see this city until within the past few days Mr Kellogg will remain in this city a day or two and then go to Denver

NEWS NOTES FROM DENVER

Trinidad Land Grant Probed by Committee--Governor Pleased With Inspection.

Denver Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette.

Denver, April 19.—The committee appointed to investigate the granting of certain land near Trinidad will report Monday morning that the land does not contain coal sufficient to warrant it being classed coal lands. This is the grant which was contested by Dr. Grass of Trinidad and defended by Senator Barela. Dr. Grass's contentions were that the land was coal land and should have been leased as such. It is thought that the board will accept the report of the committee. The committee was composed of A. P. Toombs and W. O. Jamison.

Incorporation papers filed in Mr. Mill's office today conveyed the information that himself, A. B. Gray, and T. D. Zavits had incorporated a $50,000 stock company to manufacture disinfectant soap, ointment and tonic, and Mr. Gray says that the tonic means hair restorer.

The state board of equalization was in session nearly all the morning and listened to B. Morehead of St. Louis, who represents the American Refrigerator Transit company and three other tramp car companies. Last year their cars were valued at $880 each. Mr. Morehead feels that the valuation is too high and he appeared before the board today to have it reduced. He is the first party to appear before the board this year.

Governor Orman returned today from his trip of inspection from the southwestern part of the state. He appeared very much pleased with his visit. While away he inspected the new state road at Glenwood and also visited the Gunnison canal. He was the recipient of many beautiful presents while away. Among them was a gold-headed cane, a mounted deer head, and other things too numerous to mention. Some admiring constituent gave him a sample of Monte Rosa potatoes. There are only five of them but they entirely fill a pasteboard shirt box.

H. M. Allen, who for a long time was employed as a clerk in the local offices of the Burlington, has resigned his position here to accept a position in the office of General Superintendent Bryant of the Colorado Midland at Colorado Springs.

The city authorities have accepted a proposition from the Colorado Telephone company which is to give the city free use of telephones until 1909 provided the service of no other company was accepted.

The Denver Times will be sold under a first mortgage held by the International Trust company Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the Tremont street door of the court house. Judge Johnson, sitting in the second division of the district court, today dissolved the temporary injunction issued by Judge Carpenter of the fourth division of the same court at the petition of the Rocky Mountain Paper company which withheld the sale. This dissolution of the injunction was by mutual stipulation without prejudice between the defendant, the Times-Sun Publishing company, the International Trust company and D. H. Moffat; and the plaintiffs, the Rocky Mountain Paper company.

The motion of the defendant to dissolve the temporary injunction so that the sale could proceed under the mortgage was denied by Judge Johnson Friday afternoon after hearing testimony and argument occupying a large portion of two weeks. The defendant's demurrer to the complaint was at the same time overruled by the court. Judge Johnson also granted the petition of the Rocky Mountain Paper company for the appointment of a receiver for the Times-Sun Publishing company and announced that he will make the appointment at 2 o'clock this afternoon. When the hour for the appointment arrived the attorneys for the plaintiff and the defendant represented to the court that they had agreed on a basis of settlement and by mutual consent the injunction was dissolved. This removed the last obstacle to the sale of the Times, which will take place Monday. The mortgage under which the paper will be sold is dated February 2, 1895, and is in favor of the International Trust company for the sum of $125,000 and gives the trust company a lien on the various goods and chattels of the Times-Sun company. This mortgage was foreclosed December 28 last and the sale to satisfy the mortgage was set for February 24, but was continued from week to week pending a disposition of the Rocky Mountain Paper company's claim. The sale was stopped by injunction on the petition of the Rocky Mountain Paper company. They alleged that the Times-Sun Publishing company owed them a bill for paper used in publishing the Times and that the property advertised for sale was not the property mortgaged in 1895. The hearing on the defendant's motion to dissolve this temporary injunction was begun April 9.

THREE CUP DRINKERS

Too Much Coffee at Meals.

I was formerly one of the greatest coffee drinkers in the country—drinking as high as three cups at a meal, and as a consequence, was in a most nervous condition.

Could not even lift a cup without spilling part of it, my hand shook so.

By reading some articles about Postum Food Coffee, I was led to a knowledge of the fact that coffee was the thing that was hurting me, so I quit it and took up the use of Postum, and after I found how to make it right, I liked it so well that I have continued to use it since. I am now 28 pounds heavier than I ever was, and feel 10 per cent. better than I ever felt in my life. I have no sort of desire to go back to the old-fashioned coffee. Victor B. FLORENCE

Special to the Gazette.

Florence, April 19.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Keystone Oil company held this afternoon the following officers were elected: T. N. James, president; William Lloyd, vice president; J. V. McCandless, secretary; Charles Neely, treasurer. The above, with J. B. Cunningham of Victor, constitute the board of directors. It was decided to build two more derricks at once and drill two more wells. There were about 800,000 shares of stock represented. Numerous stockholders from Cripple Creek, Colorado Springs and Pueblo were present.

The Florence Eagles baseball team has elected Dr. F. R. Moore manager and secretary, John Shields president and William Davis captain. The club has completed arrangements for a game with Cripple Creek to be played here one week from Sunday. This will be the opening game of the season of the Arkansas Valley league. Left Fielder O'Neil, formerly with the Gillett Giants, has signed with Florence this year and will arrive from Arizona next week.

The Rocky Mountain smelter will be closed down and cleaned up at once for extensive improvements which will be made. The company has decided to install a roasting process so that the mill can be put on a better treating basis so that it can compete with the trust smelters.

DANDRUFF WON'T WASH OUT

The germ that causes it has to be Destroyed, to Cure Dandruff.

Many a woman spends an hour twice a week scouring her scalp, thinking scrubbing off the scurf will cure the dandruff. Two hours a week, at the age of 40 years, she has spent 260 days of 12 hours each, or two-thirds of a year of her life, in that vain hope; vain, because you can't cure dandruff without killing the dandruff germ, and the only hair preparation on earth that will do that is Newbro's "Herpicide"—also a delightful hair dressing, and thorough antiseptic against all contagion from use of others' hair brushes. It is also a delightful hair dressing.

LONG ON NEW SHIPS

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs)

Washington April 19 —Secretary Long was before the house committee on naval affairs today and discussed the building of new ships and other items of naval expenditures The secretary favored appropriations for three battleships two armored cruisers and several smaller ships this year along the lines of his recommendation in his annual report He also explained features of the improvements at the United States naval academy and the expenditures under the emergency fund

When asked as to the building of warships in government yards Mr Long renewed his disapproval of such action on the ground that the cost would be about 25 per cent greater and that it would have a tendency to build up political organizations at the navy yards As to submarine boats the secretary thought it would be well to defer further action until boats now under construction had been completed and tested

Final action on the item of new ships and the appropriation bill as a whole went over

NECESSITY OF EXPANSION

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs)

Chicago April 19 —The necessity of expansion was the dominant theme at the banquet of the Bankers club which was held tonight at the Auditorium hotel M E Ingalls president of the Big Four railroad the principal speaker said in part

The very first thing to do to promote commerce and trade with the West India islands and the South American states is to build up a system of transportation and communication between our country and these several ports and cities If our country today instead of spending millions in subsidies which are to be used to compete with the fast ships on the North Atlantic and with the profitless trade of Europe would allow the postmaster general to spend whatever sum was necessary in carrying the mails at least once a week between the United States and the principal ports of the West Indies and the South American states we should soon find our commerce increasing and bankers establishing agencies and furnishing exchange and credit

Test the Wonderful Curative Properties of Swamp-Root

To Prove What Swamp-Root, the World-Famous Kidney and Bladder Remedy, Will Do for YOU, Every Reader of the Gazette May Have a Sample Bottle Free.

Dr Kilmer & Co Binghamton N Y

Gentlemen—In justice to you I feel it is my duty to send you an acknowledgment of the receipt of the sample bottle of Swamp Root you so kindly sent me I had been out of health for the past five years with kidney and bladder trouble Had our best physicians prescribe for me They would relieve me for the time being but the old complaint would in a short time return again I sent for a sample bottle of Swamp Root, and I found it did me a world of good Since then I have taken eight small bottles bought at my drug store and I consider myself perfectly cured It seemed as though my back would break in two after stooping I do not have the smarting and irritation nor do I have to get up during the night to urinate, as I formerly did three or four times a night but now sleep the sleep of peace My back is all right again and in every way I am a new man Two of my brother officers are still using Swamp Root They, like myself, cannot say too much in praise of it It is a boon to mankind We recommend it to all who are suffering from kidney and bladder diseases

My brother officers (whose signatures accompany this letter) as well as myself, thank you for the blessing you have brought to the human race in the compounding of Swamp Root.

We remain yours very truly,

JAMES COOK
HUGH E BOYLE

Officers of the 58th Police Precinct Greater New York

If you are sick or feel badly begin taking the famous new discovery Dr Kilmer's Swamp-Root because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health A trial will convince anyone

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for many kinds of diseases and if permitted to continue much suffering with fatal results are sure to follow Kidney trouble irritates the nerves makes you dizzy, restless sleepless and irritable Makes you pass water often during the day and obliges you to get up many times during the night Unhealthy kidneys cause rheumatism gravel catarrh of the bladder pain or dull ache in the back joints and muscles makes your head ache and back ache causes indigestion stomach and liver trouble you get a sallow yellow complexion makes you feel as though you had heart trouble you may have plenty of ambition but no strength get weak and waste away

Swamp Root is pleasant to take and is used in the leading hospitals recommended by physicians in their private practice and is taken by doctors themselves because they recognize in it the greatest and most successful remedy that science has ever been able to compound

If you are already convinced that Swamp Root is what you need you can purchase the regular fifty cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp Root—Dr Kilmer's Swamp-Root and the address Binghamton N Y on every bottle

EDITORIAL NOTICE—Swamp Root the great Kidney Liver and Bladder remedy, is so remarkably successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all of our readers who have not already tried it may have a sample bottle sent absolutely free by mail Also a book telling all about kidney and bladder troubles and containing many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women cured by Swamp-Root In writing be sure and mention reading this generous offer in The Colorado Springs Sunday Gazette when sending your address to Dr Kilmer & Co Binghamton N Y

SCHIELE BROS. STATE THEIR SIDE OF THE CONTROVERSY

The firm of Schiele Bros & Moreland whose men were reported yesterday morning to have gone out on a strike their alleged grievance being stated in yesterday's Gazette made public last night their side of the controversy

As stated yesterday on the authority of the striking cigarmakers the firm refused to sign an agreement submitted to them Schiele Bros & Moreland have given this agreement out to the Gazette for the information of the public wishing to make the situation perfectly clear The statement follows

To the public

We notice an article in a local paper regarding a strike in our factory which was no surprise to us We were at loss to know on what grounds they would declare same and we wish to state to the public the facts of the matter We closed down our factory the evening of the 11th to avoid trouble rumors of which were plentiful all regarding an advance of $1 per thousand the local union had made and of which we had no information until a few days before we closed our factory and the only reply we could get from the representative regarding the advance was that they made it to help out Denver We have always paid $1 per thousand more than Denver, and after this advance we would be compelled to pay $2 per thousand more for the same class of work On the morning of the 15th a committee called to see us to find out when the factory would open again and during the conference the committee and ourselves agreed to open the factory Thursday morning About 4 30 of the same day a committee of three called and informed us that they had misunderstood our proposition We then made another which the took under consideration and on the morning of the 16th the committee called again and told us that it must be one of two things either we pay the scale of wages as they demanded or they would strike They then left calling again the morning of the 16th at 11 30 when we told them 10 of them could come to work at noon the 17th and the balance on Monday the 21st When one of them asked if they could depend on the shop opening in full force on the latter date we assured them it would, and they left us under the impression that everything was satisfactory, we in turn notified such of our help as we needed to prepare the stock and arrange things to open at noon on the 17th when to our surprise they came back at 4 30 on the evening of the 16th with the following agreement, and requested us to sign which we refused to do As per copy below Agreement and answer

The advance of wages was made three months ago and we knew nothing of it until a few days before the shop shut down It is the only question of reduction that has occurred between us They were here at least six times in three days looking for an excuse to strike but always found us willing to concede to their demands and open the factory until they presented above agreement which any fair minded man must know would be suicide to our business In regard to the 'Cordove' cigar, we make all sizes except the 5c "Cordove" and we have never claimed to make them but will say that they are made by one of the best and oldest established union factories in existence and we wish we had the same class of union men to deal with as the above named factory

We further wish to state that we are the only factory in the state which jobs exclusive union label cigars

As to the black list referred to by the men we would say that we have discharged four men who were in the last trouble but all on account of poor workmanship and there has been no complaint made until the article referred to in the paper this morning.

Respectfully

Schiele Bros & Moreland

The agreement that the firm refused to sign as given to the Gazette for publication is as follows

To Schiele Bros. & Moreland.

Whereas We, the employes of the firm of Schiele Bros & Moreland, have in the past contended with considerable trouble and difficulty, wish to come to some understanding with an agreement between said firm and employes, we hereby present this agreement to further avoid any difficulties

Section 1 That we, the said firm of Schiele Bros & Moreland, will not by ourselves or with the conclusion of others meddle with or try to reduce the present bill of prices

Sec 2 That when the men return to work they stay at work at least one month

Sec. 3. Whereas we have lost considerable time over question of open head work and whereas we deem present lay off an injustice to the employes, as our bill provides for such work

Sec 4 That in the future after the men return to work no man can be discharged for any other reason than bad workmanship this to be decided by a committee of five selected by the shop collector as to whether his work is fair and marketable or not

KILLED IN SWITZERLAND.

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs)

Lausanne, Switzerland, April 19 — The American youth who, with the son of a Lausanne publisher named Iner was killed some days ago by falling to the bottom of a gorge in the Encel pass near Evionnaz was Talcott Williams Chambers 16 years old, the only son of a missionary, Rev Mr Chambers, stationed at Adana Anatolia (Asia Minor) Both of the victims were pupils at the normal school of Pesseuf, Canton of Neuchatel.

MEETS NEXT IN COLORADO

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs)

San Diego Calif , April 19 —The Transcontinental Passenger association has adjourned to meet at some place in Colorado, not yet chosen, next year The military rate question was deferred to be taken up at the next session The committee's report recommending interchangeable mileage tickets was adopted The business of handling the tickets will be in charge of a transcontinental mileage bureau

The passenger departments of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe and the Oregon Railway and Navigation company were appointed as a committee to arrange details The head of the bureau will be in San Francisco and it is probable that it will be in charge of Robert E Countiss

It is thought the tickets can be placed before the public by the first of June

CITY HALL

CONTRACT WILL PROBABLY BE LET TOMORROW NIGHT

Council Will Meet and If Organization Is Disposed of Early Enough the Building Contract Will Be Awarded

It is expected that at the meeting to be held tomorrow night the contract for the erection of the new city hall will be awarded. The intention of the committee having the matter in hand is understood to be to award the contract to Lynn S Atkinson one of the bidders under the original request for bids.

The contract for the erection of the building is being watched with great interest by the people of the city and it is hoped by prominent citizens that the matter will not be delayed further.

It is possible that the reorganization of the council will make it inadvisable to take up the matter of this contract tomorrow night but if this proves to be the case another meeting will be held within a day or two.

H. M. ALLEN WILL COME TO THE MIDLAND

H M Allen clerk in the Denver office of the Burlington road has accepted a position in the office of Superintendent Bryant of the Midland in this city and will assume the duties of his new position at once

IT'S CONVINCING TO SKEPTICS

To they visit our store. It's true that we have not the most imposing front in the city, but when you make a tour of the store it's different. On entering you find an attractive display of the very latest in fruits and vegetables, surrounded by an extensive stock of everything in the line of staple and fancy groceries, while in the background is a most inviting fish, poultry and meat market. Going ... you come to our extensive delivery department where orders are prepared with the utmost care and under the eye of the proprietor. The wagons are waiting in readiness and take deliveries of goods for all parts of the city several times a day, also to Manitou, Broadmoor, Colorado City and Roswell.

Back of all this comes the stock from which the supplies are drawn. The upon pile of goods of all kinds up to the ceiling, comprising articles much too numerous to mention, and yet every one of them in demand in an up to date market. Some of our numerous employes work here all the time, for such is the magnitude of our trade that new goods arrive almost hourly and take the place of those sold. This is a word sketch of our store. The conclusion is—we please the people in quality, price, prompt service and uniform grade of goods—the best.

Springtime Thoughts

Naturally turn to the securing of a home. The reason is plain. At this season of the year you can place a more accurate estimate as to the value of a location and its advantages. We want every man and woman to come and look at the lots we offer in our Fourth and Fifth Additions. They have an increase in value attractiveness that pleases every buyer ...

Means Money In Your Pocket

to buy a lot of us whether you want it for a home or for an investment. Our location is unequaled, being the highest point in the northeastern section of the city. Streets have been graded, trees planted along the thoroughfares, water mains are and general up to date improvements made.

Big Advance In Prices

will come with the construction of the new car line which goes to the center of the addition. Look at this record—82 lots sold and 25 houses (costing from $1,000 to $2,200 each) built. That shows how others appreciate lots in these additions. Select your lot and we will build you a home and sell it to you on easy monthly payments. Call and talk with us.

"THE LITTLE TYCOON"

Best Amateur Production Ever Given in the City—Members of the Company Covered Themselves With Glory.

Two enjoyable performances of "The Little Tycoon" were given at the Opera house yesterday and at each there was a fair audience well pleased and often extremely enthusiastic. A considerable improvement was noticed in the action in all three scenes, the singers having become more accustomed to the stage and the business. Until last evening it was difficult to realize that the company was amateur performers.

Yesterday brought a wave of summer in the trail of the wild ducks which have been flying northward over the city for the past few days. White shirt waists and negligee costumes thronged the street, clothing a multitude of people who began to consider investment in straw hats and ice cream sodas. If the leaves had been out it would have been difficult to have found the difference between April 19 and August 19, for few summer days are any more noticeably warm than yesterday.

BOARD ROOF

MAY BE PLACED ON COURT HOUSE TEMPORARILY

Commissioners Anxious That the Plastering Contract Be Fulfilled Without Delay

The county commissioners are considering the advisability of putting a temporary board roof over the new court house to allow the plastering to proceed. It appears as if it might take some time before the steel roof can be put in place and it will be impossible for the plastering to proceed as long as the building remains open to the elements.

There has been a slight delay in the plastering contract due to the fact that the successful bidder wants more time for its execution than the commissioners are willing to vouchsafe, together with a bonus for each day in which he gains on the time.

Steel work is being put in place for the huge tower and the stone will be put in place very shortly. The exterior of the building will be completed within a few weeks.

DR. FINKBINDER ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE SYNOD

A new honor has come unsought to the Rev. J. W. Finkbiner, D. D., of this city in his election to the presidency of the Rocky Mountain synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church which has been holding its sessions in Laramie, Wyo., during the past week. Besides Dr. Finkbiner the new officers elected were Rev. D. Bert Smith of Boulder, secretary; Rev. J. W. Simon, D. D., of Denver, historical secretary; Rev. Fred Yeakel of Denver, treasurer.

A particularly interesting report was made by Rev. Dr. Yager of Atchison, Kas., secretary of the board of church extension work. It showed that during the last biennial period the board has received $152,000, has aided 189 congregations and has secured the erection of 182 churches.

It is expected that Dr. Finkbiner will return to this city tomorrow.

W. C. T. U. OPPOSES SUNDAY AMUSEMENTS

The Frances Willard W. C. T. U., at its regular business meeting, adopted the following resolution:

We, the members of the Frances Willard W. C. T. U. of Colorado Springs, wish to place ourselves on record as being opposed to the opening of Prospect park upon the Sabbath and pledge ourselves to use our influence toward this end. We also wish to express our appreciation of the stand taken by our mayor in vetoing the resolution regarding Sunday opening of the park as presented by the city council. Mrs. S. S. Jencks, president; Mrs. C. A. Mellender, secretary.

BUT... PEOPLE ... INTERVIEWS

"There isn't any spring here," said a prominent man of this city at the Antlers last evening. "If you don't believe me just look at that guy there with the straw hat on. Why, it was only a day or two ago that there was a lot of snow on the ground and people were going around with mackintoshes and galoshes and heavy winter wraps on, and now we are getting dust storms and regular summer weather. Winter is over and summer is here." The beautiful weather conditions of the past few days have brought out many straw hats and yesterday this gentleman noticed several people on the street with complete new spring outfits, which indicated to him that the severe weather had come and gone.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. W. H. Coffin has moved to 119 E. St. Vrain street.

Scott Ashton, a well known attorney of Victor, was in the city yesterday, registering at the Alamo.

Dr. W. H. Bergtold and Dr. H. T. Pershing are two prominent Denver physicians who are at the Antlers.

Mrs. M. C. Wright of Washington, Ind., leaves for her old home Tuesday, after living here 17 years.

A party of Philadelphians who are out on an extended pleasure trip are William A. Selser, wife and daughter. They are registered at the Plaza.

C. C. Hoyt, city ticket agent of the Santa Fe, has gone to Denver with Mrs. Hoyt to spend a few days visiting friends.

A visitor at the railroad offices yesterday was A. G. Seaman, commercial agent of the Chicago Great Western at Denver.

Gentry Shelton of St. Louis, who married Miss Lillian Cobb, a niece of W. S. Stratton, is in the city and is registered at the Antlers.

J. Rial and his daughter, Miss K. Rial, are prominent Pennsylvanians who are stopping at the Plaza for a few days prior to going to San Francisco.

Mrs. Lester S. Grant of Cripple Creek spent Thursday and Friday visiting her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Grant of Manitou, and also relatives in Colorado Springs.

J. S. Thompson of Lacon, Ill., who was a large stockholder in the Temomj prior to the purchase of the property by W. S. Stratton, is in the city visiting J. H. Crapser.

Among the prominent New York arrivals at the Antlers are A. G. Agnew and his daughters, Misses C. S. Agnew, Alice G. Agnew and S. O. Agnew, and Miss L. L. Auchincloss.

Mr. J. N. Olmstead and family are stopping in the Springs for two weeks on their way home from California. Mr. Olmstead is stopping with his son, H. J. Olmstead, at 603 East Boulder street.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Ady left last night over the Santa Fe for Dallas, Texas. Mrs. Ady will not return to the city until after the convention of the Federation of Women's clubs, to which she will go as one of the Colorado Springs delegates.

Miss Alice M. White and Mr. J. H. Anderson of this city were married last Tuesday by the Rev. Benjamin Brewster, pastor of Grace church, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. S. J. White, 530 East Bijou street. Mr. Anderson is connected with Smith's drug store.

Mr. George J. Taft, manager of the Columbus Buggy Co., has just returned from an extended trip to California in the interests of the parent house. Mr. Taft reports excellent business on the coast. Mrs. Taft remained in California, where she will spend several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Donaldson, W. Betts Donaldson and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Begg are a party from Glasgow, Scotland, who are at the Alamo. They are on a tour of the United States and are stopping in Colorado Springs to take in the sights before proceeding to California.

Mr. D. H. Key and Miss Key of Cleveland expect to remain at the Grand View hotel, Manitou, for about two weeks. A. O. Hemmer, of Fountain, an extensive cattle dealer; J. D. Miles and wife, Mr. and Mrs. A. May-hew and W. H. Simpson and wife, all of Milwaukee, are also at the Grand View hotel.

Another Death in the Murphy Family

A fifth member of the Murphy family has fallen a victim to the deadly disease which last week struck down within a few days, a father, a mother, a son and a daughter. This time the person who died was Miss Fannie Worrell of Springfield, Missouri, who succumbed Yesterday morning at 905 Cheyenne road.

Miss Worrell was a sister of Mrs. Murphy and came to Cripple Creek from Springfield, to attend the members of the Murphy family who were ill, and after Mrs. Murphy's death was taken with the same disease which was diagnosed as infectious pneumonia. In spite of the warnings of her physician, Miss Worrell insisted upon coming to this city to attend the funeral of her relatives, but was unable to do so and was removed to 905 Cheyenne road, where she died. Hallett & Baker cared for the remains and they were sent to Springfield last night for burial.

Hundred New Trees for the Antlers Park

The city of Colorado Springs will begin at once the work of setting out 100 new trees in the city park west of the Antlers hotel known as the Antlers park.

The trees are of hard wood, several varieties being included in the number that are to be set out. The committee in charge of the work has not yet been designated but Alderman Capell is taking it in hand in order that it may be carried through at the earliest possible moment.

The fact that the trees in the Antlers park have been trimmed as closely as they have during the past winter makes it likely that the present season will prove an advantageous one in which to start the new trees growing well. They will be set out during the coming week.

It is the intention of the persons having the work in charge to set them not exactly on a line with the present row through the center of the park, it being desired to make the avenue wider and also to so arrange the trees as to bring the steps of the Antlers hotel in line with the middle of the park. It is likely that the trees now extending through the middle of the park will be taken out in five or six years, they being old trees and it being expected that the new trees will be in shape to furnish all the shade necessary by that time.

FALSE ALARM FROM NORTH END BOX

A false alarm of fire was turned in last evening about 10 o'clock from box 15, at the corner of Tejon and Cache la Poudre streets, the central and north end companies responding. This is the first time that a false alarm has been rung from this box. It is supposed that the alarm was given by some brainless individual with a predilection for impractical jokes. The miscreant was possibly a farmer trying to post a letter, possibly a High school boy or a green college freshman, possibly a citizen who was neither a High school nor college boy.

SPENDS MEN AT THUNDER MOUNTAIN

J. B. CHENOWETH WRITES FROM MACKAY, IDAHO.

Mackay, Idaho,
April 16, 1902.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

Dear Sir: I received the paper all O. K. Many thanks for same. I will say that we are having some very fine weather up here, although the snow covers the peaks yet and will for some time. The Boise friends are working their way up into Thunder Mountain, but some have come from there and say this is the best way. The road is being opened up on this line almost to the three forks, about 30 miles from the mountain. People are like the fish in high water, crowding up every inch they can. The indications are that many thousands will be on the road by the first of May. The old timers here say that it is of no use to start before the first, for they know the country well. I must tell you that I have had some very fine messes of trout already. They are splendid and if nothing happens I think that I will get to try my new Winchester rifle on some bears and deer as well as other game. I am told that I will get the chance to find them if I look for them. Well, good luck to the citizens of the Springs and the same to myself. I shall soon be on the road from here to join the rush. Yours respectfully,

J. B. Chenoweth,
Mackay, Idaho.

WM. NERTNEY HAS REACHED THE DISTRICT.

Says Deep Snow Prevents Work at Present But That Prospects Are Good.

An interesting letter has just been received from William Nertney, who is now at Thunder mountain. He reports that he is able to do almost no locating because of the deep snows, but that he has succeeded in getting a couple of claims as near as two and one-half miles southwest of the Dewey mine. For eight miles radiating out from this property, he says, the ground has been staked, but the locations have been made in the places easily accessible along the creeks. The best ground, lying back on the ridges, has been left. The snows are very deep, he says, and it will be 50 or 60 days before the journey can be comfortably made. Even then it will be necessary to pack one's food in 80 miles, if one wants to eat after he reaches the district. The showings which he has seen impress him as very favorable, but it will take lots of work to prove how valuable they are.

WOMAN'S UNION—A meeting of the woman's foreign missionary department of the First Congregational church will be held on Friday, April 25, at 2:30 p. m. The Canton, China, missions will be discussed under the leadership of Mrs. Day, and the devotional exercises will be conducted by Mrs. Stark.

Several Make Rush to Test Extinguisher

An interesting test of the efficacy of the Swan fire extinguisher was given at the fire station yesterday morning at about 10 o'clock.

Harry Dennis, the well-known member of the hook and ladder company, offered himself as a subject in the test and donned a long rubber coat. The back of this was covered with gasoline. Harry bent his head forward and a match was applied. The flames leaped up the back of the coat and blazed merrily for a second or so, but a handful of Swan's powder put the blaze out before any damage had been done.

The chief then filled a bucket half full of water and placed a considerable amount of gasoline on top of the water. A match was applied and the gasoline burned fiercely. Water was thrown on and the fire became hotter, then Mr. Swan threw in a small amount of his powder and put the blaze out. This showed the efficacy of his powder in cases where water could not be used to advantage. The chief then went into the basement of the city hall and constructed a small floor out of two-by fours. He left small cracks between the boards. Underneath he put a lot of shavings and paper and started a bonfire. He allowed it to gain quite a little headway. Mr. Swan then threw some powder on top of the boards and put the fire out at once. The powder dropped through the cracks and did its work as well as if thrown directly into the flames.

To show that a large quantity of the powder is not needed, Mr. Swan filled a cuspidor with gasoline and placed a pinch of the powder on the edge of the cuspidor. When the flames were mounting high he snipped the powder into the cuspidor and the fire died out at once. The firemen were much impressed with the powder and believe it is one of the best extinguishers ever invented.

People's Mission to Make Improvements

The People's Mission church, Institutional, which was organized last August to succeed the People's mission, has leased the property at 25 and 27 West Huerfano street, which is owned by Mrs. Jessie Thorn, the lease to run for a period of five years from May 1. It is planned to spend in the neighborhood of $2,500 in improvements to adapt the building to the uses of the church. The plans are being drawn by Architect McLaren and bids will probably be called for within a few days, the lease requiring the improvements to be finished within six months.

Although the plans call for a remodeling of the first floor, the heaviest expenditure will be upon the construction of a second story, which will be set apart for an auditorium, 40 by 80 feet, with a seating capacity of about 500. A wide stairway from Huerfano street will give entrance to the second story.

The first floor of the building will be devoted to the children, the boys brigade and the other special features connected with the institutional work of the mission. A new feature of the work is that which is being successfully conducted among the children. Sunday schools being maintained at the central building, at Ivywild and at the Day nursery. Children's meetings are held in various parts of the city every evening except Saturday, and a children's church is held every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Another feature of the work is the maintenance of a free employment bureau. Supervision of the mission work is in charge of Rev. William H. Lee and a corps of helpers.

Long Residence Is Sold to A. H. Hunt

A. H. Hunt, assistant cashier of the First National bank of this city, has purchased the house which Secretary of the Navy John D. Long built last year for his daughter, who died a few months ago at the family home in Hingham, Mass.

Every modern convenience, including an elevator, was put into the house by the secretary, and it is considered one of the finest residences in the north end, being located at 1508 Wood avenue, and giving an excellent view of the mountains. In architecture it is colonial and it is modeled after the family mansion of Secretary Long in Hingham. The deal for its sale to Mr. Hunt was negotiated by the realty firm of C. P. Bennett & Co., and the purchase price was in the neighborhood of $10,000.

RICKMAN ARRESTED FOR DISTURBING ROW

A. L. Rickman, a colored man living on East Pueblo avenue, was arrested last night on a charge of disturbance. The charge was preferred by his wife.

Officer Bennet made the arrest and when he arrived at the house he found things torn up in great shape. The woman says that her husband went after her with a knife and threatened to kill her. He says that he went to work yesterday morning and came home at noon to find his wife out and no dinner ready. He says he was feeling bad when he went home last night and they had a little quarrel. It will all come out in police court tomorrow morning.

NEWS AND NOTES

GRIZZLIES FED ON RICH MEAT

Millionaires Couldn't Cash In at All in Denver.

THREE HITS IN THE GAME

This Was the Best They Could Do—Batting Weakness Was Appalling—The Score in Detail.

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, April 19.—Captain Bill had a sorrowful look on his countenance during today's game and it lengthened as the game progressed. At the close he gathered his flock around him and left for the hotel to give them a secret lecture on the science of ball playing, the same to be used in tomorrow's game. For the first time Denver had her regular team together and it was the unanimous opinion of all present that the Millionaires in their present make-up will never do. The team is at present composed of good fielders and excellent base runners, but they cannot bat and that is what wins games. Outside of Captain Everitt and Center Fielder Hemphill there is not a sure batter on the team. The Denver pitchers had them completely at their mercy today and they never had a chance to score. Frisk pitched the first five innings for the locals and but one hit was made. Eyler finished the game and allowed but two hits, one of which was a scratch hit. Davis, who covered first base, had his foot off the bag when the runner reached first, although the ball was there in plenty of time to put the runner out. Hollingsworth had a bad day, making three errors, all of which should have been easy outs. Etright, the new second baseman, showed up well in fielding and should make good. The locals played a fast game both in the field and at the bat and are now ready to open the season and from today say they will give a good account of themselves. Newmeyer opened the game and in the four innings he officiated five hits were made, resulting in as many runs. McNeely went into the box in the fifth inning, but one inning was enough for him and Lempke was substituted, but his curves were solved for eight hits, three runners crossing the plate. Radcliffe's fielding and Preston's base running were the features, the latter stealing second base, then third and then, a moment later, scoring from that point on an in field hit. President Burns was present at the game and tried to keep his spirits up by looking forward to tomorrow's game, when the tables may be turned.

TIGERS DEFEATED BY COLORADO CITY

Game Was Played on Washburn Field Before a Small Crowd.

WAS A PRETTY CONTEST

Final Score Was 10 to 8—Visitors Ran Four Men in During the Eighth Inning.

The Colorado College Tigers won a pretty game of ball from the Colorado City State league team yesterday afternoon. The score, 10 to 8, does not indicate a pretty game, but when it is known that four runs were made by each side in the eight inning the game resolves itself into a close match.

The college had the best of it all the way through. Hester pitched in fair form and struck out 18 of the Colorado City team. His arm was sore and at times the state leaguers found him for hits. In point of hits Colorado City bested the college but Hester had the others at his mercy most of the time. In the eighth inning, Hester let down and the college team went up in the air with the result that Colorado City ran in four tallies. The college had done the same thing just before so it did not make much difference. This was an inning of errors all the way round and marred an otherwise decent game.

The college showed much improvement over last Saturday, but there is still much room for improvement in the team.

One feature of the game was the crowd. It was small and the percentage of college students present was inexcusably small. Four college girls showed their loyalty to the team by attending. The other college girls seemed to be boycotting the game. This is not the kind of spirit that helps a team to win. There was a fair number of boys present though not as many as usual. A few college alumni helped swell the college crowd but the majority of the spectators were Colorado Springs people who never had any connection with the college but who seem to have a stronger desire to see the college win than do the students.

STATE COLLEGE GAMES

GLAZE OUTPITCHED SHAW.

Special to the Gazette.

Boulder, April 19.—The baseball game between the teams of the State university and the Agricultural college resulted in a score of 5 to 3 in favor of the former. The Farmers came over 250 strong, confident of winning, but their batters could not connect with Glaze's puzzlers, while the Boulder players found Shaw frequently. There was a large attendance and lots of enthusiasm and the game was an interesting one for the spectators. The university boys are getting down to steady business now and show great improvement over their form of a week ago. Their batting is coming up rapidly and with Glaze in the box to do the twirling they will doubtless make a strong bid for the intercollegiate pennant this year. The two teams lined up as follows:

U. C.	Position.	Ft. C.
Vance	center field	Mills
Rhea	catcher	Williams
McDonald	1st base	Jackson
Flambach	3rd base	Burnheimer
Glaze	pitcher	Shaw
Walsh	shortstop	Williamson
Straver	right field	Phelps
Wolf	2nd base	Graves

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

CHICAGO'S THREE STRAIGHT.

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs.)

Cincinnati, April 19.—Chicago scored the third consecutive victory over Cincinnati today through Ewing's wildness in giving bases on balls. He allowed them ten passes to first. Attendance, 1,500. Score:

		R.	H.	E.

Two-base hit, Jackson; base on balls, off Thielman 5, off Voorhees 1; struck out, by Thielman 4, by Voorhees 4; umpire, O'Day.

THIRTEEN INNING CONTEST.

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs.)

Boston, April 19.—Brooklyn won the opening National league game in this city, played this morning, after a hard contest of 13 innings. Both pitchers worked well. Attendance 5,000. Score:

Pittinger and Kittridge; McCann and Ahearn.

Earned runs, Brooklyn 2; two-base hits, Long, Keeler; three-base hit, Flood; base on balls, off Pittinger 2, off McCann 4; struck out, by Pittinger 7, by McCann 2; umpire, Brown.

Eight thousand people this afternoon saw Boston score a victory after three successive defeats at the hands of the Brooklyn team. While Brooklyn's men found Willis for nine hits, the Boston pitcher kept them safely scattered. Score:

Brooklyn	0 0 0 1 0 2 0 0 0—	3	9	3

Willis and Kittridge; McLain and Farrell.

Two-base hits, Farrell, Long; home run, Dahlen; base on balls, off Willis 3; struck out, Willis 3; umpire, Brown.

UMPIRES OF WESTERN LEAGUE

President Sexton Makes Strict and Explicit Instructions.

ROWDYISM TO BE BARRED

Instructions Received and Made Public by Manager Burns—No Decision to Be Disputed.

Tom Burns, the local Western league magnate, yesterday received from President Sexton the rules governing the umpires for the season. They are stringent and will bar out rowdyism. They are as follows:

"In looking over the correspondence of the late president, Mr. James Whitfield, I find that he has selected you from a long list of applicants as a member of the Western league staff.

"In entering upon your duties I desire to have you understand, that, so long as you display a disposition to carry out my instructions to properly enforce the playing rules and the ability to make a successful umpire, the ordinary 'kicks' or complaints, from captains or players will receive little consideration at my hands, but a man proved to be incompetent or unreliable, must not expect to retain a position on this staff.

"Umpiring, in my judgment, is the most important, as well as the most arduous position on the diamond to fulfill, and good or bad umpiring will do more to please or disgust the patrons of the game than any other element.

"The playing rules give you most unlimited and arbitrary powers, and the careful and conservative use of the same, or the neglect on your part to take advantage of the powers bestowed, will do much to strengthen you, or to destroy your influence to control the situation.

"Always remember that you are absolute master of the field during the progress of a game, and have the power to order any manager, captain, or player to do, or omit to do, any act that you may deem necessary to give force and effect to the rules of the game.

"You are instructed to enforce the rules as you find them, without regard to your own opinion of any particular rule.

"Under no circumstances must you allow any captain or player to dispute a decision involving an error of judgment and the captain only shall be allowed to dispute a decision involving a legal construction of the rules.

"Strictly enforce the rule requiring players to retain their seats on the bench until called to the bat, or to the coaching lines.

"In every close decision give the base runner the benefit of the doubt.

"Render all decisions promptly and from first impressions, and never try to even up any error of judgment.

"Never call a game on account of rain until spectators on open seats are obliged to seek shelter.

"Under no circumstances must you tolerate vile, profane, or abusive language, no matter to whom addressed, and for each and every infraction of this rule, the penalties provided for must be enforced, but no player shall be removed from the game without first having been fined.

"Positively no fines can be remitted by an umpire, after once being imposed, and any instance of this nature coming to my notice will bring a penalty on the umpire.

"In all aggravated cases of abusive language or rowdyism, the umpire must notify me immediately, stating all of the facts and the attitude of the officials of the home club in the matter of affording proper protection to the umpire.

All managers, captains and players in this league will be notified by circular letter of my intention to enforce the collection of all fines imposed, and my determination to inflict additional punishment for all flagrant violation of the rules.

"Umpires are advised to retain control of their temper under all circumstances. Don't get on too familiar terms with the players, and don't spend your evenings in loafing around the hotel where the players are boarding.

"Trusting and believing that you will put forth your best efforts towards securing clean, fast and well conducted exhibitions of the national game in this league, and again assuring you that I will at all times endeavor to sustain you in promoting the welfare and best interests of the game, I am, yours very truly,

H. M. Sexton,
"President Western League."

ON THE CORNER LOTS

A remarkable game of ball was played yesterday between the Ferris school and the North End Tigers, in which the staying powers of the latter team brought them out victorious by a score of 52 to 23. It was the first game played by the Ferris school.

A one-sided game of baseball was played yesterday morning between the Centrals and the South End Professionals, in which the former won by a score of 25 to 6. Seigel and Shiedler pitched a good game for the Centrals.

On the Columbia's ground on Friday afternoon a baseball game between the Columbias and the Central Tigers resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 13 to 10. A home run by Siegel of the Central Tigers was the feature of the game.

The Central Juniors defeated a team from Miss Henry's school yesterday by a score of 16 to 9. The feature of the game was the pitching and catching of Jack and Jim Stovell.

AROUND THE BASES

Fort Collins and Boulder come together. The Aggies continue to send out discouraging reports about Shaw, but the fact that a big train-load of farmers and farmeresses is going down to Boulder today would indicate that the Aggies expect to win. Without Shaw they stand poor show of winning from Glaze. Shaw is down in the line-up as a possible pitcher.

Colorado college will play Boulder in Boulder next Saturday. The game was to have been played here, but the Millionaires have a game here that day and it has been decided best to play the college game in Boulder.

WON LAKEWOOD CUP.

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs.)

Lakewood, N. J., April 19.—Walter J. Travis, golf champion of the United States, had little difficulty in winning his two final matches for the Lakewood cup at the open tournament here today. He defeated W. C. Chick and Findlay S. Douglass.

SHOVE AND SCOTT WON THE FOURSOME

The Town and Gown Golf club held a successful foursome tournament yesterday afternoon. Eight teams started in the tournament and seven finished, while a number of others played around the links. The tourney was won by E. P. Shove and Walter Scott, whose gross score was 100 and whose net score was 80. The scores made were as follows:

Team.	Gross.	Net.
Shove and Scott	100	80
Davis and Allen	94	87
Tucker and Young	110	88
H. and L. Lunt	112	90
Wray and Frenaye	113	90
Taylor and Chase	104	91
Dodge and Willcox	117	94

Mattocks and Hobbs withdrew.

DORSEY WINS THE STRANG SHOOT

The Colorado Springs Gun club held its regular shoot for the Strang medal yesterday afternoon. The shoot was won by Dorsey. In the practice shoot, H. Strang broke 22 birds out of 25 and D. C. Sanderson broke 23 out of 35. The scores for the match were as follows:

	Birds—25	25	Hdcp.	Gross
Lawton	16	17	10	43
Dorsey	24	19	15	58
Sanderson	20	18	4	42
Strang	16	19	7	42

MINERS SURPRISED.

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, April 19.—The University of Denver defeated the School of Mines today by a score of 11 to 9. The result was a surprise to both teams, as it was thought by all that the "Miners" had a walkover. The game was hotly contested from start to finish and not until the last man was out could either side claim the victory.

GUS ERICKSON DEAD.

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs.)

Chicago, April 19.—Gus Erickson, the baseball catcher signed by McGraw for the Baltimore team this season, died at his home here today.

KANSAS CITY 21-MINNEQUAS 7.

Special to the Gazette.

Pueblo, April 19.—The Kansas City Western league team easily defeated the Minnequa State league team today. The score was 21 to 7. The same teams will play tomorrow when the Minnequas will be greatly strengthened.

DRIVING IN DENVER.

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, April 19.—The local riding and driving association has received word from the similar associations of Pueblo and Colorado Springs that they will attend the field day exercises which are to be held May 17.

MR. STONAKER DENIES ALL

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, April 19.—The state board of charities and corrections held a meeting tonight and completed the taking of testimony in the Stonaker investigation. An adjournment was then taken until next Thursday afternoon when a verdict will be announced. Tonight's session was similar to those previously held. A large portion of the evidence was of a vague nature, principally hearsay.

Mr. Stonaker was on the stand and entered a general written denial to every charge made against him. His denials were substantiated by records made in his office. He took each charge and affidavit, and each person's testimony up separately and explained his position in every instance. He referred to the position taken in the matter by Warden Martin and could not understand why Martin had said that orders had been issued not to allow Stonaker to interview prisoners unaccompanied. Mr. Stonaker testified that the warden had always given him permission to go where he pleased when visiting the prisoners. Mr. Stonaker's denial covered 14 pages of closely typewritten matter.

HOUSE SESSION QUIET

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs.)

Washington, April 19.—After the turbulent scene of yesterday marking the passage of the revised Cuban reciprocity bill, the house settled down to routine business today. An opportunity was found, however, for the two elements in the recent struggle to give expression to their feelings. This occurred while the fortification appropriation bill was under consideration. Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, one of the ways and means leaders, said that the amendment which the opponents of the ways and means committee had engrafted upon the Payne bill not only wiped out the differential on sugar, but also did away with the countervailing duty of the Dingley law. Mr. Weeks of Michigan made a spirited rejoinder in behalf of those who opposed the ways and means committee. He frankly conceded that the motive of the opposition has been to kill the reciprocity bill. The fortification appropriation bill was passed and the conference report upon the legislative appropriation bill agreed to.

IN EULOGY OF KYLE.

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs.)

Washington, April 19.—Little business of national importance was transacted by the senate today. Numerous measures of minor character and nearly 60 private pension bills were passed.

At 3 o'clock eulogies were pronounced upon the life and character of James Henderson Kyle, late a senator from South Dakota.

ARCHIBALD M'LEOD DEAD.

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs.)

New York, April 19.—Archibald McLeod, former president of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad, who has been ill at his home in this city since February 6, died late this afternoon.

GERMANY WANTS CONCESSION.

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs.)

Berlin, April 19.—The German government designs to firmly request of the United States all the advantages of reciprocity treaties when they are ratified. The imperial chancellor, Count von Buelow, asked for and obtained for Germany such privileges by provisional arrangement two years ago with France.

OKLAHOMA STORM.

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs.)

Guthrie, O. T., April 19.—Violent wind and hail that ruined growing corn, badly damaged oats and wheat and riddled foliage and blooms from fruit trees are reported to have covered a wide path from Granite, Okla., to Woodville and Sterrett, I. T., a distance of 100 miles. Hail in several places is reported to have drifted to a depth of two feet. A wind storm at Lawton yesterday did considerable damage and injured a number of persons seriously.

THE KNIGHT-CAMPBELL MUSIC CO. PRE-INVENTORY SALE OF PIANOS

Closing Out Entire Stock of H. D. Smith Music Co. Bought by us at Less Than 50 Cents on the Dollar—Famous Makes $350, $400 to $500—Pianos Plainly Marked $178, $189, $219, $262, Etc., Etc.

EASY TERMS OF PAYMENT

There comes an inventory time in every well-conducted business, generally in December or the first of the year. Ours comes in April. April 30th marks the close of our fiscal year. We generally find ourselves at this season with stock at low ebb. The reverse is true this year. We bought the entire stock and all goods in transit belonging to the H. D. Smith Music Co. The H. D. Smith Music Co. are out of business and their stock we have divided between our Denver and Colorado Springs stores to be sold in a Special Sale at little more than one-half value. We bought the stock cheap—at our own price—and we shall sell it cheap to move it quickly and be in readiness for our inventory.

We have but a short time in which to sell this stock. We know what this shortening in time means but we are going to offset this handicap by putting prices right down—way down.

Some of the very best and oldest makes of pianos, no old or shopworn stock but brand new pianos, at prices $50 to $100 ower than ever before offered in Colorado Springs.

We shall not need to sell more than 35 to 40 pianos but until that number have been sold we shall make no reserves.

Most of our stock is new pianos, such makes as Steinway, A. B. Chase, Everett, Weber, Fischer, Wheelock, Kimball—some of which we have sold in Colorado for more than 25 years. Pianos which are used and indorsed by the very elite of the musical world—pianos your neighbors have bought from us and pianos which need no introduction to you.

These are only some of the makes, all are in the very newest and latest designs. No old style or unreliable makes.

A few pianos which have been returned from rent and some we have taken in trade. Then there are the makes sold by the Smith Music Co. in Colorado for upwards of 15 years.

All will be plainly marked with a white tag at prices representing $75 to $200 clean saving.

Steinway, A. B. Chase, Everett, Weber, Wheelock, Fischer, Kimball—the very best pianos in the world today—will be included in the "before stock-taking sale," and the same proportionate cut on these you get on any.

One almost new piano, beautiful mahogany case, full size and scale, only $219.

Piano in finely finished walnut case, only rented two months, like new, will go for $157.

Terms of $10, $15 and $25 down, with payments of $5 to $10 per month.

Organs, new and second hand, some of them but little used, $20 up, and almost any terms you want—$5 down and $2 per month.

Brand new Steinway piano, case little scratched one end, price cut over $180. The biggest Steinway bargain you've ever seen.

Large size A. B. Chase piano, used in studio short while, mahogany case. You can't tell it from new and you can save fully $200.

Three splendid upright pianos, standard grade, superior tone, your choice in styles and wood for $181.

Brand new pianos, your choice in makes at such prices as $174, $212, $256, $269, $288, $293.

No charge for stool or cover and we deliver the piano right in your home free of charge.

Remember, this sale is for eight days. We cannot make this offering for a longer time. 'Twill pay you to come early. You may want some time to think and talk with friends, and if you delay till the last it may be too late.

Pianos will be sold in this sale for about what good pianos rent for.

Tourists, here only for a short time, can buy cheaper than they can rent, then sell their piano at the end of the season. Sell to us. We'll be in the market then for pianos to rent during the winter season.

This sale will commence Monday morning, April 21st. Doors will be open at 9 o'clock.

No piano in our stock will be reserved, and it includes famous makes by famous makers.

Not one penny will be added if you buy on time. Terms to suit everybody. We've got to sell at least 35 pianos and only 7 working days to do it in. An average of five pianos each day, but we are making the prices to do it.

Store will be open every evening.

Don't try to be last, be first and you'll get the cream in the way of selection.

Only a little money now and a little each month is all we ask. We deliver the piano now.

SPECIAL MEETING OF Y. M. C. A. CALLED

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of the Young Men's Christian association of Colorado Springs is hereby called to be held on Tuesday, April 29, 1902, at 8 o'clock in the evening, for the purpose of considering the propriety of ratifying and confirming the action of the board of directors of the association, previously taken, under and by virtue of which the association authorized the borrowing of the sum of thirty thousand dollars, and issue the bonds of this association for the said amount, secured by first mortgage or deed of trust upon lots seven and eight (7 and 8) in block sixty-three (63), Colorado Springs, together with the improvements thereon, and for the purpose of taking all and every such further action in the premises as may be deemed proper or expedient.

Warren Woods,
President.

BURRIS CASE TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

District court was in session all day yesterday with the Burris case again on trial. At 5 o'clock Mr Hughes of Denver concluded his argument before Judge Cunningham. The arguments for the plaintiff were in some time before. The session was a dull one, in that many technicalities and legal precedents were introduced into the arguments, but the day was somewhat notable in eloquence, and the attendance was fairly good during both sessions.

Judge Cunningham now has the case under advisement, and it will probably be several days before he can come to any conclusion.

SANTA FE SPECIAL TO THE BIENNIAL

Proportionately, there are not as many Colorado Springs as Denver club women who will avail themselves of the exceptional opportunity which is now offered for going to California. Word comes from Denver that the supply of first class berths is running low on the special official train which the Santa Fe will send out on the night of Saturday next, the 26th.

Club women from all over the state will be included among the tourists and that in itself will be a rare treat, and one only possible by reason of the low rates offered by the railroads to the biennial meeting of the General Federation of Women's clubs at Los Angeles.

PROBABLY FATAL ACCIDENT AT THE TELLURIDE MILL

J. B. Skeen, an employe of the new Telluride mill, fell 40 feet from the rafters to the ground yesterday at noon, sustaining injuries which may prove fatal.

He was walking across the rafters during the noon intermission, when he suddenly missed his footing and fell to an open trench beside the cement flooring. If he had fallen on the latter he would have been killed instantly, and as it was, his escape from instant death was marvelous. He sustained a compound fracture of the right leg, a fracture of the right arm and concussion of the brain.

Manager Fullerton, of the company, was notified at once and went immediately to the scene of the accident. An express wagon was secured and a makeshift ambulance was improvised and the unfortunate man was taken to St. Francis hospital, suffering greatly on the journey, but, strange to say, retaining consciousness until just before he was operated on.

The operation occurred at 6 o'clock last evening, being performed by Dr. Stough, who trepanned the skull. The patient was reported last evening as in a very serious condition, but there are hopes of his recovery.

Benefit of Second Presbyterian Church

A musical program of unusual excellence will be given at the Second Presbyterian church, corner of Washington avenue and Seventh street, Tuesday evening, April 29, under the direction of Professor John B. Akers. The program will include such well-known artists as Mrs. H. H. Seldomridge, Mr. Victor L. Clemence, Mr. Herbert Bevan, Mr. Arthur S. McIntyre and Miss Lola Herman, and will be as follows:

(With violin obligato.)
Mrs. H. H. Seldomridge.
Duet—"Excelsior" ....Balfe
Mr. McIntyre and Mr. Clemence.
Male Quartet ....
(1) "Thou'rt Like Unto a Flower" .... Alberti
(2) "Berg of Zoom," old Netherland song XVI. Century.....

The concert will be given under the auspices of the Men's league of the church, the proceeds to be used to purchase much needed hymn books.

Officers Had a Hard Chase for Moreland

T. M. Moreland, who was arrested by Constable Shellenberger on Friday evening, was arraigned before Justice Ruby yesterday on the complaint made by W. W. Walker last February to the effect that Moreland had stolen a horse which was left in his charge. The charge is larceny as bailee. Moreland pleaded "not guilty" and was remanded to jail to await trial April 23.

Moreland has given the officers a merry chase and they all feel relieved at his capture. Under Sheriff Grimes and Deputy Sheriff Dayton were out at the Baird ranch on Friday hunting for the man. They learned that he had left and suspected that he was headed for Cripple Creek. They swore in four special deputy sheriffs at the ranch to get him and hold him for them if he returned to the ranch and then the two officers returned to this city to telephone on up the Cheyenne road to try to head their man off. Under Sheriff Grimes went to the jail to get a man to watch Moreland's house in this city and upon his arrival at the jail found his man already locked up. His surprise was great but not greater than his pleasure at the discovery.

It appears that when discovered, Moreland was riding the Hunt horse, which it is alleged he stole, and had on the animal a saddle which, it is said, he stole from the Curr ranch.

The officers state that while Moreland has been hiding from the officers his wife and family have been in a sad state of destitution. He told the men at the Baird ranch that he was hiding from the officers, but stated that he was being unjustly persecuted and that a man was trying to send him to jail for a crime of which he was not guilty. The men say that he threatened all kinds of personal damage to the officer who tried to arrest him and made quite a bluff at being a bad man. He was quiet enough, however, when Shellenberger took charge of him. The constable was ready for any break his prisoner might make and the prisoner probably realized the fact.

Buildings in Which Some of It Has Been Used.

Our Native Building Stone

Inexhaustible Deposits of Handsome Rock at City's Edge.

It is said that some tourists who visit this section of the country remark, after seeing the mountains, that they are pretty to look at, but that they are exceedingly hard to get over and not of very much use.

The fact that their snows supply the slopes both to the east and the west with the water that keeps them from being parched with dryness the year round may or may not be of importance. At any rate Colorado Springs has another use for the mountains that is not generally remembered.

Colorado Springs finds the mountains useful as a place from which to take stone to be used in building operations. There is in the need for builders in the vicinity of Colorado Springs to go elsewhere for their stone. The community is favored by nature with almost everything that is needed in building operations and in this respect there is no exception to the rule. In most cities fortunate enough to have a quarry near at hand from which building stone of a fair quality can be secured the quarry is regarded as one of the big and important institutions of the city. Colorado Springs is so considerably favored in this respect that most of the people in the city will learn this morning for the first time where building stone used here is quarried and that a great deal of it comes from quarries located at the very doors of the city.

There is, however, as a matter of fact, considerable native stone used in building in Colorado Springs.

There are four quarries doing business here and from all of them there are buildings in the city that show what the quality of the stone is and how it looks when it is faced and trimmed and set in a wall.

The stone quarrying business here is not new. All the quarries here have been worked for years, one of them having been supplying rock for buildings in this vicinity for the last quarter of a century and still having rock as fine as it ever yielded, in quantities absolutely beyond computation.

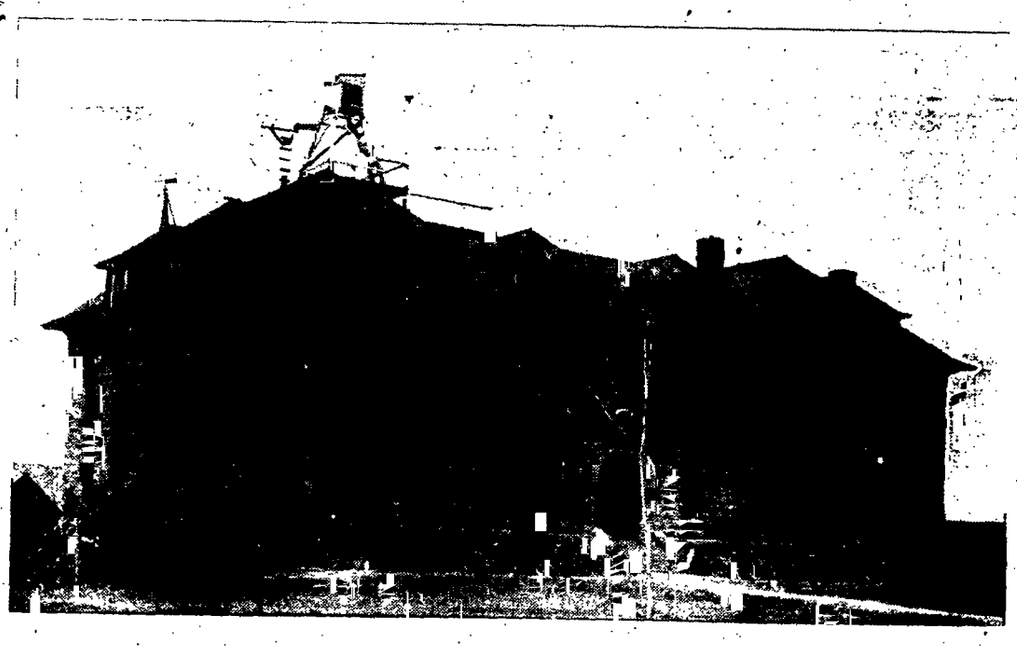

UTE PASS GREEN SANDSTONE QUARRY,
Owned by Thomas Ord of Colorado Springs.

This quarry is owned at the present time, and has been for the past eight years, by Paul Goerke & Son, of Manitou. It is a white sandstone quarry and the rock is known to contractors and builders of the community as Manitou white sandstone. The quarry is located northeast of Manitou, between that place and the Garden of the Gods; being a short distance west of the Balanced rock and being reached by a road leading up through what is known as Black canon. It is one of the most beautiful spots in the entire community and the scenic delights of a trip up Black canon to this quarry are ample to justify the exertion. This quarry was opened up by Manitou parties more than 25 years ago and has been used constantly since that time. Colorado Springs has numerous buildings in which it is used and no one would for a moment dispute that they are among the handsomest buildings in the entire vicinity. The residence of Hon. Irving Howbert, on Weber street north of Pike's Peak avenue is one of them. It is a residence admired by everyone who sees it for its homelike architecture and soft, substantial finish of the building as a whole. This is due largely to the color and quantity of the stone that is used. Palmer hall at Colorado college, the first of the main college buildings to be erected, also is constructed of this stone. The Hagerman residence on Cascade avenue, one of the most costly and elegant residences, both in exterior and interior finish, also is made of this stone. It is as much talked of by tourists who see it as any residence in the city. The building at the corner of Kiowa street and Tejon the second floor of which is occupied by the Pike's Peak club, is another structure where this stone is used. It is used in trimmings in a great many buildings here and in Manitou, included in which is the El Paso club.

In Ute Pass, just above Manitou, there is another quarry where sandstone of a green hue is taken out. It is owned by Thomas Ord, the well-known contractor of Colorado Springs and has been in use for about 18 years. The quarry is located on the Midland road and rock is transported to Colorado Springs and other points with little inconvenience. People who desire to see what this stone looks like in a wall can see it in Ticknor hall at Colorado college, in the Cumberland Presbyterian church at the corner of Cheyenne avenue and Boulder street, in All Souls' Unitarian church at the corner of Dale and Tejon streets, and in the many retaining walls along the creek fronts in Manitou and numerous other places.

The Manitou red sandstone, quarried in the beautiful canon known as Red Rock canon, running southwesterly from the main drive to Manitou, branching off a short distance west of Colorado City, also is a well-known local building stone. The Red Rock quarry has been operated for many years, more formerly than during the last four or five years by the Snider interests of Manitou, but has during the past few years been owned and operated by Greenlee & Sons, of Denver. The rock can be seen in the First National Bank building in Colorado Springs, the pillars in this building, however, being of another stone, in the Hagerman hall at Colorado college, the Manitou Mineral Water company's bottling works, and in numerous other buildings of the vicinity.

Anthony Bott, one of the oldest and most esteemed citizens of Colorado City, also has a quarry from which building stone of an excellent quality is taken. It is located near Colorado City, on the hills to the southwest, and is used very extensively in foundations for frame structures in Colorado City and Colorado Springs. Grace Episcopal church also is constructed of this rock.

HAGERMAN HALL AT COLORADO COLLEGE,
Made of Manitou Red Sandstone.

There is so much rock available right at home that nobody realizes that there is any of it used.

If rock enough were removed from the summit of Pike's Peak to build three or four towns the size of Colorado Springs, an old-timer returning to the city after it had been removed would probably have to be told that the peak had been cut down. There are quarries in Colorado where the facilities for taking out rock in large quantities are better than they are here and where a more desirable rock for the most costly buildings is secured. If it were not for these quarries, however, Colorado Springs would use her own rock to the exclusion of everything else and would be content, for it would be regarded as equal to anything that could be brought here.

PALMER HALL AT COLORADO COLLEGE,
Made of the Manitou White Sandstone.

Van Briggle Pottery Company Incorporates

The most important corporation organized in this city for many years will be announced in a few days when the papers for "The Van Briggle Pottery Company," now being drawn up, are filed. The corporation is backed by the largest capitalists in Colorado Springs, and will occupy not only an important place in the art and industrial aspect of this city's growth, but it will give to this city a standing which the famous Rookwood potteries have given to Cincinnati the world over.

The company has been organized with a capitalization of $50,000, divided into 500 shares of a par value of $100 each. This entire amount is to be made over to Mr. Van Briggle in return for all the machinery, appliances and supplies now at his pottery, 617 North Nevada avenue; and for his secrets, formulas, etc., which enables him to produce his ware. These secrets will be written out and deposited with the First National bank to be held in escrow for 10 years, to be delivered to the company at the expiration of that time. Mr. Van Briggle also agrees to transfer 250 shares of stock to the company, which is to be used for treasury purposes.

Already the treasury stock has been subscribed to by well-known capitalists. General Palmer has taken $5,000 worth, Mr. Stratton has put his name down for $1,000, and Mrs. Bellamy Storer, the founder of the famous Rookwood potteries, has taken $3,000 worth of the stock. Among the other large subscribers are Messrs. T. J. Fisher, Clarence P. Dodge and A. Sutton.

The articles of incorporation will provide for five directors, and the following have practically been decided on: A. Van Briggle, Thomas J. Fisher, A. Sutton, Henry Russell Wray and C. P. Dodge. Mr. Van Briggle will be president; Mr. Fisher, vice president; Mr. Sutton, treasurer, and Mr. Wray secretary.

The company will have the exclusive control of the manufacture and sale of the pottery for 20 years, and the subscribers have been assured that the plant will remain in Colorado Springs. Mr. Van Briggle has agreed to give his exclusive services to the company for a term of 10 years.

The manufacture of the rare and beautiful product known as the Van Briggle pottery has been in progress in this city for several months past, and the ware has become known in all the art centers of the world. The incorporation of a company will permit of the production of the pottery on a much larger scale than has heretofore been possible, and will make Colorado Springs the home of one of the most distinctive art works in the world.

The Rookwood potteries of Cincinnati have made that city a Mecca for all lovers of art who visit the United States, and if the name of that city is mentioned in the large centers of the old world it is at once remarked that "The Rookwood ware is made there."

Mrs. Bellamy Storer, who founded these potteries, has always manifested the strongest interest and sympathy in Mr. Van Briggle's work. He was once a worker at Rookwood and secured, while there, and afterwards, the highest praise from Mrs. Storer. Her subscription to the present company attests her admiration for the pottery and her confidence in its discoverer. Her patronage will go a long way toward establishing the world-wide reputation for the Van Briggle ware which is already enjoyed by that which she discovered.

Mr. Van Briggle is not only a practical and skilled potter, but he enjoys the reputation of what is more, that of being an artist of signal attainments. He finished his student days in Paris with the record of prizes and honors won for his paineings, and since then he has established himself as one of America's finest modelers in clay. The figures and designs which he works onto his vases give what, aside from the old glaze which he has succeeded in restoring, is its most distinctive feature.

As an instance of the favor which this pottery is securing, it may be mentioned that Mr. Van Briggle has just received a most complimentary letter from Theodore B. Storer, the famous New York jeweler, asking that 12 pieces be sent him at once, that he may show it among the other art treasures he carries.

That Colorado Springs is to be the home not only of such an artist as Mr. Van Briggle, but of large works which have been incorporated in a strong company to produce the results of the artist's genius, is one of the most important and significant announcements which has been made for many years.

COLLEGE NOTES

The baseball men have put in some hard practice for the past week. Reed has been brought in from left field to first base and with a little more practice will undoubtedly cover the initial sack as it should be covered. The next game in the intercollegiate series is the one with the State University. This game will be played next Saturday in Boulder.

The members of the Girls Glee club have been receiving congratulations upon their excellent singing on Friday night. The songs written to selections from Florodora were greatly appreciated.

The Pearsons Apollonian debate will be held a week from next Friday. The men to represent the two societies have devoted much time to the study of the negro question and are now getting their argument into shape. Pearsons will be represented by Messrs. Warner, Van Nostran and Holden and the Apollonian club by Ritely, McClintock and Pettibone. The intense rivalry existing between the two societies will undoubtedly assure a strong debate.

Collins, '05, who has been doing surveying for the Midland at Leadville, has again returned to college.

A large number of the college students heard Nat Goodwin and Maxine Elliott at the Opera house on Tuesday night.

The freshmen and sophomore boys have begun practice for their annual baseball game. This game will be played one week from Wednesday and will conclude the struggle between the lower classes. Both classes expect to win through their batteries. Falk will pitch for the freshmen and Ingersoll for the sophomores.

Several electric lights have been "strung" between Palmer hall and Coburn library. The authorities expect to light the major portion of the campus in the near future.

The students were favored with an excellent address on last Thursday by Bishop Brent, the newly appointed bishop to the Philippines. Bishop Brent is quite a young man, but, judging from his words to the students, one filled with Americanism which makes him confident of great things for America and her possessions.

The Hesperian Literary society of Cutler academy has concluded arrangements for a debate with the Lincoln, Nebraska, High school on May 23. The subject to be discussed is, "Resolved, That immigration should be restricted to those who can read and write their mother tongue and who have citizen's papers from their mother country."

TICKNOR HALL AT COLORADO COLLEGE,
Made of the Manitou Green Sandstone.

A preliminary debate is to be held among the members of the society on next Friday night when three men will be chosen to debate for the society. The following men have entered the preliminary contest: Fisk, Roberts, Manley, Hall, Bortree, Blair, Wilson, H. Roberts, Salazar, Willis, Arnold and Hoover. The Hesperian society will uphold the affirmative of the proposition against Nebraska.

Prof. Shedd, aided by the young men's literary societies, is planning an elaborate program for Decoration day. The G. A. R. and Loyal Legion have each offered a prize of $10 worth of books for the best patriotic oration to be delivered by members of the literary societies, each society being entitled to two speakers. Thus far the Miltonian and Pearsons societies have signified their intention of entering. The contest will be held in Perkins hall.

George Lockhart entertained a number of the college students at dinner before the Glee club concert Friday night. Those present were Misses Williams, Reynolds, Albert and Kiteley, and Messrs. Lennox, Belhaut, Warner and Lockhart.

The Apollonian club will hold its fifth annual banquet on Tuesday night, April 29, at the Cliff house in Manitou.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Orrin Randolph has returned to school.

The April issue of the Lever is out.

In "The American Electrician" appears an illustrated article, "The Construction of a Small Storage Cell," written by Howard Shepherd of the second class.

May Chase, from Berlin, Wis., has entered the third class.

Edna Curran, Mark Mohler, Mary Loud and Marjorie McKenzie have returned.

Gertrude Lunborg, Grace Smith and Claude Johnson, former members of the High school, attended the Arbor day exercises.

As yet no teams have been chosen among the basket ball players. It is hoped that there will be in the near future.

The baseball team has had little practice this week and that was worse than none as there was more horse played than ball. Perhaps the team will be able to do something if the captain will keep them together.

The Adelphi met Friday night and had a mock trial. The first case was the Adelphi vs. Bennett. The second, Adelphi vs. Bonham for matrimonial intentions as shown by winking his eye at two of the female sex. Other sensational charges were also made.

Rev. W. H. W. Boyle spoke to the pupils of the High school Friday morning regarding Arbor day and its relations. After the speech the seniors planted a vine with the customary speeches by the presidents of the senior and junior classes, after which three other seniors made short and bright addresses.

After the Arbor day exercises the battalion was drilled very successfully by the major. The line of march was down Tejon street and back to the building. The drum and bugle corps made its first and very successful appearance. The buglers were trained by Mr. Walker and the drummers by Instructor Evans. Both men deserve a great deal of credit for the way in which they have handled the boys.

Why Manuscripts Are Declined.

Writing in the editor's study of Harper's Magazine for April, Mr. Alden tells something of the reasons which enter into the acceptance and declination of manuscripts.

"Writers who have offered articles that have been declined," he says, "wonder why this or that contribution which they see in the magazine has been preferred to their own. The editor has before him a letter from a writer who is vexed by this problem, and who asks for help in its solution. He encloses two printed articles which he had unsuccessfully offered to all the best American magazines, and which were finally published in a respectable weekly paper, yielding him little profit and a slender satisfaction to a legitimate aspiration. His surprise, occasioned by his failure with the magazines, seemed to him justified by the high estimate put upon these articles by a man of considerable literary reputation to whom they were shown, and who deemed them worthy of publication in the very periodicals from which they were excluded.

"The gentleman who participated in this author's wonder was not himself an editor. Though not, as we think, justified in his opinion, he might very well have been, notwithstanding the unfavorable editorial decisions. For, as contributors are frequently advised in the polite editorial scripts returned with their 'unavailable' offerings, an article is not necessarily declined for want of merit; it might lie beyond the proper scope of the magazine; it might be of undue length; it might be too acutely timely for a monthly publication; it might be very good and yet lack novelty in theme and treatment; or it might cover ground ocupied by contributions already published, accepted, or arranged for."

Woman's Club Had Regular Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's club occurred yesterday in the assembly rooms of the Alta Vista hotel.

The spacious rooms were well filled with an attentive and enthusiastic audience. Mrs Robert Kerr, president, called the members to order and Miss Wallace, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved.

The committee appointed to confer together and recommend a state flower, are Mesdames Laura Farnum, ... and Ormsby and C E Smith were called upon. The chairman responded with this original verse.

Report of Committee of Three.

A flower for our club.
Ah what shall it be?
Thus asked of each other
This committee of three.

First spoke the chairman,
In tones quite assured,
"There is only one flower (seems to me)
In this big round world that should Be the unanimous choice of
This committee of three."

"Tis the rose," she said, "the regal rose,
Whose sentiment quite pertinent will b
But she looked in vain
For a response from the twain
The majority of this committee of three

Then up spoke one of this majority pair,
"The rose is queen we'll admit
With its reds and its yellows, our two colors you see"
Remarked this one of these women three

But, as emblematic of this Woman's club,
Born close to the Rockies grand,
There hides in the valleys and trails o'er the sand
A charming and graceful shrub,

That lives very close to dear Mother Earth
Who gave birth
To a sturdy and beautiful child,
With its red berries bright
And ever green to our sight,
Lending cheer to its home so wild

Then with voices akin
Did this committee begin
To talk of sick and rick,
Where grows in its beauty and grace sublime
Free to be plucked by mortals bent,
And present now to thee,
As true emblem of thine
Our charming Colorado Kinnikinnick.

The unique report was favorably received and the kinnikinnick was declared the unanimous choice of the club.

Mrs Daniel Thatcher rendered a difficult violin solo very finely, thus demonstrating her title to being, as has been affirmed, the best amateur violinist in Denver, where she resided before her marriage. Mrs. M. O. Barnes was the accompanist.

Mrs. Wiley was granted an opportunity of mentioning an auxiliary for the purpose of studying Spanish. She comes highly commended from Ann Arbor and Denver universities.

Rev Alva Roy Scott was then introduced by Mrs Kerr, and he delivered his able lecture, "The Nature and Claims of Sociology," which is printed elsewhere in this edition of the Gazette.

The executive committee of the club, of which Mrs F. E. Brooks is chairman, met in an ante room from 2 until 3 o'clock.

Mesdames F. A. Mueller, W. W. Williamson, A T Gunnell W. A Platt and R W Chisholm were named by the president as a general committee to arrange for the book carnival late in May

Motion prevailed that the invitation to take charge of a program at an afternoon meeting of the Colorado Chautauqua be accepted and that the entertainment committee prepare the same

Correspondence with Mrs. Emma A. Fox, secretary of the General Federation of Women's clubs, was reported upon. Mrs. Fox writes that she is willing to stop and give 10 lessons on parliamentary law (on which subject she is an acknowledged authority.) Terms were named. Referred to home and education department.

It has been learned that the Michigan delegation of women bound for the Biennial will arrive here on Friday, April 25, and remain in this vicinity sightseeing all day. A committee consisting of the chairmen of departments was requested to make ready for an informal reception if the plan should prove agreeable to the visitors

Mesdames Cockrill and Ormsby were appointed doorkeepers for the annual election and Mesdames W C. Jones, Clay H. White, John I. Franklin and Miss Rebecca Groves were appointed tellers.

Plays for Benefit of College Laboratory

A performance for the benefit of the physiological laboratory, Colorado college will take place at the Antlers in the next 10 days.

Two plays will be given in both of which Mrs. Frank Donaldson will take part. Mrs Donaldson was well known on the eastern stage under her maiden name, Ethel Chase Sprague. She was for four years Mr. Mansfield's chief support and was trusted by him with much stage management. She has charge of this popular performance and has been rehearsing the company.

"Petticoat Perfidy," a play by Sir Charles Young, the author of "Jim the Penman," and "The Last Act," by Dr and Mrs Donaldson, are the plays being rehearsed.

During the entre-act, Mr. English will give one of Corey Grain's monologues and a well known local artist will give some original songs.

It is hoped that the Antlers ball room will be crowded for this performance.

General Palmer showed his interest by kindly giving the hall, and the work in physiology at the college is in need of support.

Neighbors Were Not Neighborly

In Justice McClelland's court yesterday a neighborhood quarrel was the feature of the day. Sadie Clark, who resides in the 400 block on South Nevada avenue, was on trial with Rosa Stagner and several other neighbors as complaining witnesses.

The complainants alleged that the Clark woman had caused lots of trouble with them and their children. It was specifically charged that, on one occasion, she slapped a girl's face and made her nose bleed. In view of the preponderance of evidence against the woman, Judge McClelland felt called upon to fine her and he assessed a fine of $1 and costs.

PIERCED
Into the future would sadden many a happy woman. The misery of marriage often results from ailments which maidenly modesty kept hidden. When doctors are at last consulted they frequently fail to help. They do not understand the root of the trouble. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has cured in thousands of cases where doctors entirely failed.

"I had been a great sufferer from female weakness," writes Mrs. M. B. Wallace, of Muenster, Cook Co., Texas. "I tried four doctors and none did me any good. I suffered six years but at last I found relief. I followed your advice, and took eight bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and four of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I now feel like a new woman. I have gained eighteen pounds."

Where Colorado Springs Entertains Her Summer Throng

What the Local Hotel Men See Ahead for the Summer

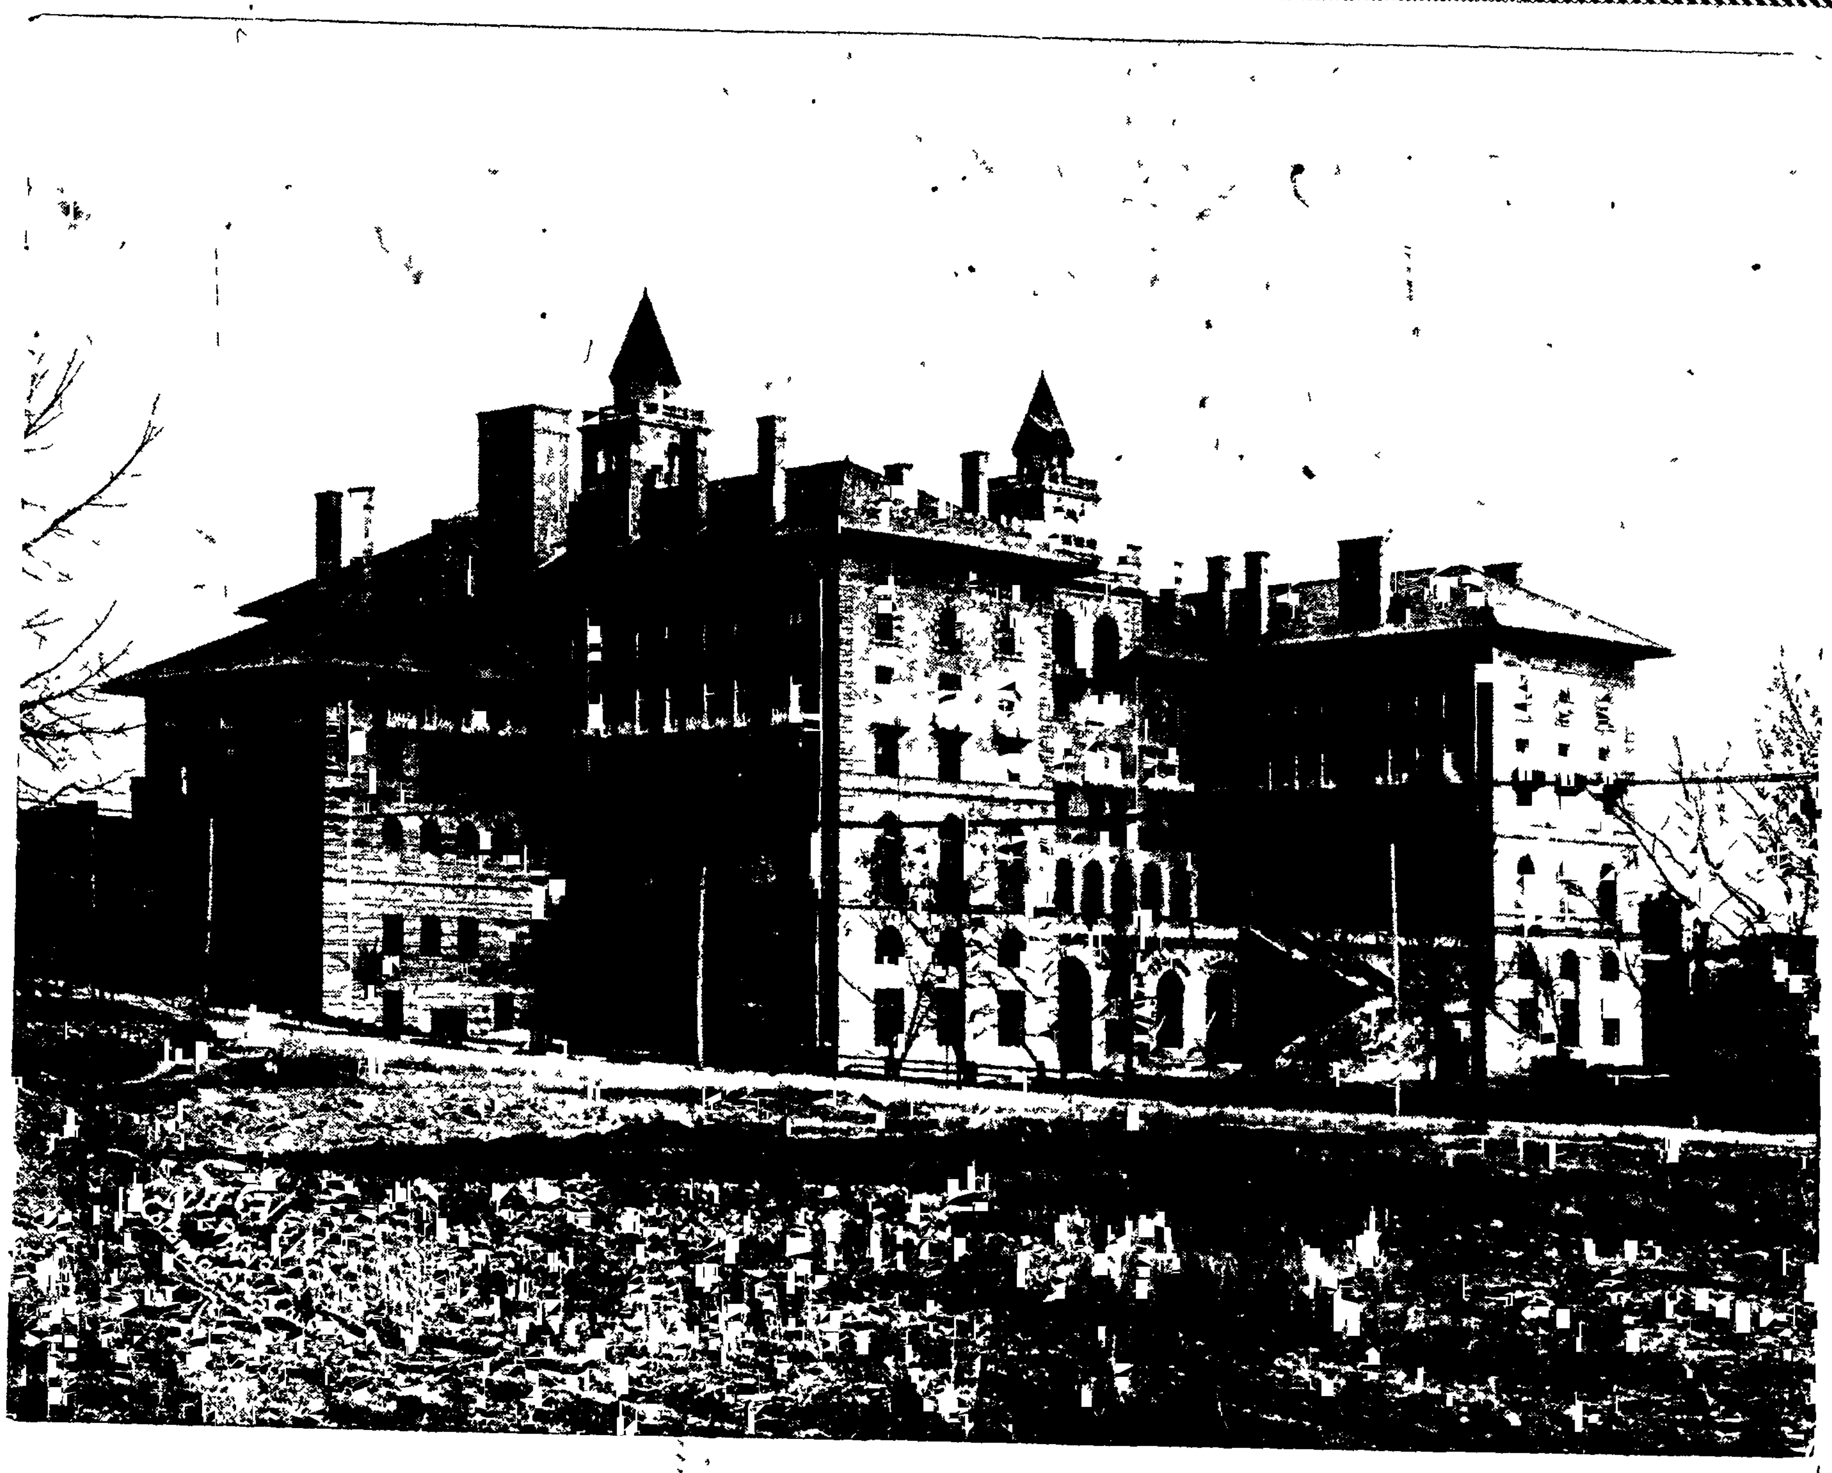

"ON TO COLORADO" is the cry that is going up from many in the east, and it will [illegible] multitudes more [illegible] the oppressive temperatures of the great eastern cities begin [illegible] uncomfortable [illegible] pool. Then those [illegible] be satisfied with [illegible] from the [illegible] will [illegible] and [illegible] stuffy houses and [illegible] to the mountains and from [illegible] can be learned it will [illegible] hills of the eastern [illegible] they will go but the [illegible] mountains which form the [illegible] the American continent.

[illegible] been done by all those who are interested in bringing the people to this city and state and there is apparently nothing to keep the people away. In the east there are no great expositions [illegible] conventions to attract the tourist in that direction [illegible] have no [illegible] charms to offer [illegible] the hot sands [illegible] billows of the sea and once in a while [illegible] breeze while the lofty peaks of the Rockies and the elevated cities of the great western plateau are holding forth the attractiveness of a pure atmosphere with dry health-giving qualities and the cool sweetness of the night for restful sleep.

THE ANTLERS--View From the Northwest.

An unprecedentedly large number of conventions are scheduled to be held in the middle and the far west and undoubtedly many of those who attend the [illegible] gatherings will make a point of spending at least a few days in this city and state. Here are the names of a few of the conventions to be held whose delegates will be numbered from the hundreds to the thousands.

Daughters of the Revolution general society to meet in Denver, April 23 to 25 inclusive.

Federation of Women's Clubs convention Los Angeles Calif May 1 to 8 inclusive.

Travelers Protective Association of America national convention, Portland, Oregon June 3 to [illegible] inclusive.

Ancient Order of United Workmen, supreme lodge Portland Oregon June 10.

Joint meeting Arkansas Valley Press Association and Colorado Editorial association in Colorado Springs June 16 and 17.

Nobles of the Mystic Shrine imperial council San Francisco Calif, May 27 to June 8 inclusive.

International Sunday School association triennial convention Denver, June 26 to July 2 inclusive.

Young People's Christian Union society of the United Presbyterian church Tacoma Washington July 2? to 27 inclusive.

Knights of Pythias biennial meeting San Francisco Calif August 12 to 14 inclusive.

Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks grand lodge Salt Lake City Utah August 12 to 14 inclusive.

National Irrigation association and the American Forestry association in joint convention in this city probably in October.

[illegible] these conventions especially low rates have been granted by the railroads great and small and beginning somewhat earlier in the season than usual a rate of one fare plus $2 is offered for the trip to Colorado and return from all Missouri river points, from Chicago St Louis and all the well known cities of the central states.

The needles are pointing to Colorado the magnetic. And Colorado is holding her portals wide open unbarred and reaching forth the hand of hearty welcome to the vast crowd which is expected to be the greatest that has ever sought admittance within the gates and saying "And yet there is room."

Hotel men of this city are unanimous in the opinion that there is to be an influx of tourists from the east such as they have never before been called upon to make provision for and they are looking forward with pleasurable anticipation to the reception and entertainment of the visitors. Colorado Springs has a number of attractive hostelries which are being prepared for their many expected guests, including one hotel of metropolitan proportions and aspect, so that its reputation throughout the country is that it is the finest hotel west of New York city.

Said Mr Marucchi at the Antlers yesterday, when approached for an expression of opinion with regard to the coming tourist season "It is going to be a big season. Everything in connection with our business here points to the filling of the hotel from the time the season begins in earnest until it is over. We have had to turn down a large delegation of Elks who wanted to come here in August on their way to and from Salt Lake. It was simply impossible for us to say that we could take them for that (August 12 to 14) is right at the height of the season and we shall be crowded then. We may be able to take 40 or 50 of them but we could not possibly accommodate the 200 or more from that single delegation who desired rooms."

George S Elstun, the genial proprietor of the Alamo was sanguine over the season's prospects. "I have talked with every railroad man I could locate and traveling agents and with people from the east whom I knew were in touch with the traveling public and each and every one has said that Colorado would be filled with easterners this summer. From the east I have had more inquiries about this city and region than I have ever had before and it certainly looks as if we would have the most prosperous season in our history." Mr Elstun is keeping in active touch with the delegates to conventions and those who have them in charge and doubtless knows whereof he speaks.

It depends as much upon the weather in the east as it does on the eastern-ers' pocketbooks" said H H Stevens of the Alta Vista. "If the warm weather comes early and the temperature runs up into the 90s or something like that there will probably be an early rush in this direction. July and August are always good months for our business and we are looking for a large increase in business this year. The Alta Vista is on the European plan now and it seems to be pretty popular with the travelers. With the conventions which are coming westward such as that of the Women's Federation and of the Elks there should be a large number who would like to stop over in this city and see the attractions which have been so extensively advertised."

"All visitors to this city and the state of Colorado are missionaries" was the epigrammatic remark of John E Mayo of the Plaza hotel. "If they come here once they want to again and they want all their friends to see the glories of the Pike's Peak region too. The low rates which all the railroads are now offering for the trip to this state and the fact that there is practically nothing which the east has this year with which to attract excursionists ought to bring to this city the greatest number of tourists she has ever had to provide for. I am indeed looking forward to a great season."

The new proprietors of the Elk hotel G W Curtis and C E Tyler the latter of whom recently came to this city from Silverton are particularly pleased with the outlook for the summer and Mr Taylor said that after a talk with various railroad men and people from the east he was convinced that there was a big season in prospect. "The unfortunate weather during the early part of this week and the latter part of last week sent a few people away in a hurry" said he "but just see what they would have enjoyed if they had remained another day or two."

"The Spaulding house is looking for a large tourist business this coming season" said the popular proprietor Mr Himebaugh yesterday. "Already we are getting numerous inquiries and from everything that I can see or hear Colorado Springs is about to experience the largest line of summer travel that the city has ever had to deal with and of course that is calculated to make glad the heart of everyone who desires the city to be prosperous."

With the hotels of this city in readiness and the renovated and enlarged hotels of Manitou already entertaining numerous parties of Raymond excursionists Colorado Springs and the Pike's Peak region is prepared to welcome ?0 per cent more visitors than came to this city last year when there were possibly 30,000 outsiders who came here for periods varying from a few days to a few months.

How Friends Fought

In Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for April John Uri Lloyd tells the story of a Kentucky village in civil war time when friend fought against friend and brother against brother.

"In these matters of principle" he says "not a hand was raised to prevent a free choice. No feeling of personal hatred stood between those who saw life's duty differently.

A neighbor to the right of a little home called one evening on his neighbor to the left. He kissed the children and shook hands with the parents.

"I may not see you again tonight I go to join Morgan" he said.

The host went to his little wardrobe, took therefrom his greatcoat thrust a pistol into the pocket and threw it over the arm of his guest. Both were poor men and winter approached the recipient attempted to return it. "No" said the donor "no you take this coat. Your path is to be one of privation besides I won't need it. Tomorrow morning I start north to enlist. My government has overcoats to spare and pistols too you who go south may find neither. God bless you friend may we return to meet."

ALLAS SCHUSSLER ROBBER CAPTURED YESTERDAY

Dime Novels and an Ambition to Be a Bold, Bad Robber Meet Usual Results.

[illegible] who had been sent for utterly denied any knowledge of the theft. Seeing the futility of further questioning in the presence of the heartbroken mother Chief Birdsall advised Mr Stroff to go home and after her departure informed the boy that he must go to jail whereupon he broke down and confessed that he did the job and told where the goods were hidden. He accompanied the officers to a point along the street a few blocks west of where the burglary was committed and the stolen goods were found cached in an old sheet iron stove and the whole outfit buried in a sand bank. OWNERS OF ROWE PARK ARE IN CITY

Meeting of Council Representatives and Park Owners Results in Unofficial Agreement.

[illegible] owners of the [illegible] park commonly known as [illegible] Colorado City have been in the city several days and yet [illegible] the Gazette representative [illegible] the city attorney [illegible] and the city [illegible] at 4:30 [illegible]. The meeting was for the purpose of a mutual interchange of opinions regarding the transfer of Rowe park to the city and the condition which should govern the same. There were present at the meeting Mr and Mrs Thorne City Attorney McCeech and Councilmen Stroff Slutter and [illegible].

As a preliminary Mr Thorne stated that one condition of any transfer would be that the conveyance should be "for perpetual park purposes" and that another condition would be that it should always be a free park open to the public with no charge. The conference developed other ideas to the effect that the city should at once proceed to place the land in cultivation lay out walks and driveways plow and seed the ground etc and all these met the hearty approval of those present.

The question of the two lakes now on the ground was taken up and the general opinion was that one of them should abandoned and filled up while the other should be beautified and made a feature of the proposed park. The water has already been piped into these lakes and it will be simply a question of the proper arrangements in order to make one or both a thing of beauty.

It was finally decided that Mr and Mrs Thorne with City Attorney McCeech should formulate such a proposition for the formal transfer of the park to the city as they think right and submit same to the council at its meeting tomorrow night. In the meantime the members present at the conference yesterday will interview their colleagues and prepare the proposition which they think the proper one. Between the two it is thought there will be no trouble in arriving at an understanding and completing the transfer.

After the conference Mr and Mrs Thorne and Councilman Slutter visited the park and looked over the ground consulting meanwhile on the matters under consideration. Mr and Mrs Thorne expressed themselves as pleased and surprised at the growth and appearance of Colorado City since their last visit and are enthusiastic in praise of the progressive spirit displayed here. They will remain until about May 1 at which time they will return to their home in Redlands California.

THE MIDLAND AND ELSEWHERE

Happenings Among the Railroad Employes Transpiring During the Past Week.

[illegible] Midland [illegible] all of the [illegible] erected.

[illegible] will until further [illegible] run through to Leadville and No 4 through from Leadville to Colorado City instead of turning [illegible] here.

[illegible] and [illegible] Mcroft [illegible] the [illegible] convention which meets at Pittsburg [illegible] to represent the Colorado Midland railroad [illegible] department. These gentlemen [illegible] in their business will no doubt make a good impression on the convention and represent this neck o the woods in a proper manner.

The periodical report that the C [illegible] P was going to purchase the Midland is out again and this time it seems with good foundation and many hope that such may be the case as they say it would be the making of the road. At present the state it has no outlet at either end and must necessarily [illegible] catch as catch can for through business.

All Colorado Midland [illegible] 4000 are now on the repair tracks getting double decked for the regular summer sheep trade which is quite an item in the road's business.

Our esteemed friend James Lamont and [illegible] are to serve on the jury and [illegible] from the round house that comes up before them. It will be nothing less than 60 days in a watermelon patch with a muzzle on.

Engines Nos 403 405 and 11 will be out in a couple of days which will be a cause of rejoicing for several eagle eye and tallow pots.

Two cabooses in the shop are about ready for the road and will be out in a few days. Then the cons and the gafters will be going to the [illegible] and telling him how caboose so and so is in bad shape—don't curve well has octagon wheels and rides like a farmer's wagon etc etc. A new caboose looks finer to an old car hand than a new woman.

The wife and daughter of County Judge Newitt of Chaffee county are visitors at the home of their brother and uncle James Lamont for a few days.

Stone masons are making some needed improvements in the big stone building preparatory to the changing of the offices to this city.

Jo [illegible] continues to make many needed improvements in the local yards and if they let him alone he will soon have a very presentable yard at this place. Joe is an artist in his business.

Peter McNulty reports the health of the gang is good with the exception of a couple of the hobos who are in the hospital one with typhoid fever and the other with stomach trouble.

The New Band to Build Concert Stand

The meeting Friday night for band practice and the organization of a new band for this city was a most gratifying success and it is believed that the organization will be perfected within a short time. Many experienced musicians responded to the call and most satisfactory progress was made toward the end in view.

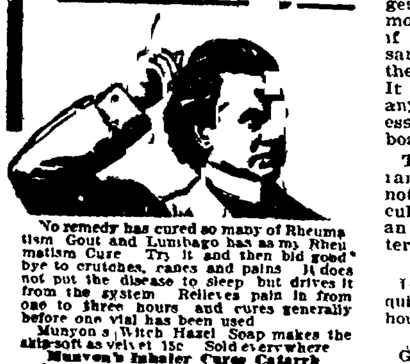

Professor Bailey who is in charge of the preliminary organization work, was seen yesterday and stated that a movement was under way to erect a band concert stand and render a series of concerts during the summer months. It has not yet been decided what would be the most available position for this structure, but the suggestion is made that a pagoda of the most ornamental kind be erected and, if it is possible to secure the necessary consent obtain a site in one of the corners of the Bancroft school yard. It is not thought that there would be any difficulty in arranging for the necessary permission from the school board.

The money for this will have to be raised by public subscription, but it is not thought that it will be at all difficult to raise the amount necessary for an enterprise of so beneficial a character as this.

DEGREE OF HONOR HAD BIG MEETING

The Degree of Honor held a very interesting and enjoyable meeting Friday evening. A number of applications for membership were received and three candidates were initiated and shown through the mysteries of the degree. The degree team exemplified some neat floor work and it is considered one of the best teams of the order in the state being so voted at Cripple Creek last January before the lodge in that city. After the initiation and other work had been finished Mrs Sonnickson announced that coffee was ready and all partook of a bountiful lunch after which dancing was indulged in by the young folks for a couple of hours.

The contest for obtaining new members for Columbine lodge No 20 was closed that evening and was decided in favor of Mrs Julia Pearson and Mrs Lulu Vanfleet the former having obtained 10 new members and the latter nine consequently a banquet is forthcoming from Mrs Vanfleet to which all the brothers are invited. The contest lasted just 45 days and was a splendid showing for so short a time.

On next Friday evening the degree will give a social and dance. A splendid program has been prepared. Ice cream and cake will be served and a good time may be looked for by all who attend. Admission 10 cents.

VAGRANT LAW UNDER DISCUSSION

Since the publication in these columns of the proposed plan to work vagrants on the streets considerable discussion has been had among business men and the authorities on the proper methods to be pursued in carrying out the same. Several of the city authorities were seen yesterday and all seemed to agree that the way to do was to place every convicted vagrant on the streets in charge of a competent guard and see that they do a proper amount of work to make even on the fine which may be imposed. It is thought this will soon make the festive hobo take the far side of the road when in this vicinity.

One of the councilmen made a suggestion in this connection which seems to be of considerable merit viz that an appointment of a man be made whose duty it shall be to take charge of the vags while on duty and at off times to look after stock which may be at large in conflict with the ordinance in such cases made and provided. He said that within his own knowledge it was the practice of many people to turn out cattle at dark and take them in at early daylight the practice resulting in much damage to gardens lawns etc and he claimed that a measure of some kind which should put a stop to this practice would be placed on passage before the council in the near future. There seems to be a strong sentiment in favor of an action of this kind.

Bellevue Papers to Be Filed Tomorrow

Papers for the incorporation of the new Bellevue Hospital association will be filed tomorrow morning and it is probable that within a few days the new officers, who will be elected at an executive committee meeting tomorrow, will take charge.

A meeting of the executive committee of the association has been called which will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the offices of C. P. Bennett on Pike's Peak avenue. As the incorporation papers will have then been filed, it is expected that the permanent officers of the institution will be elected and the final steps will be taken in the matter of taking over the property and the inauguration of the new regime.

The property, which was recently acquired by representative men of this city, including J. R. McKinnie, C. P. Bennett, Acting President Parsons of Colorado college, and others, has been known as the Deaconess or National hospital and is located in the vicinity of St. Francis hospital.

THE EHRENFELDT FUNERAL TODAY

Will Take Place at First Christian Church This Afternoon—Remains Arrived Here Yesterday.

The funeral services over the remains of the late W. B. Ehrenfeldt, who, it is supposed, was murdered by a Mexican near Lumberton, Colo., last September, will be held at the First Christian church at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The services will be conducted by Rev. C. B. Wilcox, pastor of the First Methodist church of which the deceased was a member.

Mrs. Ehrenfeldt, the mother, arrived in the city yesterday morning with the remains. The remains, which are but the bones, were taken to Fairley's undertaking rooms to be prepared for burial.

Mrs. Ehrenfeldt went to Durango some time ago for the purpose of identifying the remains if possible. There was nothing by which she could recognize in the skeleton any trace of her son, but friends of the young man had previously identified pieces of clothing. Rolena M. Fickel and A. J. Dowd, both of Durango, made affidavit to the effect that they recognized clothing about the body as that worn by young Ehrenfeldt when they last saw him. They were both friends of his whom he had been visiting in Durango.

Mrs. Ehrenfeldt brought these affidavits back with her and also the statement by the coroner and one by the man who first found the body.

The coroner of Rio Arriba county, territory of New Mexico, made affidavit under date of March 20, which was substantially as follows:

"I was informed on March 19, that a skeleton had been discovered by Entimio Gallegor, a section foreman for the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, about three miles from Lumberton, Colo., and about 35 feet from the Denver & Rio Grande tracks. In company with a Methodist minister I went to the scene on March 20 and interviewed the foreman. I learned that the foreman had first discovered the remains in January of this year but did not notify me. He said he buried the remains and took me to the place."

The affidavit then goes on to show that the remains were exhumed and placed in a box by the coroner to be held pending an investigation. The coroner then says that he compared a piece of clothing sent him by Mrs. Ehrenfeldt with that discovered with the body and found that it was the same. The coroner states that Entimio Gallegor says he saw a man riding from the direction of the body a few days after he first discovered it but could not recognize the man as he was too far away.

The section foreman, on investigation at Lumberton, Colo., on April 14, said, in substance:

"I first saw the skeleton in the last days of January, 1902. Nemecio Valdez, who was working with me, found it first." He then went on to tell how he found the bones lying. There was some hair about the ground near the body but none on the skull which was loose from the body. After the body was raised a Mexican bowie knife, with a five-inch blade, dropped out. Gallegor says he showed the body to numerous people but did not notify the coroner. He gives no reason for this but it is attributed to the probability that he did not know of that official's existence.

When found there was a sponge near the body. The skull was crushed in and the head had rolled away from the body. A Mexican knife was deep in the left side and the clothing was saturated with blood. The valise, gold watch and about $100 in money, which Ehrenfeldt had when he left Durango, were missing and it is supposed it was for this he was killed.

Young Ehrenfeldt was 23 years of age. He was the son of P. A. and Laura Ehrenfeldt of this city, who reside at 422 South Tejon street. The father runs a blacksmith shop here. The young man was born in Whiting, Kas. He was educated at the Campbell university at Holton, Kas., and at the St. John Military academy at Salina, Kas. He taught school for two terms. He moved here with his parents three years ago, and took a scientific course at Colorado college. He was a member of the First M. E. church here and was highly respected as a young man of high moral standards. He had many friends here.

His physician advised him to go to the hills for the benefit of his health last spring, and on May 10 he started for Durango where he had friends. He spent the summer and early fall there and started for home on September 10 last. This was the last heard of him until his bones were discovered about two weeks ago. His mother became very anxious about him and went to Durango where she spent two months searching for her son. The citizens of that place, most of whom had met the young man, joined in the search and the country was scoured but to no avail. The mother's health broke down under the strain and she had to return to this city. She still hoped to find her son alive and the news of the discovery of his bones came as a great shock to her. She went to Durango to try to identify the bones and, being satisfied from the evidence that they were the bones of her son, brought them back to this city.

Two More Burglaries Committed Yesterday

Burglars got in their work on two stores in this city Friday night or early Saturday morning. The places entered were the office and salesroom of the Gilmore Plumbing company and B. G. Hewitt's cycle repair shop.

The burglars succeeded in getting $3.50 out of the drawer in Hewitt's store but, as far as has been learned, did not get anything from the plumbing firm. Mr. Gilmore's desk and safe were badly damaged in the effort to open them.

Entrance was effected in each case by prying open a back window. The Gilmore plumbing store is at 216 North Tejon street and the Hewitt cycle repair shop is at 215 East Platte avenue. It is not known at what hour the burglaries took place as they were not discovered until the stores were opened yesterday morning. This is the second time within a month that Mr. Hewitt's store has been visited by burglars. The other time was about three weeks ago when the burglars got away with 18 bicycle watches valued at $1 each.

ATKINSON TO BUILD BRIDGE

Contract for the Platte Avenue Structure Over Shooks Run Was Let Yesterday.

The contract for the new bridge over Shooks run on East Platte avenue was let yesterday afternoon to Lynn S. Atkinson. There were five bidders for the job and Mr. Atkinson was the lowest. The figures are not given out.

The bids were opened yesterday afternoon by Building Inspector Coray and Alderman Capell, neither of whom, however, acted in his official capacity in this deal. The new bridge is being put in by private subscription of east side residents. Mr. Capell has had charge of raising the money and he and Mr. Coray were authorized by the subscribers to open the bids and let the contract.

The work of putting in the bridge will be done by Mr. Frank Adamson, who has been employed by Mr. Atkinson. Mr. Adamson is an expert in concrete work, having for several years had charge of the construction of tunnels into Lake Michigan for the extension of the Chicago water works system. The work of excavating for the bridge will be commenced on Tuesday and the bridge is to be completed in 30 days. The work will be done under the supervision of the city engineer.

Mr. Capell and Mr. Coray will open bids and let the contract for the grading of Institute street tomorrow. This work, also, will be done by private subscription of residents of that section.

Recent Experiments in Measuring the Flow of Streams.

It is much more difficult to measure accurately the volume of water flowing past any given point of a stream than is generally supposed. The reason is that this flow is constantly changing. The surface of the water is continually rising and falling. A rise or fall of a foot per hour is not uncommon. The velocity measurements from which the volume per second is computed must therefore be made quickly to be of much value, and consequently only a few can be taken. As the velocity changes from the surface to the bed, it is necessary to know or assume the law of this change, in order to hold the current meter at the proper depth. It is usually assumed that the mean velocity in a vertical is found at six-tenths of the depth below the surface, and velocity is measured at this depth. Its position varies, however, from one-half to three-fourth below the surface.

The U. S. geological survey through Prof. E. C. Murphy, of Cornell university, is making a study of this law of change of velocity with depth, or vertical velocity curves, at four of the N. Y. state gauging stations. The velocity is measured with current meters at numerous points from near the bottom to close to the surface, in verticals from 10 to 30 feet apart, across the stream. These are plotted on squared paper and mean curves drawn which show graphically this law for each vertical. They show the velocity at all depths, and the position of the mean and greatest velocity. A study of these curves will show the depth to mean velocity in other streams of similar conditions and thus the hydrographer will be able to measure discharge more accurately, because he will know more nearly the depth to mean velocity and the proper distance below the surface to hold the current meter.

It is highly probable that the last large formal social event of the season will be the subscription dance being arranged by Mr. Truxton Morris, to take place at the Antlers on the evening of Friday, May 9. The invitations will be issued within a day or two and the list includes fully 200 prominent society people. The patronesses are Mrs. Francis W. Goddard, Mrs. Thomas H. Edsall, Mrs. James A. Lockhart and Mrs. Horace G. Lunt.

Mr. William Osborne Bartlett will have charge of the decorations, which will be quite elaborate and artistic.

Quite the most elegant social happening of the week was the closing reception tendered by Miss Nathan to her pupils. It was held in the Antlers ball room and attracted a large and fashionable assemblage.

It was a lovely sight when so many graceful young people from tiny tots to fully grown young men and women held the floor. But the climax of the afternoon's pleasure was the graceful fancy dancing of Miss Nathan herself.

She was applauded to the echo, especially when she gave a new "spring" dance to the accompaniment of Mendelssohn's exquisite spring song. Miss Nathan presented a perfect representation of the season in her costume which was of dresden silk and pale green. She carried four great clusters of tulips of all colors.

Among the spectators were Mrs. F. W. Goddard, Prof. and Mrs. E. S. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Brooks, Mrs. A. E. Ahlers, Mrs. Florian Cajori, Mrs. William Strieby, Mrs. Oscar Roberts, Mrs. F. M. Woods, Mrs. E. H. Eyre, Mrs. Otis Johnson, Mrs. H. G. Lunt, Miss McAllister, Mrs. E. E. Griswold, Miss Aiken, Mrs. E. H. Sawyer, Mrs. R. W. Chisholm, Mrs. E. P. Shove, Mrs. W. F. Crosby, Miss Gwladys Crosby, Mrs. A. T. Jones, Mrs. Duncan Chisholm, Mrs. Gaskill, Mrs. Peabody, Mrs. E. P. Anderson, Mrs. W. W. Brownell, Mrs. Robert Bartlett, Mrs. J. L. Armit, Mrs. Charles Howbert, Mrs. M. C. Gile, Miss Howbert, Mrs. S. S. Bernard, Mrs. C. H. Tyler.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian association made gratifying progress in their work in the holding of such a fine social meeting in the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis S. Montgomery, 1025 North Nevada avenue.

Although Mrs. Montgomery was called away to California and so was unable to personally greet her guests with characteristic generosity, she insisted that the house be thrown open. Her friends, Mrs. F. A. Mueller, Mrs. T. J. Black, Mrs. J. C. Gallagher and Mrs. A. H. Whaite enacted the part of hostesses most graciously and everyone declared the afternoon a delightful one. Mrs. James B. Gregg presided and during the meeting made many suggestions and gave enthusiasm and encouragement to the work.

The program included excellent piano music by Mrs. O. S. Pitcher, Miss Hazel Whaite and Miss Freyschlag, and delightful violin solo by Mrs. Nelly Udelle Smith.

A very carefully prepared paper by Mrs. Robert Kerr, "History of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A.," was read by Mrs. J. R. Robinson, as Mrs. Kerr was detained at the Woman's club meeting.

Mrs. B. F. Lowell and Mrs. C. C. Dickey presided at the tea urns in the social hour.

The rich coloring of the Flemish oak table was set off by a large centerpiece of the finest linen, embroidered with vari-tinted sweet peas. Smaller pieces held the exquisite cut glass bon bon dishes and sevres ware.

Fully 200 women were in attendance and the affair was one of the finest ever held in the city.

Thirty-four new names were added to the membership, aggregating $34, with the silver collection the receipts of the meeting reaching $50.

Guests of Judge and Mrs. Stimson on Wednesday for dinner were Mr. Cortland E. Palmer, Mr. Charles L. Tutt, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. MacNeill, Miss Hayes and Miss Crosby.

Mrs. Farnsworth of West Dale street, entertained at dinner on Thursday night in compliment to Mrs. Lindsay Loring of Boston.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Davis at dinner early last week were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Brownell, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Alvord and Mr. J. J. Key.

Out at the Cheyenne Mountain club yesterday, Mrs. Frank M. Woods had as luncheon guests, Mrs. J. A. Hayes, Mrs. C. M. MacNeill, Mrs. Franklin Bartlett, Mrs. William Davis, Mrs. Charles Farnsworth, Mrs. Hendricks, Mrs. George Bradley.

Mrs. Todd, wife of Prof. John Todd, of Amherst university, Amherst, Mass., and daughter of Professor Loomis, of Yale college, is among the distinguished visitors expected in the Springs on the return of the delegates to the Biennal at Los Angeles. During her stay Mrs. Todd will be a guest of Mrs. Harvey E. Noble.

Mrs. Todd is widely known as a lecturer on astronomy and other learned subjects, which she illustrates with stereoptican views.

The James Noble chapter, Children of the American Revolution, met yesterday with Mrs. E. E. Griswold, 316 East Huerfano street. After devotional exercises and pledge of allegiance to the flag, "Our Flag of Liberty," written by Mrs. David Lathrop, founder, there were two songs by Miss Cordell and a violin solo by Miss Elizabeth Slaughter, Mrs. W. A. Platt delivered an address on the "Battle of Lexington."

In the social half hour games were played and light refreshments served. The decorations were tulips and daffodils.

The new musical aggregation formed for the purpose of studying double quartet singing met for practice last Wednesday evening with Mrs. Garrison. Before departing for their homes they were served with light refreshments by Mrs. Garrison. The club plans to give an elaborate entertainment at the Antlers for the benefit of the free dispensary. Dr. A. C. Friedmann is president, Miss Fields is vice-president and Mr. Clemence secretary and treasurer. Other members are Mrs. Garrison and Miss Cordell, sopranos; Miss Cooper and Mrs. R. W. Hemenway, altos; Mr. Clemence and Mr. McIntyre, tenors, and Mr. Gambrill and Mrs. R. W. Hemenway, bassos.

Mr. George Lockhart gave a delightful dinner of 10 covers at his home on North Nevada avenue last Thursday night, before the Girls Glee club concert.

A very pretty home wedding took place Tuesday, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shideler, on Corona street, when Mrs. Dora M. Harrison was united in marriage to Mr. Harry W. Richards, superintendent of the Hayden Placer Mining company. About 50 guests were present. The Rev. Dr. Wilcox officiated. Little Edna Richards carried the ring on a silver plate. The bride was attired in a handsome traveling dress of castor brown with white moire trimmings. The parlors were beautifully decorated with ferns, palms and carnations. Dainty refreshments were served and the happy couple were the recipients of many elegant and useful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Richards departed immediately after the ceremony on a short wedding trip.

A very quiet wedding celebration that occurred in Denver, Tuesday, will be of considerable interest to this city as the principals, Miss Della McShane and Charles M. Hobbs, have lived in Colorado Springs most of their lives. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. David Utter of Unity church in the parlors of the Albany hotel at noon in the presence of a few relatives and friends.

The bride is a daughter of David McShane, one of Colorado's pioneers and one of the contractors connected with the construction of the Santa Fe railroad. Miss McShane, and Mr. Hobbs as well, will receive congratulations and expressions of good will in their new life, for they are popular with their many friends.

Mr. Hobbs is the manager of the National Land and Cattle company, at Falcon, and a son of James T. Hobbs, the well-known cattle owner. He is a brother of John Hobbs, a member of the firm of Edsall, Key & Co.

After a few days passed at Denver, Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs will reside in this city, passing a portion of the time at the National Land and Cattle company ranch.

MRS. CLINTON HASTINGS CATHERWOOD,
New York City.

Mrs. Catherwood was the guest of honor last Monday at a small yet elegant tea given at the Antlers by Mrs. George Myers, of New York city, who has been in the Springs most of the winter.

MRS. HELEN BOICE-HUNSICKER,
Philadelphia.

Mrs. Helen Boice-Hunsicker, who has been appointed a member of the board of lady managers of the St. Louis world's fair, has started on a trip through the west, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. S. J. Boice, who is 83 years old but nevertheless enjoys excellent health and full possession of her faculties. She is a heroic traveler, having made five delightful tours in Europe during the past seven years, and has looked forward with keen delight to this journey which will take her over the greater portion of that section of the United States which was acquired by the "Louisiana purchase," the acquisition of which will be celebrated by the St. Louis exposition in which her daughter will participate. Mrs. Helen Boice-Hunsicker was selected for one of the lady managers of the exposition because for many years she has been prominent in the educational, art and musical circles of Philadelphia. She is also a gifted woman of affairs and has shown marked ability in great undertakings in which she has abundantly proved her keen insight into business affairs. She has a wide acquaintance in this country and abroad, much of her musical culture being acquired under the instructions of some of the most famous teachers of Europe. She has achieved an enviable reputation as a singer and has a permanent position in the musical world. In private life she is the wife of Alvin Hunsicker, an officer in a large and prosperous corporation doing business in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Hunsicker reside in Germantown, one of the prettiest suburbs of Philadelphia, and here it is that Mrs. Hunsicker's social distinction as a queen of entertainers has been achieved. Her "at homes" and her musical recitals are events that are thoroughly enjoyed by those who are fortunate enough to be on her list of friends. To her charming personality is added the attractiveness that culture and extended travel have brought to her. Her abilities will demonstrate the wisdom of her selection for a member of the board of lady managers, a meeting of which Mrs. Hunsicker will attend in St. Louis before she returns home.

Mrs. Leonard Watkins and Mrs. J. Frank Tritch gave a delightfully appointed card party Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Watkins, 1145 Franklin street. The spacious and handsome home was prettily decorated with pink, pink roses being used in the parlor and Lawson carnations in the library and dining room. The color scheme was daintily carried out in the menu, and pink ices, mints and confections were served upon the card tables. The tallies and score cards were in white, heart-shaped, the edges surrounded with pink roses and buds.

Mrs. Robert Cory and Miss Cory entertained at dinner Thursday evening, in honor of Miss Gilbert, of New York, and gave a luncheon in her honor Friday afternoon.

One of the prettiest and most delightful card parties of the week was given at the home of Mrs. Henry C. Charpiot yesterday afternoon. The pretty home was abundantly adorned with spring flowers. The game was six-hand euchre and was merrily played by nine tables of ladies. The first prize, an elegant hand-painted china plate, was won by Mrs. J. Fred Roberts.

General and Mrs. Frederick Funston entertained informally Thursday evening at their new home on Franklin street, in honor of old friends from Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. James Augustus Skinner gave two elegantly appointed dinners in the private dining room at the Hotel Metropole during the week. The large round table was covered with an exquisite oriental cloth purchased by Mrs. Skinner while abroad. In the center of the table was a tall silver candelabrum with pink candles and pink shades and on each side were large cut glass bowls filled with great Lawson carnations and maidenhair fern. Covers were laid for 12 at each dinner. Mrs. Skinner will entertain with a series of these delightful dinners.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Holme entertained at dinner Sunday evening in honor of General and Mrs. Frederick Funston.

Mrs. William B. Berger gave a large and elegant reception Monday from 4 to 6 o'clock in honor of Mrs. Frederick Berger of Leadville. The handsome home was tastefully decorated and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Crawford Hill, Mrs. Charles B. Kountze, Mrs. Hannington, Mrs. J. A. Thatcher, Mrs. C. S. Thomas, Mrs. H. C. Marion, Mrs. James A. Skinner, Mrs. Lucius M. Cuthbert, Mrs. Franklin Price Knott, Miss Mary Morey, Miss Harriet Struby.

The Daughters of the American Revolution were entertained by Mrs. W. B. Whitehead, 1128 Grant avenue, on Monday, April 14. Mrs. Whiteman sang the pathetic little ballad, "Then Think of Me," composed by Mrs. Alice Polk Hill. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. G. Steiner. Miss Gottesleben sang "The Invocation," as their pure whiteness seem the emblematic bride's flower. The altar was draped in white and decorated with ascension lilies, orange blossoms and a spray of myrtle to bring luck and blessing to the bridal party.

Promptly as the hour chimed the notes of the great organ rose in a triumphal peal, and the surpliced choir burst forth into the joyous anthem, "How Bright Those Glorious Anthems Are."

The ushers were the first to approach the altar where waited the groom and his best man, Waldo Marsh. They were Robert Hanington, Barry Sullivan, William Fergusen, Richard Hart, Harold Kountzé and O. L. Dickinson.

Following them came the matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Hanington. She wore the wedding gown of white satin covered with real lace, in which she was married last fall, and, held by a wreath of white azaleas, a white veil fell part way down the train. She carried a large cluster of ascension lilies. The bridesmaids came next. They were, first Miss Best and Miss Kountze, then Miss Harriet Struby and Miss Alice Best. They were dressed precisely alike, in gowns of rose pink Sappho silk, trimmed with Chantilly lace. Three-quarter length veils like that of the matron of honor, only of pink tulle instead of white, were worn falling, as is the mode, slightly to the left, and caught in the hair with wreaths of pink azaleas. They carried ascension lilies.

The bride came next, leaning on her father's arm. Her wedding gown was exquisitely designed in richest white satin and she wore it most gracefully. It was richly trimmed with point and duchesse lace. The lace was artistically draped down the front of the skirt and caught with sprays of orange blossoms. The yoke and sleeves of the bodice were made of point lace and were unlined. Enveloping the gown to the very hem of the long train was a tulle veil fastened to the bride's head by a wreath of orange blossoms. The bride carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and white violets.

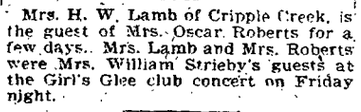

A reception was held at the Kountze residence, beginning at 7:30 and lasting until 9:30 o'clock. The guests bidden there included only the relatives and intimate friends of the families, but, though comparatively small, it was charmingly arranged. The receiving party stood in the ball room on the second floor. Included were the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Kountze and Mr. and Mrs. Best. The balcony, where was stationed the orchestra, was banked with white azaleas. The large fireplace was filled with palms and on the mantel and high above it were thick masses of pink azaleas. Southern smilax was woven in and out through all the fret work and the mountain laurel, with its delicate pink blossoms and glossy green leaves, was also used.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Best left for a short wedding journey, after which they will return to Denver and make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Kountze until their own new home, 1054 Emerson street, is completed.

Mrs. J. W. Graham charmingly entertained the Fortnightly club at a luncheon and afternoon meeting Wednesday, in honor of the occasion of her own retirement and the inauguration of the new president of the club, Mrs. George A. Bushnell.

The magnificent Graham home has not often been the scene of a more delightful gathering. The luncheon was exquisitely appointed, the tables handsomely decorated and the happy hours flew by over the courses. After the luncheon a musical and literary program was given, which, as it was furnished by members of the Fortnightly club, needs no comment. Beside the members of the Fortnightly club, which are about 30, there were several guests from out of town, among whom were Mrs. Peavey of Colorado Springs, Mrs. Baker of Boulder and Mrs. Vincent of Greeley.

A dainty rose luncheon was given by Mrs. Charles Bayly Friday. Covers were laid for 14, and the table charmingly decorated in the rich red of the American beauty rose. The candles and shades were in red, individual bonbonieres were deep red roses, filled with nutmeats and confections. The whole effect of the luncheon was most charming and attractive. The guests were Mrs. Sidney D. Pulsifer, Mrs. Clarence L. Wheaton, Mrs. Charles T. Wilt, Mrs. James B. Orman, Mrs. James A. Robin, Mrs. William Sayer, Mrs. George Davis Begole, Mrs. William J. Fine, Mrs. George Albert Bristol, Mrs. Isaac Francis Downer, Mrs. Archie McNichol Stevenson, Mrs. E. A. Thayer and Mrs. Frank A. Burnell.

ST. JOHN'S CATHEDRAL was again decorated for a brilliant wedding on Wednesday night, that of Miss Florence Margaret Kountze, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Kountze, and Mr. John Walter Best, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Best, which was solemnized by Dean H. Martyn Hart at 7 o'clock.

The decoration of the cathedral was confined to the chancel, which was banked with palms, and profusely adorned with ascension lilies, which in

IN extending California's hospitality to the members of the Biennial meeting at Los Angeles, Mrs Robert J Burdette says

The nugget of gold was held up in '49 as an invitation to the land of promise—a promise that has been fulfilled a hundredfold in the fruits and grain of its soil and worth more than all its minted gold And it is my hope that the golden promise of open hands open hearts and large welcome though framed in the glory of California fruits and flowers and hospitality, will be so far surpassed by the splendor of fulfilment that all will return from their journey to the land of sunshine as the queen returned to the land of Sheba, saying The half was not told us'

Active preparations are being made in every direction for hospitable entertainment To expedite matters upon the arrival of the visitors it has been decided that club women shall be known by the wearing of a knot of blue ribbon on the shoulder, the trains and reception committees by a badge of yellow Twenty five young men from the military schools of Los Angeles will assist the hotel and trains committee in directing visiting club women to their hotels lodging and homes of entertainment It is a part of the program that a reception committee shall meet the visitors at some of the out lying stations to accompany them to Los Angeles and club women of various California towns en route where the trains stop, will be at the stations with a welcome of fruit and flowers

Many interesting and novel excursion trips have been provided for the visitors notably to resort points—to regions of perpetual snow in the Sierra Madre mountains to the orange groves of Riverside and Redlands, to the shores of the Pacific one day devoted to Long Beach and San Pedro, where a Spanish dinner will be served especially prepared by the natives one day to the famous Santa Catalina islands another day to the ascension of Mount Lowe, a visit to Lucky Baldwin ranch via the San Gabriel mission This in part comprises some of the work being done by the entertainment committee

What is to be known as Pasadena Day has also been arranged and an excursion will be made to this far-famed winter resort where the members of the Pasadena board of trade and the city council will provide carriages for driving the guests about the city Luncheon will be served at the Shakespeare club house—an ornate building in the style of the Anne Hathaway cottage at Stratford on the-Avon In the afternoon a trip will be made to Mt Lowe En route to Pasadena a short trip will be made at the South Pasadena ostrich farm the largest in the world

Particular interest has been shown by correspondents in California basketry Mexican drawn work and carved leather consequently a special attraction will be found in an exhibition of the arts and crafts of California made at the Los Angeles chamber of commerce This is a permanent exhibition made by the Pasadena Exhibition association an organization which has primarily for its object the preservation and restoration of old California landmarks the protection of the picturesque and the collecting of much that is of historical and artistic value belonging essentially to California and the southwest

This exhibition of arts and crafts, therefore—which has the endorsement of city county and state, will include an accredited display of Indian baskets, classified according to design, historic association money value and rarity, as well as drawn work, leather work photographs and much else distinctly Californian

The advantage of this comprehensive, classified exhibit will be appreciated, through it collectors are enabled to procure information as to the intrinsic value of these articles without the fear of being misled or misinformed An interesting feature in connection with the work of the association is the effort to re-establish the ancient 'Camino Real' or royal road—less literally—the king's highway This is the most direct route which is practical between the old pueblos and old missions of California from San Diego to San Francisco

The rehabilitation of this original El Camino Real making it a coastwise road and national boulevard would give practicly 700 miles of royal highway, scenicly magnificent and eminently practical

Californians have this project greatly at heart and even the transient visitor cannot fail to be impressed with the national value of this magnificent benefice The resources, picturesqueness and artistic possibilities of El Camino Real will be brought before the club women at the Sixth Biennial meeting in a most interesting manner

Purposely the annnal state flower festival or Fiesta will be given in Los Angeles at the time of the meeting This gathering attracts thousands of visitors each year and lasts for several days, affording an opportunity to witness one of the most spectacular and gorgeous flower fetes in the world

Every day, glittering pageants will pass along the streets and at night amid the twinkling of thousands of electric lights, pleasure seeking people will frolic and revel and make merry Los Angeles gives itself over with one accord to the spirit of gaiety, the streets being gorgeously decorated and a wealth of flowers and greenery such as only Southern California can afford will be everywhere displayed

The Los Angeles local biennial board has sent a circular letter to all the presidents of federated clubs asking for a certified list of their club members—who are neither delegates nor alternates—who expect to be present at the Sixth Biennial in order that tickets of admission may be forwarded for their use It has not perhaps been understood—since many are dilatory and careless when relying—that without these tickets club members will not be admitted to the meetings Hence the urgent necessity for prompt action

The General federation program will formally open at Simpson auditorium Thursday, May 1, at 2 o'clock, with an invocation by Mrs Chester P Dorland followed by an address of welcome on behalf of the state by Gov Gage and by Mayor M P Snyder, on behalf of the city

Mrs Kate A Buckley president of the state federation and Mrs J E Cowles president of the biennial local board, will also deliver addresses

Music fraternal greetings announcements on rules regulations and resolutions will also be a part of the afternoon program ' Three mornings will be given to business in charge of the president, Mrs Rebecca Lowe of Georgia

Among the speakers of Friday evening May 2 in Simpson auditorium, will be Mrs Jane Addams of Hullhouse, Chicago and Professor George Gunton of New York, who will address the session on Industrial Problems" One of the most delightful features of the biennial will be the program of Tuesday evening It will be an interpretation of the Wagner festivals at Bayreuth illustrated with stereopticon and musical accompaniment Mrs Charles M Rhodes of Chicago the lecturer of the evening has given the entertainment throughout the east with marked success and comes with the highest testimonials. This feature will be tendered in special compliment by the club women of this city to the biennial visitors

Mrs May Alden Ward of Cambridge Mass will direct the evening devoted to literature Margaret Collier Graham of Los Angeles, Miss Mabel Love Todd and John Fox, Jr, are to be the speakers

President Jordan of Stanford university, Mrs Ellen C Sabin of Downer college, Milwaukee Mrs Neville of Wisconsin, and Miss Mabel Claire Craft, of San Francisco will address the biennial on educational topics Mrs. Eliza Peattie, of Chicago will preside at the meeting devoted to press topics, and Mrs Emma Payne Erskine will deliver the address

Mrs Dimies T S Dennison, first vice-president of the general federation is chairman of the civil service session Mrs Sarah Platt Decker of Denver, a candidate for president of the federation will be one of the speakers on this subject

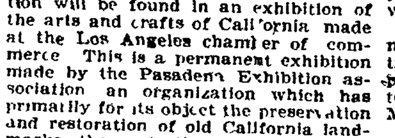

Mrs Cornelia C Fairbanks of Washington, D C, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and Miss Abby Ware, of Topeka will deliver addresses on civic problems Mrs. Anna D West, president of the Massachusetts state federation will preside at this meeting

A session of interest will be the one devoted to bird study Mrs John Thuron Illick, of Burlington, Iowa, is chairman and addresses will be delivered on the subject by Mrs May Riley Smith of New York, and Mrs Charles Lobinger, of Omaha

An art session will be held of which Mrs J. Brockaway is chairman and at which local talent will entertain With Mrs A H Thompson of Topeka Kas as chairman a session will be held devoted to the discussion of the value of subordinate federation

Some of the other subjects to be presented are traveling libraries forestry, clubhouses—the latter in the charge of Mrs Jas D Whitmore of Denver

Mrs Philip Moore of St Louis will present a plan for a central reciprocity bureau—a reliable source of suggestion for all phases of club work is an art in itself. A number of things enter into the right framing of a picture.

There must be harmony in color tones between moulding and mat and picture That's the most important point of all—it's the difference between the new style and the old

Then the width of the moulding and of the mat must be in keeping with the size of the picture Next a frame must be well made to stand the test in this climate The material must be good—first, the lumber that goes into the moulding must be well cured or the frame will warp To avoid this we get good mouldings Then the joints must be well fitted and glued and joined. Otherwise they will draw apart Good workmanship as well as good materials must enter into the making of a frame

All these requirements are observed intelligently in our framing establishment.

To make it safe and sure we finish the frame with our guarantee—if it isn't right we make it right, or your money back. Isn't such service worth a trifle more than inferior work?

The majority of the best people of Colorado Springs think so—that's the cause of the rapid growth of our framing business

Several large shipments of new things in mouldings have just arrived.

We solicit your particular framing.

The Nature and Claims of Sociology

A LECTURE DELIVERED BY

ALVA ROY SCOTT, B.D.
Minister of the South Unitarian Church, Colorado Springs

There is in human affairs one order which is the best That order is not always the one which exists; but it is the order which should exist for the greatest good of humanity. God knows it, and wills it, man's duty is to discover and establish it.—Emile de Laveleye

Religion has consciously or unconsciously been working out a two-fold result. First man is a product of the universe, of the cosmic process, and as a living, feeling, thinking being, he has been seeking to discover the underlying and ultimate reality behind the nature phenomena, and to come into a more harmonious and, if possible, a wholly right relation with this power.

It was the natural order of religious thought and worship to be at first chiefly concerned with the theologic side rather than the humanistic side The realm of mystery, awe and power before which man stood perplexed, amazed awed and helpless would arouse his first interest and attention, in order, if possible, to get a better understanding of the invisible, and to provide some better defence or means of reconciliation The unseen world seemed oftentimes to be controlled and to exercise its power in a way entirely different from the rule of man's actions it appeared to be inhabited with invisible and powerful beings both friendly and unfriendly to man, the rule of the unfriendly was often more impressive if not more apparent than that of the friendly. The invisible realm was so shrouded in darkness and mystery that not only must man seek in this life to appease and reconcile these spirits but also that at death he was supposed to pass into the immediate presence of these supernatural beings Religion largely assumed the nature of a probation for another world a preparation to meet the gods or God, who were looked upon as stern judges who were angry toward man and who in this life visited earthquakes storms, famines, pestilence and death for disobedience. Here began the long history of sacrifices, magic working incantations, offerings and ceremonies to appease or buy off the deities, demons and rulers of the air, the storm, the drouth and disease This aspect of religion still aims even in Christianity to know the underlying, ultimate and eternal power, life and reality behind all the phenomena of nature which gives continuity to and upholds and directs the cosmic order. It seeks to attain a right relation of body and soul to the universe. In New Testament language it is to love God with all the heart, soul and mind

The second aspect of religion has been the effort to attain the right relation of man to his fellow man. This process began in motherhood and the lengthened human infancy. The mother's need of care and protection while she was preparing for the new life appealed strongly to the savage father's heart, the long and helpless infancy of the babe and its being a part of her own life united mother and child in the bonds of strongest love; the succession of children, the older maturing while the younger were helpless, made the family a permanent institution. The family enlarged into a clan. The sense of kinship and brotherhood was confined to those related by blood. Respect of rights and morality were limited to the tribe, but through the intermingling of families and the conquest of the weaker by the stronger, races of people were formed with a wider kinship. It was then Greek and barbarian; Hebrew and heathen, but now we have some little conception of the brotherhood of all men and are taking the first halting steps toward a more complete realization. Here is the other great aspect of religion which endeavors to bring man into a right relation to his fellow man, not in one respect but in every possible activity of life.

In order to make any progress in the attainment of these two right relations of man to the universe, to God, and of man to his fellow men, the personality of the individual man and of all men must be developed, deepened, enriched, strengthened, beautified and ennobled. This is the task of developing each individual to his fullest capacity, and of improving the quality of the race physically, mentally and morally. The individual who is fitted to enter into a right relation to the universe, to God and to all men is a being governed by reason, tender love and high moral purpose. Such an one is a true soul. As we look out over the world of human beings we shall find many who start with germs of capacity which can be developed with care into a character possessing these qualities. Of those, who because of wholesome previous conditions of heredity begin life well equipped in germs of capacity, many have all the means provided for their full realization, some have surroundings which give only a partial development; others grow unsymmetrical, and still others are arrested and stunted in growth. There is another class who come into the world with germs of capacity weakened physically, mentally and morally because of unfit previous conditions, some germs of reason, love, or will may be wanting, or incapable of any considerable cultivation; the vitality necessary to give foundation and endurance to growth of the whole being may be lacking.

Here arises a three-fold consideration of the individual First, the previous life and heredity giving the child a chance to be well born; second, that it may have a suitable environment and means for the fullest realization of every endowment; third that all agencies shall be directed toward making a complete character.

This opens up a vast field for study and calls for a comprehensive knowledge of the life forces of the race in the past, an understanding of the natural endowment with which the individual begins life, and a rational control of the environment and culture agencies of the present, so that a proper application may be made for the perfection of all men.

This constitutes the task of the twentieth century, a task greater by far than that which has confronted any other age. The close of the nineteenth and the opening of the twentieth century is a profoundly interesting period. There has been no parallel to it in all previous history in the rapid strides in the accumulation of wealth the advance of learning, and in the magnitude and complexity of the problems which loom up over the threshold of the new century. Despite the matchless progress in all science and learning there is as yet practically no science of human society. All energy, thought and accumulated wisdom have been turned largely in to wealth producing channels. This is abroad in men's minds an almost universal feeling that civilization is entering upon a new era in which greater attention must be given to the science of human society. The wide-spread tremblings of unrest indicate that old conditions must fail to satisfy, and that new things are demanded. The dissatisfaction has been expressed not only in revolutionary circles but also by leaders in religion and science. Prof. Huxley says: "Even the best of modern civilization appears to me to exhibit a condition of mankind which neither embodies any worthy ideal nor even possesses the merit of stability. I do not hesitate to express the opinion that if there is no hope of a large improvement of the condition of the greater part of the human family; if it is true that the increase of knowledge, the winning of a greater domain over nature which is its consequence, and the wealth which follows upon that domain, are to make no difference in the extent and the intensity of want with its concomitant physical and moral degradation among the masses or the people, I should hail the advent of some kindly comet which would sweep the whole affair away as a desirable consummation." (Government: Anarchy or Regimentation.)

REV. ALVA ROY SCOTT.

It would be interesting and somewhat important to have a hundred persons of this community, or people from all sections of this and other countries, state what they considered to be the most serious problem and the most immediate dangers of the present day life and society. I have, from time to time, gathered from conversations, books, papers and journals the opinions of men and women concerning what constitutes the greatest problems of our times. They are summed up by different persons, usually each from his own experience, as intemperance, crime, poverty, monopolies and trusts, the struggle for existence, the intense competition by which the smaller enterprises are crushed by the larger and stronger, the displacement of labor by the various means of industrial progress, the insecurity of employment at a living wage, the political corruption, the mismanagement of cities, the financial waste in the conduct of public affairs, unjust taxation, great standing armies as a constant menace to national peace. In each of these there does lie a real danger and a problem most difficult of solution.

My object is to lay emphasis on the need that each citizen shall seek to know for himself the fundamental issues of life and society in their broadest connection, shall seek the root of the difficulties, shall discover the great principles governing human relations, and then shall give his best thought, conscience and service in working together with all earnest, conscientious and intelligent citizens for a right and permanent remedy of the existing evils. My chief aim always is to inspire men and women to honest thought and service in all these matters so important to human welfare. I deem that it is possible for all who desire, to come to a fair and workable understanding of society and social relations, of the questions of government, education and religion. Let us examine more closely

The Nature and Claims of Sociology or Social Science.

It is not easy to approach so great a subject as that of a science of society or sociology, about which volumes have already been written. A single paper cannot be a proper introduction or even a true outline of the topic, let alone be an exhaustive treatise. Society presents many varied phases of interest to men approaching it with different motives. The interest of the minister, religious teacher, reformer, or citizen may be vastly different from that of the business man, the politician, the jurist or the scientist. I have tried for some years to examine society from a number of these points of view in a scientific spirit, desiring to know the truth in its broadest relations.

In defining social science or sociology one must not attempt to give a hard and fast definition, for none can be fully comprehensive, giving metes and bounds to this field which has been, as yet, only roughly determined. It is a progressive science which is still in its infancy. I do not mean to say that no thought has heretofore been given to the problems of human relations, for Plato's Republic and Laws and Aristotle's Politics are studies of social conditions. Aristotle made a comparative study of about 150 Greek cities. In the middle ages and after the Renaissance the investigations of social phenomena were fragmentary. No one attempted to comprehend the concrete vital whole. Only in our present age, during the last third of a century, have scientific methods been systematically applied to this great task. The evolutionary explanation of the natural world has made its way into every department of learning. Any definition now given to sociology must be descriptive rather than definitive.

The first use of the term "Sociology" was by the positivist philosopher Comte in 1838. He wished to designate by a single name that part of natural philosophy which relates to the positive study of all the fundamental laws proper to social phenomena. It is a knowledge of the facts of society, their historic sequence and their causal relations.

The first task is to find the underlying basis of society, the root element in man, which makes him a social being. Aristotle said long ago that man is a political animal, but it may be more truly and comprehensively said that he is a social creature. There has been much discussion as to whether the fundamental basis of social science is biology or psychology. It is now generally held that it rests indirectly on biology and directly upon psychology. Adam Smith, famous for his "Wealth of Nations," used the word "sympathy" as the basis of society; Prof. Giddings finds this basis to be in the "consciousness of kind."

I wish now to recall to your minds the three aspects of man's development stated early in the paper, namely, his attempt to find the underlying infinite and eternal reality of the whole universe, and his endeavor to enter into a right relation to this infinite life and power; his attempt gradually to formulate a right relation of man to his fellow men in every activity of life; the effort which must be made to improve the quality and nature of man so that he may maintain these right relations by being a creature governed by reason, tender love and high moral purpose. It is important that we hold in mind these three points in all sociological study. With these facts in mind, together with a notion of a psychologic basis of sociology, we are now to speak of our subject as a general science and then in its practical aspects.

1. The General Subject of Sociology.

Social science must be regarded as a crowning science, comprehending man in all ways in which he is related to other men; it thus includes many other sciences within itself. The scientific student to have the broadest and most thorough knowledge of this subject must see it in its relation to other sciences.

1. Sociology as Related to Cosmology, or the Science of the Whole Universe. We here consider the world process and formulate our idea of God as the absolute and ultimate Being whether He is personal or impersonal, external or immanent, anthropomorphic or an infinite spirit; we are also to determine concerning the world order whether it came by special creation and evolution, or wholly by evolution. Then we must get a clear idea of what evolution is and what are its limits., Is this world movement wholly governed by laws or is subject to a sudden influx or concentration of force causing the miraculous to occur? Questions of God's relation to creation and especially to man the providential order, divine guidance answers to prayers, the nature of revelation and revelation by discovery all of these questions exert a great influence on man in all the phases and activities of his life. It is in this province to determine man's place in the great world series, and how he came to be what he now is "Man's Place in Nature" has been for some years the most prominent problem in science and philosophy.

The evolutionary view as the one generally accepted in all scholarly circles. Mr Huxley in his "American addresses," p 10, makes the following statement: "The hypothesis of evolution supposes that in all this vast progression there could be no breach of continuity, no point at which we could say, 'This is a natural process and, 'This is not a natural process but that the whole might be compared to that wonderful process of development which may be seen going on every day under our eyes, in virtue of which there arises, out of the semi fluid, comparatively homogeneous substance which we call an egg, the complicated organization of one of the higher animals That, in a few words is what is meant by the hypothesis of evolution." It is poetically expressed by Tennyson:

"One God, one law, one element,
And one far-off divine event
To which the whole creation moves,"

or as Browning says,

"All tended to mankind
And man produced, all has its end
thus far;

And if you buy Pueblo real estate, you must make money. Many people are cognizant of the conditions existing in Colorado Springs and Colorado City two years ago, and have watched the gradual rise in the values of improved and unimproved real estate until it is now worth two to three times more than the then prevailing prices. You know what caused the rise in Colorado Springs and Colorado City real estate, and we now know what will cause a big rise in the values of Pueblo real estate.

What Small Things Brought About

Two years ago Colorado City real estate was worth only one-third what it will bring today. The Cripple Creek Short Line was built, and caused mills to come to Colorado City. The pay-roll of these enterprises amounts to about $75,000 monthly. Since these undertakings were finished some 1500 houses have been built in Colorado City and Colorado Springs, and real estate has increased in value some 600 per cent. True, the prospects for further increase are good, but there is not the same chance to make money from increase in land values that were offered two years ago. Other localities do offer you the same opportunities. Don't miss them this time.

What Big Things Bigger Than Ever Are Going to Bring About

Here is what the "New Pueblo" offers:
Pay-roll of over $1,000,000 monthly now.
This pay-roll will be $1,500,000 a month within a year.
The new mills and plants of The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company will cover 200 acres, 7000 more men will be put to work this year.
New zinc smelting plant; New steel wagon and wheel works; new pressed brick plant. Homes wanted badly for these 7000 men.
No houses for rent; real estate selling for one-half the price it is in Colorado City or Colorado Springs.

These statements are unanswerable. If a pay-roll of $75,000 a month accomplished so much in Colorado City and Colorado Springs, what will one of $1,500,000 do for Pueblo? We made money for our patrons in Colorado City and Colorado Springs, and we will make more for them here. We will have two additions ready for the market in a few days. One will be sold in lots, and one we will keep to build homes on. Write to us and get in on the ground floor.

The Gazette's Special Letter From the National Capital.

(Special Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., April 16.—The wild and breezy west tries to keep in close touch with the president. An instance is an invitation which recently came to him from a Los Angeles, Calif., rough-and-ready campaign club, known as "Teddy's Terrors." The invitation is perhaps the most unique that ever went into the White house. It is written on a full size calf hide, with the Roosevelt cattle brands burned on the flank. The invitation is framed in cowboy phraseology and requests the chief executive's presence at the annual May fete, "la fiesta de Los Angeles." Near the shoulders of the calf hide, which evidently has been for months in the process of tanning, the hair was scraped away, leaving a soft spot of leathery parchment upon which the words of the invitation are written in a style in keeping with western spirits and frontier methods. This is the greeting.

"Los Angeles, Calif., March 30, 1902.—We're goin' to have a round-up an' we shore want yer mighty bad. Feed and water plenty; stock's fat. Brandin' irons ready when yer git here. Come on, will yer? Teddy's Terrors. For Theodore Roosevelt, the president, Washington, D. C."

In the same spot is a funny sketch of the president mounted on a bear, the insignia of the state of California, with his pistol holster flying out behind and a look of fierce determination on his stern face as he rides. The three brands that ornament the hide are those used on the president's cattle in the northwest. "Teddy's Terrors," sometimes called "Busters," are professional and business men organized for the next campaign. Their uniforms consist of typical cowboy outfit, sombrero, bandana, blue flannel shirt, buck-skin trousers and top boots and huge revolvers.

Washington is to be beautified by a new building for use of the executive branch of the government. A bill which has the approval and support of the president has been reported favorably from the senate committee on public buildings and grounds, authorizing the purchase of a site and erection of a building a short distance west of the White house, facing on Lafayette square, and on the opposite side of Pennsylvania avenue from the state, war and navy buildings. It is proposed to construct a marble building that will cost $5,000,000. Of this sum, $1,000,000 has already been appropriated for a separate building for the department of justice. Under the new arrangement that department will be accommodated in this new building, as will the offices of the department of state. The removal of the state department from the building in which it is now located will give desired additional accommodations to the war and navy departments and save a considerable sum in rentals, which these departments now have to pay for outside buildings. The accommodation of the executive offices in the new building will allow the necessary additional room in the White house for the use of the president's family. Speaker Henderson has so far refused to permit any public building bills to be reported in the house at this session, but as the government is paying over $200,000 a year in rentals in Washington, and as all the departments named are badly in need of additional room, to say nothing of need of office room for the president, it is thought probable the speaker and his associates in the house will not undertake to prevent the passage of this bill, which will doubtless pass the senate by a unanimous vote.

President Roosevelt writes better than he talks. His recent trip to Charleston demonstrated that he has not the graces of public speech. He is not smooth, and certainly not silver-tongued. His words are uttered with an explosive force betokening the impulsive temperament of the man. But, if he is not a "catchy" orator, there is a heartfulness to his utterances which atones for many shortcomings. When he speaks he compels the belief that he is speaking in all sincerity and truth. A newspaper writer who accompanied the president on his Charleston trip says that the president gets close to the people not for ulterior motive or political advantage, but because, being intensely human himself, he likes humanity. All people within the confines of the United States are to him "my fellow Americans." He has a Lincoln-like love for the common people—a love that is not forced or stimulated or superficial, but a love that is as genuine, as hearty and as natural as it can be.

Those who heard the president speak during the campaign of 1900 when he was in Utah and Colorado, will remember that upon each occasion it seemed as if the speech were the first he had ever attempted to deliver. There was an apparent forceful effort to find proper and fitting words that at the outset made a painful effect upon his hearers. As the speech proceeded, however, and these apparent efforts were seen to be the natural methods of the speaker, the painful impression wore off and the speech made a decided and lasting impression. With all his experience the president has not become an easy talker, but he is ever an impressive one.

Admiral and Mrs. Dewey, who have been spending the winter at Palm Beach, have returned to their home on Rhode Island avenue. Mrs. Dewey has been slowly recovering from the grip and is now much better. The Admiral and Mrs. Dewey will receive much social attention in Washington during the remainder of the season. They will never, however, be the favorites they were before the unfortunate house-giving transaction.

There is one man in public life who is satisfied with his financial status. This is Utah's junior senator. A few days ago, when the members of the senate committee on mines and mining were discussing a proposed law relating to boundaries of mines, Senator Kearns opposed a proposed feature of the measure. "But," explained Senator Stewart, "this scheme will help you." "That may be so," replied Kearns, "but I do not think it is right. Besides," he added, "I have as much money as any mortal man ought to have, and I am willing to let the other fellows have a chance."

The guides about the capitol point out to visitors what is known as Simon Cameron's tree. It is an immense elm which grows up through the flagged sidewalk, directly in the middle of one of the walks leading to the east entrance of the house side of the capitol. The story they tell is that when the workmen were laying the walk they were about to chop down and remove a tree which obstructed the work. Senator Simon Cameron of Pennsylvania happened to come along just as the workmen were about to commence the removal. Cameron stopped them and hastened to the senate chamber, where he secured the passage of a resolution directing that no tree growing in the capitol grounds should ever be cut down or removed. The elm which he saved will doubtless bear his name for all time.

The new apportionment law is playing strange freaks with members of congress in some of the states. Re-apportionment of congressional districts to accommodate the increase or decrease in representation sometimes shifts a congressman into a district where his chances for re-election are greatly diminished. Others find their new districts much easier to carry than heretofore. In redistricting Mississippi the gerrymandering process cuts at least two congressmen out of a job. By peculiar manipulation, Representatives Henry, Hooker and Williams find themselves in one district. Two of the three will have to be left out in the cold.

Captain Eugene E. Ware, the new pension commissioner, although appointed from Kansas, might properly be claimed by Wyoming, Colorado or any other Rocky mountain state, for he tramped over the entire region as a soldier in some of the Indian campaigns following the close of the civil war. He was an officer in the famous Powder river Indian campaign of 1865 conducted against the Sioux, Arapahoes and other Indians by a force under command of General Connor. The expedition left Fort Laramie early in 1865 and for several years marched and fought over the same ground that General Custer covered 11 years later. Captain H. E. Palmer of Omaha, Neb., who was one of the officers on the expedition, said that all the Indians of northern Wyoming and Montana joined in fighting against the troops and made life very interesting for them. The force was much more limited than that under command of General Custer and it was almost miraculous that it escaped annihilation. Only five of the officers who were in the Powder river campaign are now living. One of these is Colonel Nick O'Brien, now connected with the U. S. land office at Denver.

General Miles refuses to discuss the situation in the war department or to enter into any controversy in regard to statements published in the press relative to the probable action of the president in the matter of his retirement. The general is anxious, however, to have it known, and especially in the west, that it was not at his instance or with his previous knowledge that the retirement of General E. O. C. Ord was brought about. It has been charged that General Miles, through the political influence of his uncle by marriage, General W. T. Sherman, succeeded in having General Ord retired so that he, himself, could be appointed a brigadier general. The circumstances under which General Miles became a brigadier general are well remembered by the older men in the war department. General Hyer died August 24, 1880. He was then chief of the signal corps. This made a vacancy in the rank of brigadier general, but in a staff department. General, then Colonel, Miles, was an applicant for the vacancy. He had been a colonel for fourteen years and at that time was perhaps the most conspicuous officer in the army and the most popular, especially in the west. He had just captured Chief Joseph, and made a memorable Indian campaign from the southern to the northern boundary line of the United States. Upon receiving Miles' application for the vacancy, President Hayes asked him if he would not prefer a position in the line instead of in the staff. Miles said he would like to have the promotion, and believed he could do well with the signal corps of the army, but that naturally he could make no conditions. Thus the matter stood when Garfield, the president-elect, went to President Hayes and asked him to appoint Hazen brigadier general and chief of the signal corps. Hazen was appointed December 15, 1880, and during the same month, President Hayes, much to the surprise of Miles and General Sherman, also retired Gen. E. O. C. Ord, then in command of the Department of Texas. General Sherman went immediately to President Hayes and made an earnest protest against the retirement of Ord. President Hayes said that he wanted to make Miles a brigadier general and that there were other reasons for the retirement of Ord. General Sherman is quoted as saying, "Miles can wait." It was stated in the newspapers the day following Ord's retirement that the reasons were political, and a telegram alleged to have been sent by General Ord to General Hancock, after the latter's nomination for the presidency by the Democratic party, was put in evidence as being of an extremely partisan character for an army officer in a Republican administration. The telegram from General Ord to Hancock is said to have read: "Congratulations from Texas and from Ord." It is a matter of record in the war department that General Ord was not retired at the instigation or with the approval of General Miles. And while this fact was known at the time, General Miles is extremely anxious that the charge now brought against him of conspiring to secure Ord's retirement for his own aims is unfounded.

Without doubt the man in the public service who is of the greatest use to members of congress is Amzi Smith, the superintendent of the senate document room. His memory is marvelous. He can remember the dates and numbers of thousands of documents issued years ago. I was in the document room a few days ago when Senator Culbertson of Texas, came in. "Mr. Smith," he said, "I have been searching through the senate library for three hours trying to find the testimony given on reconstruction by General Robert E. Lee before some congressional committee soon after the close of the war. I have wanted to read that testimony for many years and never have been able to find it." Without a second's hesitation Mr. Smith said: "Look in House Document No. 30, first session 39th Congress." About two minutes later Senator Culbertson returned from the library. He had the document in his hand and was looking at the long-sought for testimony. "You have the most wonderful memory of any man living," he said to Mr. Smith, "and I hope you may live a thousand years and then get a new lease on life after that."

When Mr. Cleveland was first elected president some one succeeded in having Amzi Smith removed and a Democrat named for his place. The change created an upheaval in congress. The members of the senate, Democrats and Republicans alike, protested against the change and demanded Mr. Smith's reinstatement and this followed very soon. He was placed in charge of the document room again and he will undoubtedly remain there as long as he lives. His successor when "let out" was John Charles Thompson now of Denver for whom another place was found when Mr. Smith was reinstated.

General Leonard A. Wood enjoys the proud distinction of being the only man in Washington who has outwalked President Roosevelt. Wood was once a famous army football player and has always been fond of athletic exercise. Since his return from Cuba he and the president have walked together every day, and President Roosevelt considers Wood an ideal walking partner. The above snapshot was recently made in Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, just as the famous pair were starting on a constitutional walk.

Santos-Dumont and His Competitors at the St. Louis Fair.

St. Louis, April 18.—Santos-Dumont, the "wizard of the air," who is now en route to St Louis to confer with World's Fair officials on the subject of the airship races to take place during the progress of the Louisiana Purchase exposition, may find warmer competition among the American aeronauts than he anticipates at this time. Many American inventors, with plenty of money to back them up, are laying plans to dispute the Brazilian's title to being the "all of it" when it comes to navigation in the clouds. The dirigible air-ship is M. Santos-Dumont's special hobby, and his sail around the Eiffel Tower, and the later successful flights over Monaco bay, have no doubt created a general impression that he will probably have an easy time of it walking off with the $200,000 prize offered by the Louisiana Purchase exposition for this sort of flying machine. That impression is an erroneous one. There are others, and there are Americans among them. When the air-ship races at the World's Fair are over, M. Santos-Dumont and those who expect to see him an easy winner may find themselves on the wrong side of the guessing contest. They may have another guess coming. It certainly looks that way at this distance.

Probably the most formidable contestant Santos-Dumont will have for the big prize will be Alanson Wood, the Toledo, Ohio inventor, who, with his partner, made a fortune in twelve short months from his invention—the roller coaster. Mr. Wood is now completing the detail work on an airship, with which he will conipete for the prize at the St. Louis World's Fair for the best dirigible airship. Mr. Wood has been steadily at work for months past and his plans have reached a stage where there is, according to his own statement, no further doubt as to his final success.

He will have his machine completed in one short month. In company with one other man he will finance the entire deal without assistance from outside parties. The trial tests, of which he speaks with confidence, will be made in Toledo. One idea included in Mr. Wood's airship, he says, has been completely overlooked by all other inventors, and it was purely through accident that he happened across this strange and exceedingly important idea. It is the one thing necessary to the successful operation of an airship, and without having it embodied in their models, inventors can never hope to succeed. It does away with all thought of the lifting capacity of the airship, and through it Mr. Wood can lift 25,000 pounds with the locomotive force he intends to employ on his ship. Practical tests given his apparatus have demonstrated to the inventor that his machine will be a success. He can see nothing now but the big prize at St. Louis, and the wealth which will follow the solution of a problem that has vexed men for ages past.

Leo Stevens is the name of another airship builder who has a flying machine within 60 days of completion. He has his workshop on the second floor of 291 Eighth avenue, New York city, and says he will contest for the big prize at St. Louis. His machine, he thinks, is an improvement on the Santos-Dumont machine. He expects to make his first trip through the air over the tops of New York's sky scrapers.

"I had hoped to have Santos-Dumont one of the first to see my machine," said Mr. Stevens in conversation with an Evening Telegram reporter a few days ago. Then he explained briefly the plan upon which his airship is constructed. The frame work is made of steel pipe manufactured especially for it. The gasoline engine is also put in place in the frame. The entire weight of the frame work will be only 10$ pounds, although it is about 85 feet long and 15 feet high. The engine will be seven and a half.

In Stevens' machine, to begin with there will be two gas "envelopes" or balloons instead of one, a smaller one being built within the large one. In this way he will prevent his main balloon from becoming flabby and unwieldy, when the gas escapes, by forcing air into the cylinder, and by its expansion force the remaining gas in the big cylinder into smaller compass, thereby keeping the main balloon full and shapely.

He also has added a water ballast attachment, constructed on a sliding track, so that he can move it back and forth at will and keep the equilibrium of the machine perfect. But what he considers his greatest improvement over Dumont's machine is the addition of two automatic wings attached to the balloon, which will fold up when the balloon shoots upward and open as it descends, acting on the parachute principle, and thereby preventing him from coming down to the earth too rapidly as has been the experience with Dumont. The balloon will be above the steel frame, the same as in Dumont's machine, but the frame work will be much better supported, and the machine in every way will be under better control of the navigator.

"So far as solving the question of commercial navigation of the air is concerned," said he, "I am not bothering myself. I am not going into that realm yet, but I say to you in all candor, and not with the enthusiasm of a theorist, that I know that I have solved the problem of constructing a machine that will carry one person through the air wherever he seeks to go, and against any ordinary current.

"All my life I have been making trips through the air. I have studied every phase of the problem of aerial navigation, and three years ago, when I perfected my models and secured my patents from the United States government, I had hoped to have nothing said about it until I was able to demonstrate what now I only proclaim. By June, at the latest, I hope to have the machine in working order. Most of the metal work is now completed, and the gas tank is being made at Long Branch.

"I expect to be the successful competitor, at St. Louis, and I hope to have M. Santos-Dumont here to witness my first trip. I am proud of him, and while I am frank to say that I have profited much by his victories, I have gained vastly more by his defeats. He has had a great deal more money than I have to work with, but he is entitled to a world of credit for what he has done. No one who has not made a life study of the great problem as I have done, can comprehend the discouragements one meets with. But what he has failed to do I know that I shall do.

"Any one who understands the principles of ballooning can construct a machine that can be lifted into the air and propelled if there is no resistance, but M. Santos-Dumont has not been able yet to control his machine against any considerable resistance and to descend in a satisfactory manner, and those things I shall do. I shall not attempt to travel at first in a hurricane, but I shall be able to travel against any ordinary current. I expect that the machine will need improvements. It is beyond human skill to perfect this great work at one stroke, but I know that I have now surpassed all that has been accomplished up to this period."

Alvin W. Van Dorston of South Bend, Ind., a skilled mechanic and patternmaker, has a patent pending for a flying machine with which he hopes to carry off the World's Fair prize. Dorston's flying ship is to be operated by gasoline. The body of the vessel is 100 feet long by 37 feet beam in the widest place. The total weight of the machine will be 1,600 pounds. The lifting surface is 2,500 feet. Included in this lifting surface are 36 lifting wheels, 48 on each side. "The essential principles necessary to successful aerial navigation are aeroplane force, buoyancy, and lifting wheels," says Dorston. "If a successful airship cannot be produced by the use of these principles, there will be but little use to attempt aerial navigation along other lines."

Inventor Gustave Whitehead of Bridgeport, Conn., is also working on a dirigible airship with the intention of meeting Santos-Dumont in the balloon race at the World's Fair. Whitehead recently conducted a series of trial tests with his maghine at Charles island, Milford. He is elated over the success of the trials. He asserts that he made a complete circuit in the air, covering an area of about a quarter of a mile, returning to within 50 feet of the starting point, when the machine descended and dropped lightly to the sandy shore.

"The flights were a complete success," said Whitehead. "I had a kerosene motor which worked perfectly. I steered the machine by running one propeller faster than the other, and there was not a hitch of any kind. I have much faith in this kerosene motor, which is the lightest I have ever used. It is of 40 horse power, and weighs but 120 pounds. I am now planning to fulfill the promise I made some time ago to fly to New York. I will make an effort to get to New York in May. I will accomplish it if my machine breaks down a dozen times in the attempt."

Hermann Ganswindt, a noted Berlin inventor, is coming all the way from Germany to race with his airship in the aerial contests at the Louisiana Purchase exposition. For ten years Ganswindt has been experimenting and has finally produced an airship which flies successfully by means of a motor and without the use of a balloon. Ganswindt has repeatedly demonstrated the practicability of his invention before the chief of the general staff of the German army. Several officers of the airship division of the German war department have expressed themselves most enthusiastically about Ganswindt's invention, and consider the same both practical and feasible.

M. Santos-Dumont sailed on the Deutschland for New York April 5. Upon his arrival in New York he will be met by Mr. W. A. Smith, chief of the transportation department of the World's Fair, and the two gentlemen will proceed at once to St. Louis. Before his departure for America, the enthusiastic aeronaut said:

"I am going to discuss arrangements with the president of the Louisiana Purchase exposition of 1903. I set my face Americaward today with the happiest anticipations, and with confidence that I will learn as much as I will demonstrate in connection with airships. Though it is my present intention to remain only a few weeks I may revise my plans according to circumstances. In any case I will certainly not return before I have fully investigated all that America has to say on the question of aeronautics. I have every reason to feel confident that my St. Louis trials will prove successful, as I have introduced important modifications in the way of shape and motorweight in my airship since I won the Deutschland prize. If I do not win the St. Louis award I will be happier than if I win, since my loss would imply the discovery of a better system than mine—in other words the furthest progress yet made in this most baffling of sciences.

"The significance of my present visit is not personal. It emphasizes the interest the most practical people in the world take in the problem of a steerable airship which will be the vehicle of future generations. The enthusiastic attention to America will undoubtedly hasten the solution."

THE WATTERSON SPEECH.

Misther Editor:

INDIAN EDUCATION.

Brighter Side of the Problem—Indians Compared With Immigrants as Citizens.

"In 1877 the first $20,000 was appropriated to fit the Indians for citizenship; that is, for their education. That, with some other contributions, supported 48 boarding schools and 102 day schools, with 3,598 pupils. In 1899 the annual appropriation was $2,638,390 for the support of 148 boarding schools, and 295 day schools, with a total of 24,000 pupils. These figures alone, in his opinion, signify the success of the school system, and the belief of the country in its efficacy.

"The latest annual report issued by the commissioner of Indian affairs—which, by the way, places the number of boarding schools at 113, instead of the 148 of Mr. Dawes' reckoning in 1899—is a gloomy state document. Mr. Jones apparently despairs of the present system:

"'Not having earned his education,' he says of the Indian pupil, 'it is not appreciated; having made no sacrifice to obtain, it is not valued. It is looked upon as a favor to the government, not to the recipient; and the almost inevitable tendency is to encourage dependence, foster pride, and create a spirit of arrogance and selfishness.'

"That very few children between the ages of five and 21 make personal sacrifices to obtain an education is equally true. To be sure, their parents as citizens are supposed to aid in the support of the public school system; but perhaps the logical and remembering Indian parent may feel that he, too, has sacrificed enough to the state to justify him in expecting an education for his children—especially since the white men seem to be very anxious to give it. And, after all, a 15 or 20-year experiment is but a brief one in the history of a race.

"At Hampton and Carlisle, where careful records of the graduates have been kept, it is said that 76 per cent of those who have gone out of the schools, have been good average men and women. At Hampton a late report gives the proportion which works as teachers, clerks, doctors and in the professions generally, as 118 to 197 farmers, herders and mechanics—a proportion which does not seem to indicate that the advance of the Indian will be solely along the hewing of wood and drawing of water lines.

"However, no one can visit one of these well-conducted boarding schools and feel quite the same hopefulness as before. If there is an element of the ludicrous in the effort of a great boy who in more strenuous days might have dangled scalps on his belt, smiling vacantly at the picture of a waddling duck and painfully chanting his advice to it to run, our own city night schools are full of sights more ludicrous. And with us here they are not balanced by the hopeful visions of young farmers tilling and blacksmiths hammering and girls ironing with vigor.

"Savagery has not set upon the faces of our western wards half the hopelessness, the stupid indifference that the far eastern civilizations have branded upon those of their races whom they send here, and whom we, without apparent qualms or misgivings, undertake to educate and fit for citizenship. To be sure we undertake to fit for citizenship in our very midst. We do not segregate them, and give them for companionship only those of ourselves who will prey upon their simplicity and their native passions; or those who will regard them with the deep-seated hostility of avaricious ignorance. It is possible, if the unlearned may hazard a theory, that this is one reason why the barbarian peasant hordes from Europe are so much more readily prepared for citizenship than the savages of the west.

"After all, the effect of Indian education upon the tribes from which the children go out depends upon two things—the actual, workaday value to them of the things they have learned, and the affection with which they are regarded and through which alone they may hope to exert influence.

"If the little disquisitions upon Ulysses and the like seem remote, from an Indian boy's immediate educational needs, there is comparatively little of that to a great deal of carpentry. If the Paris doll and the list of the English queens do not seem immediately connected with the Indian girl's destiny—no more are they with that of Bridget on East Forty-first street or of Rebecca on Rivington. And it is always to be remembered that the Indian child is learning, too, arts quite untaught in Bridget's school and Rebecca's—ironing, dress-making, cooking and the like. I do not believe that anyone can visit a well-conducted Indian school like the one at Santa Fe, and, remembering how short a time we have been conducting the manual training experiment, despair. Despondency seems almost premature."—(Anne O'Hagan in Alnslee's.

The Economy of Giving.

Not a penny of Andrew Carnegie's $10,000,000 "Carnegie university" donation goes into buildings. It isn't to be a university in a real. It will fill a long felt educational need by helping men and women engaged in original research. No other American has ever given away $80,000,000. But a good many other Americans gave their lives to save their flag and the government under which Andrew Carnegie made the $80,000,000, while he was making it. A man cannot really give anything but himself. Carnegie gives himself when he spends days and nights planning how to do the most good with the millions he is handing back to the people.—(Frank Putnam in the April "National."

Making a Good Train Service.

Twenty years ago it was not uncommon for train crews to be dragged from saloons and sent half drunk on their runs. A "layover" too often meant a debauch. But with railroad improvements came a demand for clean-living, trustworthy men; railroads could not afford to have drinking men at the throttles of "flyers" or in control of trains expected to make close connections. It was dangerous. With the lifting of the standard came the need of aids to "keep straight" the men who desired to retain and increase their efficiency. And in the railroad branches of the Young Men's Christian association—after the first had made a success at Cleveland—many clear-sighted railroad officials saw a means of helping their men help themselves. When it was demonstrated to them by the international committee of the Young Men's Christian association that regard for the comfort of their men would react to the advantage of the railroad service, one after another gave his co-operation to start branches and furnish them with buildings. Conversion came hard with some. They saw psalm-singing in the plan. But when men like President Tuttle, of the Boston & Maine, President Ingalls, of the Big Four, President Ramsey of the Wabash, Mr. George J. Gould, head of the Gould system, President Baldwin of the Long Island, President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania, President Bent of the Union Pacific, when men like these became convinced that they were helping their roads by helping the railroad branches they co-operated enthusiastically in the work. They speedily saw its common sense practicality.

The railroad secretaries of the Young Men's Christian association made definite propositions. The railroad officials were asked to contribute two-thirds the cost of a building and its equipment, provided according to the amount subscribed—smoking rooms, lunch rooms, libraries, class rooms, dormitories, bowling alleys, recreation fields and so on. A membership fee was to be established. The ownership of the building was to be vested in the association and not in the railroad—this to secure independence. Absolute neutrality was to be maintained during strikes. When all this was understood official after official joined heartily in the movement. Their attitude might be summed up in the words of a well-known railroad president, who broke in when the religious, social and educational advantages were pointed out to him: "These are all right; but what this company wants is a good, comfortable place for our men to wash up, lounge about and take a nap in." And that is what they got.—(M. G. Cunniff, in the World's Work.

The Factory Accountant.

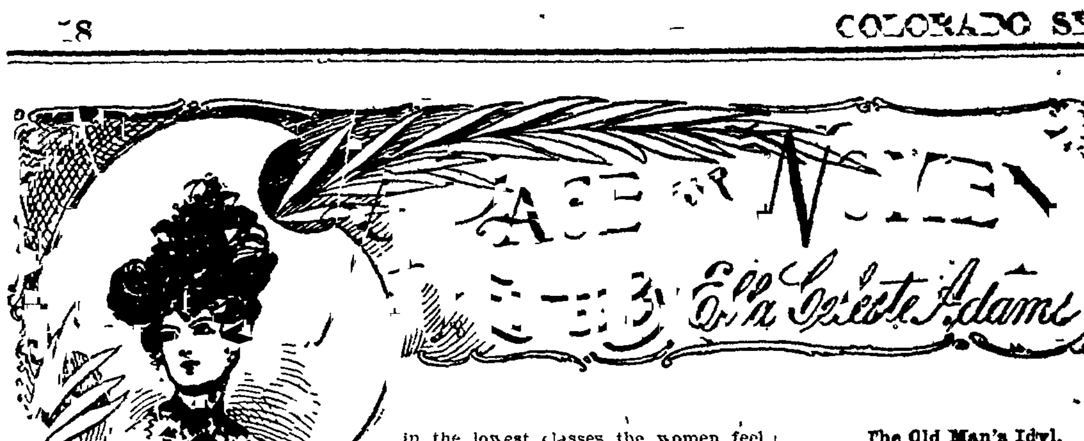

If the conditions justify the making and filing of such a position as factory accountant, in order to obtain the best results it is quite as necessary he should have entire control of his department, as that a foreman should have full control of his men. This is a claim of which most managements fail to see the justice, virtually taking the stand that the factory office is part of the general office, instead of an entirely distinct department. Like the foreman of the shop, the factory accountant must study and know his staff—the capacity and temperament of each, and distribute the work accordingly, being careful as far as possible to have the services of each clerk employed on the most important work he is capable of doing. His clerks' brains are his productive plant, and it is far from economy to have a machine of high cost and value doing work which can be done equally as well and in the same length of time by one representing a smaller investment.—Kenneth Falconer, in The Engineering Magazine for April.

Keep Your Eye on Shaw.

While Secretary Leslie M. Shaw was governor of Iowa and when his presidential "boom" was first launched, an Iowa newspaper, seeking to advertise the fact, printed every day at the head of its editorial column this line: "Keep your eye on Shaw." A citizen of the Hawkeye state recently commented on this to the new secretary of the treasury. "That was all right, governor, while we were talking of nominating you for president," he said, "but now that you have the custody of $700,000,000 or $800,000,000 of the government's money it's time to take that sign down. People will think we haven't confidence in you."—(Leslie's Weekly.

No stream from its source flows seaward however lonely its course,
But what some land is gladdened No star ever rose
And set without influence somewhere. Who knows
What earth needs of earth's lowest creature No life
Can be pure in its purpose and strong in its strife
And all life not be purer and stronger thereby
The spirits of just men are made perfect on high
The army of martyrs who stand by the throne
And gaze into the face that makes glorious their own
Know this surely at last Honest love honest sorrow
Honest work for the day honest hope for the morrow
Are these worth nothing more than the hand they make weary
The heart they have saddened the life they leave dreary

DURING the recent destructive fire at Bryn Mawr college the girls outside did very prompt and efficient service. In recounting the events of the occasion a local paper said: In all else admiration was expressed for the work of the brave girls who compose the entire student body. The girls helped unravel the hose that was lumbered on the ground and four of the quickest girls rushed into the heart of the fire with the pipe. No attempt was made to save any of the girls' effects. All efforts were bent upon the fire itself.

It amused Miss M Carey Thomas to laugh by saying that if the fire had occurred years ago there would have been girls in tears while last night she did not see one girl weeping.

While courage and coolness under trying circumstances are not wholly a matter of education but of temperament rather, still it will be granted that these Bryn Mawr girls would not so readily have made use of their energies in the very best way but for just such all round mental and physical culture as is prescribed by the curriculum of every well ordered college. Over and over the value of adequate preparation in every possible way points the truth of it Better to be ready and not go than go and not be ready. Many of the girls identified with the colleges of today are quite apt to be petted and spoiled in their luxurious homes while student life tends toward bringing out a self reliance not to be acquired otherwise which tells when put to a test like the one referred to. Time was when women were expected to do all sorts of foolish things when excited like carrying a feather bed down stairs very carefully and throwing the mirrors and pictures out of the window when the house takes fire. Nowadays they leave that sort of performance to the men.

In Mind Mrs Abby Morton Diaz is giving a series of papers on Hindrances to World Betterment. In the fifth she treats of Woman. Mrs Diaz begins with the proposition that Man and Nature are one varied manifestation of the eternal energy with this difference that while in nature exterior to man the masculine and feminine work together mutually free from interference in our human world the feminine half has been under masculine repression. Obviously Mrs Diaz says we have here one of the most obstructive of our hindrances inasmuch as this long-continued repression of womanly possibilities has deprived the world of just about half of its effective running force and we may almost say a half of the other half—by reason of heredity. For sons of past generations of uncultured mothers must have become men minus just about that much of those higher capacities which control events and which should have been theirs by heritage.

The records all the way back to Genesis show that man has been to woman her law maker judge jury and executioner has had the ordering of her life as to what were her needs how much knowledge he would allow her to acquire and how best she could please him has constructed the creeds for her to believe in this world and told her what would become of her in the next—thus fulfilling from the beginning his whole declared duty as authority and guide.

Note the words with her for Milton seeing the necessity of shielding Adam from reproach for his neglect of duty places Eve alone with the serpent actually inventing the needful incident that she had begged her husband's permission to wander off in the garden by herself! The brief Scriptural statement is replaced by descriptive imaginary scenes and long drawn out conversations persuasive pleadings on Eve's part—the whole extended and embellished after the manner of dramatists. For years Paradise Lost was an established text book in academies as well as standard family reading so that the author's personal genius told strongly for the long continued repression of woman—and it should be added for making the devil a real person and hell a real place.

In the course of an address before the National Council of Women Dr Anna H Shaw said in regard to the condition of women in the West Indies:

I should feel it out of place to say much about the West Indies. Three months is too short a time in which to understand them.

What is needed most in Cuba is a liberal educated and splendid body of men to teach the Cubans the proper position of women. One man with whom I talked there said to me 'We have universal suffrage.'

I said 'I am so glad! I never was in a place before where they had it. And how do the women vote?'

"The women? I didn't say anything about women. I said we had universal suffrage," he answered.

I asked 'What is the status of women in Cuba?'

He answered "They haven't any status."

The greatest hope is in the kindergarten system. The kindergartens established by the Americans are full, the people are very desirous to send their children to them.

There is no great middle class as with us. The work is done mostly by the negroes or the mixed races. Even in the lowest classes the women feel that work is discreditable and in the upper classes they hold it to be disgraceful and will not admit that they know how to make a dress or to cook. They do not understand the dignity of service. If I were a rich woman today and were going to do anything for women outside my own country I would establish industrial education in Cuba.

In the English West Indies women do a great deal of work but not the women of pure white blood. You find many women employed in shops and offices as clerks etc. In Barbadoes we saw splendid stalwart negresses but they do not like any work by which they would be bound. They prefer to have hovels with little garden plats on the hillsides and carry their produce to market on their heads. We met them for 20 miles along the road on their way to the city. As we met them each curtsied under her burden and we expected to see it fall but it never did. Most of the negresses will never marry. A man in Cuba told me that suffrage had prevented marriage. I said Is it because of higher education and suffrage that these illiterate black women do not marry? These people with negro blood are more afraid of slavery than of anything else and the women will not marry because under your laws the husband can collect his wife's wages and can abuse her. Do not blame education or suffrage but blame your unjust laws which make marriage a bondage.

In some of the Spanish West Indies many couples cannot afford to marry because the ceremony is so costly. In the Isle of Pines we met a young priest who had just officiated at a wedding. The newly married couple came out of church the wife wearing the bridal veil and both of them adorned with all the decorations and followed by their family of children. That good young priest said he was going through the island marrying up all the couples who wished it without a fee. He will do much to teach the people the dignity of marriage.

At Trinidad the labor is largely performed by East Indian coolies and the law requires that 40 per cent of all those imported shall be women. Among the women immorality is extremely rare for if a wife is unfaithful her husband cuts off her head. It is their custom and the government finds great difficulty in preventing it. When we were there a young man of 22 had just beheaded his wife. When he was arrested he was astonished and said But she was my wife. If a man cannot behead his own wife whose wife can he behead? I asked. But who beheads the husband when he is unfaithful?

What distressed me most was meeting so many of our own countrymen who had no sympathy with the people and who said I hate these Cubans! I was riding out one afternoon with an American. We passed a man who was swinging a pick—well about as a sweeper in Philadelphia wields a broom—and this gentleman said Oh these Cubans are so lazy! I sat back in the carriage and fanned myself and said Yes they are very lazy! It is easy for those who are rolling along comfortably in a carriage to talk about the laziness of those who are breaking stone on the road—as easy as it is for women who never knew hunger to say Yes I would starve rather than go wrong!

The white people in the West Indies both the English and the Americans have no idea of the need of equal education for girls. When we went out to Codington college 200 years old beautifully situated on the seashore but having only seven students five colored and two white all studying theology I said to the gentleman who showed us around What a waste! Why don't you teach them blacksmithing and carpentry? Industrial education is what is needed here for both men and women.

He said I wish you would say that to the committee in England that controls the institution but if you did they would all die of apoplexy.

I said If I thought that I would at once go to England and tell them so.

The women must be taught self respect but it will be a long process. The field there has not been cultivated as with us. If we are to do any good in those islands it will be done not by the people who go there just for contracts but by those who go to make homes and who carry our ideas and ideals. I hope so far as depends on our government and our influence we shall do our best to have the broadest minded and most liberal men sent there.

Resurgam.

Lord I behold thy fair world cold and gray
Made desolate by winter's icy reign,
I hear the gaunt trees sobbing as they sway
Oh to bring back the sweet glad life of May Lo! Thou that makest new such things as they
Let me begin with springtime once again

Perchance I too might rise again—might grow
From all that hath been dark and sad and drear
Above and far beyond the Self I know
To fresh new aim new effort, crying Lo!
It is I dear Lord that died a year ago
With autumn leaves Thy springtime hath been here!

When I Have Time

When I have time so many things I'll do
To make life happier and more fair
For those whose lives are crowded now with care
I'll help to lift them from their low despair
When I have time

When I have time the friend I love so well
Shall know no more these weary toiling days
I'll lead her feet in pleasant paths always
And cheer her heart with words of sweetest praise
When I have time

When you have time! The friend you hold so dear
May be beyond the reach of all your sweet intent,
May never know that you so kindly meant
To fill her life with sweet content,
When you had time

Now is the time! Ah, friend, no longer wait
To scatter loving smiles and words of cheer
To those around whose lives are now so drear,
They may not need you in the coming year—
Now is the time

The Old Man's Idyl.

By the waters of Life we sat together
Hand in hand in the golden days
Of the beautiful early summer weather
When hours were anthems, and speech was praise
When the heart kept time to the choral of the birds
And the birds kept time to the songs that ran
Through the shimmer of flowers on grassy swards
And trees with voices aeolian

By the rivers of Life we walked together,
I and my darling unafraid
And lighter than any linnet's feather
The burdens of being on us weighed,
And love's sweet miracles o'er us threw
Mantles of joy outlasting time,
And up from the rosy morrows grew
A sound that seemed like a marriage chime

In the gardens of Life we roamed together,
And the luscious apples were ripe and red
And the languid lilac and honeyed heather
Swooned with the fragrance which they shed
And under the trees the angels walked,
And up in the air a sense of wings
Awed us tenderly while we talked
Softly in sacred communings

In the meadows of Life we strayed together
Watching the waving harvest grow,
And under the benison of the Father
Our hearts like the lambs, skipped to and fro,
And the cowslips hearing our low replies
Broidered fairer the emerald banks
And the glad tears shone in the daisies' eye
And the timid violet glistened thanks

Who was with us and what was round us
Neither myself or my darling guessed
Only we knew that something crowned us
Out from the heavens with crowns of rest
Only we knew that something bright
Lingered lovingly where we stood
Clothed with the incandescent light
Of something higher than womanhood

Oh the riches love doth inherit!
Oh the alchemy which doth change
Dross of body and dregs of spirit
Into sanctities rare and strange
My flesh is feeble and dry, and old
My darling's beautiful hair is gray,
But our elixir and precious gold
Laugh at the footsteps of decay

Harms of the world have come upon us,
Cups of sorrow we yet shall drain,
But we have a secret which doth show us
Wonderful rainbows through the rain,
And we hear the tread of the years go by,
And the sun is setting behind the hills,
But my darling doth not fear to die
And I am happy in what God wills

So we sit by our household fires together,
Dreaming the dreams of long ago,
Then it was balmy summer weather
And now the valleys are laid in snow
Icicles hang from the slippery eaves
The wind grows cold—it is growing late
Well, well we have garnered all our sheaves
I and my darling—and we wait
—Richard Realf

Miss Mary Remington, of Buffalo, won all hearts for herself, and for her Christ-like work when she described the tenement which she has taken and transformed. When she rented it there were in the building 1,040 people. Think of this in a city of wide streets, beautiful homes and magnificent public edifices. She found five families living in one room. Miss Remington went and lived among the people herself, and gradually by patience kindness and making merit bring its own reward she brought things to a decent living standard. What she did to get them to bathe illustrates her method. She said that it was a mistake to suppose that these people do not like to be clean. The crowding and the lack of water were responsible for the filth. When the children observed the bath-tub in the kindergarten room they began to tease for baths and she finally told some of the members of the Star club that if they would go to school every day for a week she would give them a bath on Saturday. As a consequence she found herself with a crowd of over a hundred diminutive youngsters on her hands all waiting for baths. She and the district nurse who came in as assistant, scrubbed 140 children that day. Two stories which grew out of the bath-tub incident were as follows.

One Sunday the golden text was Watch and pray and when the superintendent asked who could repeat it, one little fellow piped out, 'Wash and pray. That's what we do in our club.'

One little tot, while contentedly splashing around one day, demanded, 'Teacher can't I bring grandma to have a bath? She hasn't been washed all over since she left Italy.' Now and then a resident of the block will bring in a friend from some neighboring building to show her the 'marble wash-tub,' but the greatest encouragement comes from the fact that the children not only like the bath themselves but want to extend its benefits to their families.

It seemed so pathetic to think of people who really regarded cleanliness as a luxury that many of the listeners found tears in their eyes which were not altogether due to laughter.—(Gleanings from the National Mother's Congress.

All in the April evening
April airs were abroad,
The sheep with their little lambs
Passed me by on the road

The sheep with their little lambs
Passed me by on the road;
All in the April evening
I thought on the Lamb of God

The lambs were weary, and crying
With a weak human cry
I thought on the Lamb of God
Going meekly to die

Up in the blue, blue mountains,
Dewy pastures are sweet,
Rest for the little bodies,
Rest for the little feet

But for the Lamb of God,
Up on the hill-top green,
Only a cross of shame,
Two stark crosses between

All in the April evening,
April airs were abroad,
I saw the sheep with their lambs,
And thought of the Lamb of God

FROM the display of the season's newest models, it is evident that white, in its infinite varieties of gauze, silk and wool, is preeminent. Plaits and tucks continue to be fashionable on every style of gown, both in the formation of the upper portion of the skirt, as well as a decoration for flounces and ruffles. Shirring, ruching and puffing are reproduced in attractive designs on the diaphanous fabrics, profusely combined with lace and embroidery. Shaped flounces are more sweeping at the hem, rendering the close clinging skirts of lily form very graceful and picturesque, writes a fashion authority.

FANCY STRAW TURBAN.

Fancy straw tan and brown colorings interwoven and trimmed with small strawberries of the same shade.

In bodices and jackets the long, low front line is to be retained with broad, well shaped shoulders. Skirts with clusters of box plaits or side plaits, stitched almost to the hem are made very narrow at the waist, broadening to the flare at the foot.

Many of the lightweight cloths are fashioned with Louis XVI coats, finished with shoulder capes the uppermost embroidered or appliqued with Irish guipure.

A feature observable in the favorite black and white effects is a short jacket of black mohair strapped with the same material and faced with white mohair.

The black taffeta tailor gown promises again to be very fashionable—simple and elegant with tucks and plaits and more elaborately treated with collarette vest and cuffs of embroidered taffeta. The jacket may be a bolero or Louise XV. The postilion will be added to the back of many of the new jackets, and is frequently made adjustable on a shaped belt, which serves as well for the girdle to the shirt-waist beneath the coat.

CHIFFON BOA WITH VELVET SPOTS.

Boa of tucked white chiffon spotted with black velvet. Hat of white satin straw with lace falling from edge and sprays of pale pink roses and leaves on upper brim.

A new model of utility gown has a short open-front jacket with a gored, slightly flaring skirt of a graceful, short length just clearing the ground. Its material may be linen, duck, pique, cheviot or serge.

A popular skirt design has a broad plait in front, one at each side and two meeting at the back, the entire spaces between being tucked lengthwise.

Although the fancy blouse seems a fixed feature of fashion, preference is sometimes given to Louis XV coats, rather simply made, to be worn with various skirts. Their material is of taffeta, gray, tan or mauve, with prettily ornamented revers and cuffs.

Among the spring coats for outside wear are [illegible] single-breasted models in military style, buttoned to the waist line, snugly fitting jackets, belted, with basque sides and very full sleeves at the wrist, where they are finished by oddly shaped cuffs decorated with large buttons. An eccentric coat of the season has below the waist short cutaway basques in front then reaching behind in jabot effect almost to the hem of the gown.

If women fall in with the plans which have been made for their pleasure, they will take to combinations of black and white for their hosiery for general wear. Some new and rather startling examples show all-over patterns in which black whirligigs run without reserve over a white background, and white bits in sea-moss appearance nearly obscure a background of black. As a whole this hosiery seems pronounced yet it may not turn out that it is so when it is worn, inasmuch as only a small section of either stockings could show and then with low shoes.

There is a look of smartness about the new stockings of white and black which outdoes those of black and white at lease for some occasions. Certain examples which are marked from their first showings as fashion's own, are of white all over, except for the black polka dots that come in any size you fancy, from a French pea to a cork from an ink bottle. The effect of these novelties worn with white frocks is certain to be liked.

A new sort of stocking which does not so readily commend itself on sight is of black, with applications of white lace in medallion form at the instep. Unlike those seen hitherto the stocking is not cut out under the lace, and the effect is rather clumsy.

There is a new model of petticoat which is extensively advertised consisting of straps sewed to a belt, the real petticoat not beginning till below the hip. There is another style which has the petticoat sewed to the dress skirt, well below the hips. Both of these styles are rather eccentric, however, and not be too rashly recommended. The best fitting petticoats are those almost circular in shape, and fastened at the side with no waistband, only a narrow cord to finish the skirt in place of a belt, and curved low in front of the corset. If extra fulness is required, it is put directly at the back in stitched tucks or pleats. The circular flounce trimmed with ruffles and smaller flounces is the best finish, although the accordion pleated flounce is still in fashion.

It is the demands, not the promises, that make men of us; the responsibilities, not the enjoyments, that raise us to the stature of men and women.—(P. E. [illegible]

SHE sewed a button on my coat
I watched the fingers nimble
Sometimes I held her spool o' thread
And sometimes held her thimble.
I'm glad to do it since you're far
From sister and from mother
'Tis such a thing she said, and smiled
'As I'd do for my brother

The fair head bent so close to me
My heart was wildly beating
She seemed to feel my gaze looked up
And then our glances meeting
She flushed a ruddy rosy red
And I—I bent and kissed her
'Tis such a thing I murmured low
'As I'd do to my sister

WRINKLES are the bane of all women and of men too if the truth is known. They do not regard them as honorable scars which tell of combats with the world or self causing the hard line of determination to form around the mouth the wrinkles around the eyes which are traces of sorrow or bitterness or the crow's feet which are souvenirs of many good hearty laughs says a beauty specialist.

But whatever has caused them both men and women would gladly be rid of such telltale marks. Some rules for avoiding them may be acceptable. First of all be careful how you sleep. Putting the hand under the cheek pushing the flesh up into creases as the head lies on the pillow is a very bad habit. Facial contortions such as raising the eyebrows or endeavoring to express intense earnestness by a frown are also bad. Drooping the corners of the mouth to show a pouting expression and sleeping with the mouth open all induce wrinkles.

These habits may be carefully avoided or corrected by massage. A device to keep the mouth closed while a person sleeps is very simple merely a piece of white cloth bound around the head. Before doing this it is well to see that the front hair is becomingly arranged so that the effect of the cloth may not be too disfiguring. When the brow is wrinkled a piece of court plaster should be dampened and applied while the brows are smoothed as much as possible. A little cold cream will afterwards help to remove the mark of the court plaster. This treatment when persevered in is excellent for smoothing the brow.

There are all sorts of mechanical devices used by professional beautifiers for removing wrinkles but massage with cocoanut butter is more lasting and effective in its results strengthening the muscles and nourishing the skin.

In all kinds of atmosphere the breath should only be inhaled through the nose. An occasional breath of extra pure air through the mouth may be good but in cars and in most offices and rooms nose breathing is essential. A second rule is, since so much time is spent in cars and offices and rooms in earning a livelihood, and since these places are overheated and underventilated—the heating and ventilation being out of the control of most of us—we must take in fresh air whenever possible in order that we may restore the balance. The best times to do this will be early in the morning when the air is freshest and late at night, when deep breathing will help us to get sleep. We may breathe correctly while we are waiting in a street and especially where streets meet. We can soon form an automatic habit of breathing properly on such occasions.—(Chamber's Journal

The best bred women do not fuss. They take their gowns and their furniture, their jewels and their children as matters of course. They are unconscious of their veils and their gloves and they expect everyone else to be equally so says the Philadelphia Telegraph.

If they see an intimate wearing a handsome gown they refer to it admiringly but they also preface their comment with an apology. Their differences with their husbands are not aired neither the domestic upheavals caused by the desertion of the cook on wash morning.

The repose of the well bred woman is not the quiet of weakness. It is the calm of trained faculties balanced so nicely that an earthquake may cause a change of color but will not bring forth a loud cry. Well bred women are a boon to the human race. They help the social and professional world to maintain a high standard both of morals and behavior.

A person suffering with the agonizing pain of gall stones will obtain great relief and probable cure by taking a table-spoonful of olive oil before meals says the American Queen.

If a child is threatened with croup, saturate a flannel with the oil sprinkle on some pulverized camphor gum and apply it to the child's chest as hot as can be borne covering with a dry hot flannel and renewing the heat as often as it cools.

A young person convalescing from a fever or wasting disease may absorb much nutrition and quickly build up his strength by a daily rubbing of the chest abdomen and back with pure olive oil.

The oil forms the foundation and chief ingredient of some excellent liniments that are given distinguishing names and trade marks and sold at a comfortable profit. A good liniment may be made at home of dissolved by gentle heat. This is a great comfort in a case of sprain, bruise chilblains rheumatic pains, glandular enlargements, and a variety of other ills.

Camphor 1 oz
Olive oil 4 fluid oz

A correspondent of the New York Tribune thinks it may interest the public in general to know that in 1889 during the first great influenza epidemic, the board of health of the city of London advised the public afflicted with the disease to make free use of hot lemonade. The perspiration caused thereby is in most cases sufficient to relieve the patient from the attack except where medical aid is absolutely necessary. In bronchial troubles the acid of the lemon juice relieves the throat from irritation, acting at the same time as a disinfectant. As the lemon juice, even when diluted in small proportions with water, will kill cholera and other bacilli therein contained, it is not to be wondered at that it will also destroy the so-called influenza bacillus.—(Exchange

Of food suitable for children an authority writes, Oranges are excellent prepared in this way. Peel and slice across about half an inch thick with a sharp knife, then pull the sections all apart, remove seeds, sprinkle with sugar and let stand for about fifteen minutes, for the sugar to express the juice, then add two tablespoonfuls of cold water for each orange press and stir with spoon. To be eaten as a sauce with the bread or taken before the meal. The juice makes a delightful drink. In regard to eggs they require careful cooking and not be eaten every day as they will cause biliousness if eaten too freely. If boiled they must be rare done break into a glass add salt a little butter and beat thoroughly. Sometimes a child objects to the raw taste of a boiled egg and the only other suitable way of cooking it is to make a light omelet cooking as rare as will be palatable.

A tempting nutritious dessert is made thus. Beat up the white of an egg slightly add one-half pint sweet thick cream sweeten with sifted sugar beat until firm flavor and garnish with bits of home made jelly.

A drink may be made from rice water, the rice to be boiled in water enough to cover it all through the cooking salt and strain add salt small piece of butter hot milk to taste and season with celery salt. The rice may be eaten with butter alone, or with milk or cream only, or a small amount of sugar may be added also maple syrup.

Barley sugar is a most nutritious drink prepared as the rice, but barley requires long cooking to soften the kernel and extract the smooth fine flavor. It should be washed carefully and let stand in cold water to soak one hour, then set over the fire in the same water and two hours boiling should be sufficient. Rice put on in cold water cooks much more quickly than if boiling water is poured on at first. The barley water is prepared for the table the same as the rice water. These are invaluable in bowel trouble, as it is a food as well as drink. The strained barley may be eaten the same as the rice.

THERE is murmuring here and there
Down in the underworld
Soft little voices call one to the other
Where is my hood? Where mine little brother
Mine shall be violet! Mine is of gold
You take the snowy one It is so cold
Will it be warm up there? Will it be wet?
May we go and see? Dearest not yet.

So in the dim hushed twilight
The buds white purple and gold,
Wait for the sunny morning
When they may each unfold,
And on that sunny morning
The children far and near
Will cry The Spring has surely come
For the crocuses are here

When the Cap Fitted

Duke looked up from the bone he was gnawing and glared at his little mistress and her visitor. His bushy bushy tail did not even hint a wagging there was a fierce light in his eyes and a low growl rumbled down in his throat.

Ruth caught Marian by the arm. Oh let's run she cried. He's going to bite us.

No! he won't if you don't touch his bone. Marian felt ashamed of her dog and vainly tried to think of some excuse for his conduct. I don't know what makes him act so she said, as the two walked on.

Is he always as cross as he has been since I came? asked Ruth.

He didn't use to be returned Marian sorrowfully. But now he's getting crosser and crosser all the time.

They had reached the front porch by this time and behind the woodbine stood Marian's brother Paul. His face was red with anger and his fists were clinched. I'm going straight to mamma miss he exclaimed, as he saw Marian. We'll see if she lets you talk that way!

What way? asked Marian in astonishment and Ruth thought of her own brother and felt very glad he was not so ill-tempered and unreasonable as Paul. Paul paid no attention to his sister's question but he went into the house slamming the door very hard. A few moments later mamma's sweet voice called Marian, dear I want to see you.

Marian obeyed quickly. Mamma was waiting for her in the sewing room and her face looked puzzled and sad. Paul sat by the window and it was plain that he had been crying. Marian looked from one to another in astonishment.

How is this my daughter? mamma began. Paul tells me he heard you saying to Ruth that he is growing crosser and crosser all the time.

Marian stared then broke into a hearty laugh. Why mamma we weren't talking about him at all. Duke growled at us and Ruth asked me if he always acted so cross and then I said he is getting crosser and crosser all the time.

Oh said mamma, and then she too laughed. Run back to your play dear she said cheerily. It was only a mistake it seems.

When Marian had left the room mamma looked over at Paul. His cheeks were redder than before but now it was shame that colored them instead of anger. I just heard them talking about being cross an' I s'posed that meant me he explained.

It was rather a queer mistake wasn't it? mamma asked. And Paul made no answer.

If your father had overheard that conversation mamma continued after waiting a moment for Paul to speak would he have thought the girls were talking about him?

Of course not said Paul indignantly.

But why not? persisted mamma.

Because he isn't ever cross and they couldn't have meant him. Paul spoke earnestly though he could not help smiling as he met his mother's meaning look.

Exactly said mamma nodding her head. And it was easy for you to make the blunder because you have been cross and ill-natured through almost all of Ruth's visit. The cap fitted you and you put it on without waiting to see whether it was meant for you or not. Uneasy consciences my boy make people very sensitive about what they happen to overhear.

A boy who tries his best to do right doesn't need to worry over what people say about him. And that sort of boy will not be likely to think that all the unpleasant things he overhears are meant for him.

Paul went back to his play a wiser boy and let us hope a better one. He had made up his mind that when the cap fitted himself and ill natured Duke it was time for a change.—(The Presbyterian

Washington Letter

By W T Manning

Washington D C, April 16—President Roosevelt has taken hold of the immigrat or question with his grand energy and he proposes to get to the bottom of the evils that surround the coming of new citizens into the republic I cannot commend the president too highly on this great work Nothing so affects the present and the future of our country as immigration In 1900, Italians to the number of 190,000 arrived in New York 1901 140 000 and this year the estimates are that 200 000 will come To this army must be added twice the number of Huns Poles Bulgarians and other Slavic people When it is remembered that these people do not belong to the Anglo-Saxon race, that they do not sympathize with our ideas of government or our conditions of life or our thought the work of assimilation becomes difficult

Strong pressure in the past has been brought on former administrations by coal barons railroad constructors and builders of canals and workers of mines to lightly enforce the federal laws When governor of New York, Mr Roosevelt, saw clearly the evils of immigrat or and now it is within the scope of his authority to interfere The laws are loose and such as do exist are difficult to enforce Yet the president will in due time expose the conditions in all their hideousness and recommend to congress the legislation along proper line

Chinese labor, excluded by acts of congress never menaced the country more than does the tide of Asiatics which is now coming in through the Mexican gates They are Asiatics even though in the course of time they have acquired a local habitation in a name in Russia Bulgaria Poland and southeastern Europe Behind them are the hordes of Asia moving westward year by year until they finally embark for America In the great cities of America they are to be found huddled in the poorest quarters and living in squalor in accordance with their own ideas of life No factory commissioners report in any state is free from complaint of these aliens who live under conditions deplored by our civilization and compete with the poorest paid laborers in our cities Mr Roosevelt has given these reports personal consideration and he is fully alive to the importance of the question with all that is good in it and with all that is evil

The street car companies are making great effort to destroy the beauty of the approach to the capitol by extending railway tracks across the magnificent ex made at the east side where presidential inaugurations are held every four years Those who appreciate the beauty of the wide expanse of concrete and park kept green lawn at the east front of the capitol raise an indignant protest against the scheme to disfigure one of the grandest and most historical spots in the Capital city The extraordinary suggestion of allowing two competing street railway companies to girdle the capitol building with car tracks at close range is said to have been in the interest of indigent senators and representatives who cannot afford the luxury of a private carriage or an automobile to deposit them at the very door of the north or south front of the capitol

All over the country labor organizations are passing resolutions against trusts The beef trust is now receiving the largest amount of attention The attorney generals office is now a busy place and the law against trusts is being closely examined It is the intention of the president to protect the people in so far as the law allows against these gigantic corporations The attorney general acting under the presidents instruction has instructed the United States district attorney at Kansas City Mo to proceed against the beef trust

The resistance will be more than for self preservation I am told on pretty good authority that the several great trusts have formed "a community of interest" in trust matters and that they will jointly resist the legal department of the government Senators say that the trusts have gone the limit and now must be resisted otherwise the Republican party will advance to certain defeat They might have gone on indefinitely if they had only been moderate in their exactions, but in their greed they have put themselves beyond the protection of their friends. It is now party versus trusts. Party men for virtues sake, which means party's sake, must call a halt Trust men on the contrary propose to keep right on hoping they will wring sufficient profit out of the people before the party is overthrown They claim they are now receiving the rewards for which they worked in 1896 and 1890 the coming of Roosevelt has been unfortunate for their plans Roosevelt is not a corporation man

Some politicians say that Roosevelt has been the ruin of the party, others, that he will prove its saviour It is better, it is argued, that the president should take the initiative and correct the abuses that have sprung up under this new form of the economic system, than that the enemies of the principle should step in and legislate it out of existence Trusts are not wrong in theory, but when controlled by avaricious men they become resistless instruments of oppression by monopoly It is not the theory Mr Roosevelt attacks, but the abuse Democrats are jubilant, and say the administration is forced to recognize the monster it has created, and is now on evidence as trying to chain it up They believe the legal warfare will be at its height when the elections come around and the managers of the trusts will at that time exhibit the monster at its worst The game of politics will be played on trusts, and Roosevelt is making the shots for the democrats to fire

The business transacted this week has related to the most important bills before this session of congress They are the Cuban reciprocity and the Chinese exclusion bills. So much has been said concerning the warfare raged on these measures over the wires that I will say little at this time The importance of the legislation involved in these bills is fully appreciated by the politicians of both parties Their final passage will not merely determine the attitude of the nation toward the Philippines and Cuba since it has adopted an imperialistic policy but they will have an important bearing on the destinies of the parties The next presidential election will be tantamount to an appeal by the Republican party for indorsement

Naval men in their own quiet way, discuss the plan to reorganize the navy with the view of increasing it gradually until in 1910 it will be an efficient corps of 50,000 men At the present time the enlisted force consists of 25 500 men and 2 500 boys Beyond the efficiency of this force and the increase in ships officers and men these naval men see the growth of a branch of a military arm of the service that provides more rapid promotion and more occupation It is a known fact that there are families here who have for three generations secured appointments for their sons so that the Army and Navy families are numerous as for instance the Rogers Sidells and MacKenzies Inter marriage between the families of officers has become a custom

The Philippines civil government bill is looked forward to by Democrats as affording the long sought opportunity to define party lines before the country The question of imperialism will be threshed out in senate and house and the pulse of the country will be easily felt Democrats have carefully planned every move and they will endeavor during the long debate to define the party issues The great expense of colonial policy and the recent revelations of atrocities in the Philippines will be held up to view while the peroration of the whole will be 'Withdraw manfully and withhold while there is yet time"

NEW YORK SWELLS

Something is wrong in the way our young people are growing up I almost believe the old lady was right who said she would rather go to a funeral than to a wedding She meant that she hated afterclaps When a friend was dead there was no future worry, when a friend is married no one knows what will happen Who ever supposed "Baby Belle Neilson, who married Arthur Kemp or Miss Lorillard who married Sufferin Tailer would so soon be off to Dakota in search of single blessedness' The times are out of joint Misfits not matches are being made at the hymeneal altar

But when they marry, these daring young adventurers let us bid them godspeed and wish them well This is the season for mating and couples are daily starting off for the sacred haven of connubial felicity. During the past week among the voyagers were Miss Hartshorn to Dr Carter, at St Thomas's upon a stormy day, of Mrs Alexandre to Mr Bonnel at St Bartholomews on Wednesday, of Miss Mildrid Dix to Mr Lesson of Boston, on the same day and of Miss Mary Arden Parrott to Mr Henry Schroeder at Grace church on Thursday On Saturday Miss Edyth Connery, the daughter of Mr Thomas B Connery, was married to Dr J N Martin, ofMamaroneck, at St Regis's chapel

There will be comparatively few weddings this coming week The largest will be that of Miss Ray MacMaster Russell the daughter of Mrs James Russell to Hector Harold Havemeyer, at Madison avenue Reformed church on Wednesday The wedding will be unique from the fact that there will be in addition to a maid of honor a matron of honor Miss Havemeyer, the sister of the bridegroom, will be maid of honor and Mrs Isaac Hallem Jenney a sister of the bride will be the matron of honor Miss Grace Ballard, Miss Alice Quackenbos Miss Gertrude Hencken and Miss Marsh Rees, of this city will be the bridesmaids Mr Arthur Havemeyer, will be the best man and the ushers will be Mr Raymond Havemeyer, Peter Gilsey John Sayre Martin Jr, Isaac Hallem Jr Charles S Rees William R Wilcox, Charles R. Rafferty and Pleire S Ross.

Miss Bertha Gillett, a daughter of Mr and Mrs Emslie M Gillett will be married to Lieutenant William Paterson, U S A, at Trinity chapel on Wednesday afternoon, at 4 o'clock The wedding will be more attractive than the ordinary and conventional nuptial events of the season, as the men of the bridal party, with few exceptions will be in full uniform

Miss Jane Gillett will act as her sister's maid of honor, and there will be several bridesmaids, among them Miss Charlotte Gillett, Miss May de Bary, Miss Mary Vibbert, Miss Anna Mott, Miss Rita Burgess and Miss Leonie Lentilhon Two little flower girll, Mildred Gillett and Bertha Purdy, will be in attendance.

Mr. Edward Kurtz Crook will act as best man and the ushers will be Lieutenants Edward T. Donnelly and Richard H Jordan, U S A, Messrs Charles R Wendt and Alfred Roelker, Jr, of Squadron A, William A Evans and Sutherland Irving

The details for the wedding of Miss Rosalie W de Goicouria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert V de Goicouria, to Mr. W. Scott Cameron have been completed The ceremony will be performed at noon on Wednesday, April 30, in St Bartholomew's church, Madison avenue and Forty-fourth street, by the Rev Dr Bridges, of Islip, L I, who will probably be assisted by the Rev Dr David H Green, the rector of St Bartholomew's. Miss Alice de Goicouria will be her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Carrie Edgar, Miss Parsons, Miss Barnes and Miss Daisy Hollins Mr. Cameron, who has arranged to give his farewell bachelor dinner at Sherry's on Saturday night of this week, has chosen Mr J. Searle Barclay, Jr., to be his best man. His ushers will be Mr. Henry Worthington Bull, Mr Herbert T King, Mr G Sheldon Chauncey, Mr Bradish G Johnson, Mr Woodard Babcock, Mr. John K Mohr, Mr Harry S. Page and Mr G Foster Rawlins

Miss Florence Rives, daughter of Mrs Katherine Van Rensselaer Reeves, was married to Mr Wilbur F Brown, Jr., on Wednesday afternoon, in the Church of the Ascension, Fifth avenue and Tenth street The ceremony took place at 5 o'clock, the rector, the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, officiating The wedding reception was limited to relatives only as the bride's family was in mourning. Miss Reeves was attended by her nieces, the Misses Marjory and Katherine St George

Ping pong will never be fashionable Bridge caught everybody Ping pong is voted vulgar. Do you know why? I will tell you A friend of mine after a dinner endeavored to introduce it The women were too tight laced to pick the ball from the floor when it fell and the men were too lazy It is voted a bore It will do for ballet ladies and young stock brokers

Seth Low has a yacht to take him from his country seat to the city Low has social ambitions But he is not the only man who has a yacht to do 'bus service Among others are George J Gould Pierpont Morgan, Ed Harriman, Jack Astor, Willie K Vanderbilt and Pierre Lorillard the latest is Ogden Mills He has secured a fast yacht which he intends to use this late spring between his place on the Hudson and New York Mrs Mills may go to England but it is still uncertain The Millises will not be at Newport before August at the very earliest, and perhaps not until September The Mills country house is delightfully situated and the house parties there over Sunday are very enjoyable The Gerrys will leave at the end of the month and will make their usual tour in England and France The ex-commodore and his seal cap are as familiar in London and Paris as they are in New York

Miss Gwendolyn Burden has been one of the successes of the season She is a very pretty girl although she has not the figure of her sister Miss Evelyn The latter young lady was abroad in the autumn and she remains in New York while her sister goes abroad She may join her mother later Mrs Richard Gambrill who sailed on Wednesday only goes for a very short stay She is to visit in England and then have a few weeks in Paris She will be there for the Grand Prix James J Van Alen who has been at Cannes has hastened to London where he will meet her The question seems still undecided as to whether she will marry Winthrop or Alen and perhaps she may do neither She has a new house at Newport, and she has every prospect of having a very gay summer

Among the people sailing for Europe next week will be Mr and Mrs. Douglas Robinson J who are going over for six months to stop for a while in England and then to travel on the continent Quite a party of friends are going with them, and it is not said definitely whether they will stop over in London until after the coronation, though it would seem scarcely credible that they will not do so Commander and Mrs Cowles- Mrs Cowles being also Mrs Robinson's sister, as well as a sister of the president—are to be in London for the coronation and to take quite an important part in the ceremonies there, it is said, so that the Roosevelt family will be well represented But Mrs Robinson will not take a house in London, as she does not wish to be tied down in any place for the short time she will be abroad

It is said that Captain Strong has married the often married young product of the footlights May Yohe late sister-in-law of the his grace, the duke of Newcastle who is still in town Perhaps he will have the pleasure of meeting the happy couple—he won't if he sees them first Every one is wondering how the duke of Newcastle will look in coronation robes, as he is rather diminutive The duke loves America and New York, and has often asserted that he is never so happy as when here He is made a great deal of, especially in church circles, and also has some very strong friends in the musical set He is very amusing and not nearly as serious as one would believe.

Besides the duke we have had another glimpse at the nobility in the persons of the governor-general of Canada and his wife, Lord and Lady Minto who are on their way to the coronation of their king They dropped in for a cup of tea as they passed through New York from Canada, with William C Whitney, that prince of entertainers whose hospitality is famous as far as Fifth avenue is from Mayfair, and Mr. and Mrs Charles Dana Gibson entertained them with music during the day at their home

Jimmie Kernochan and his wife are going to Newport this summer, and they have taken a cottage there for the season They have given up Southampton, where they usually go summer after summer P. F Collier has promised some pretty lively hunting as in early autumn at Newport and as Mrs Ladenburg will be there also, the old rivalry between her and Mrs Kernochan will continue and some daring equestrienne feats will be the result.

All the Vande bilts are regretting the departure of Mrs Elliott Shepard, who is closing up Scarborough on the Hudson for some months—or even years. She has not been in good health this winter and Italy agrees with her She will take up her residence for the present at Florence, where the Fabbris live, and where her daughter, who married Ernesto Fabbri, passes half the year. It is doubtful whether the Fabbris will open their house at Bar Harbor this summer. Mrs Shepard will cross the ocean with the William D. Sloans

People are certainly going out of town, but for a refreshment before the quiet of the first few weeks in the country a visit to the Hot Springs seems to be necessary, and the new hotel is crowded with a lot of smart people, some of whom are taking the cure very thoroughly Others are not taking any cure at all, and have announced that they are there for pleasure. Horseback riding is one of the amusements at the Springs, coaching is another, and bridge is being played there as it has not been played anywhere for some time, for much higher stakes, and in consequence with much more skill shown. The season at Hot Springs will last for some little time, just long enough for people to come back to town for a day or two in early May and then go out again to their country places.

"What a Complexion"

and what a lovely complexion she has, is a remark we often hear Why is she pretty? Is it because she has beautiful, regular features? No There is another reason Because her complexion is faultless to the degree of perfection Not a single blemish mars the beauty of her skin Without an unblemished complexion, it is impossible for any woman, no matter how otherwise beautiful she may be to be considered even good looking It is the complexion that tells and every woman owes it to not only herself, but to all about her, to have a clear and spotless complexion It is the simplest thing in the world to remove those freckles pimples, blackheads, moth patches, oily skin, liver spots, and even wrinkles The remedy is within the reach of every woman, and she should take advantage of it at once

Mme Ruppert's World Renowned Face Bleach, used for nearly a quarter of a century by thousands of women all over the world is the remedy every woman should employ to cleanse her skin and complexion of all unsightly and disfiguring blemishes It is purely a tonic for the skin, cleansing the pores, eliminating all impurities which clog them up and cause pimples and blackheads, and restoring the skin to the same delicate texture as it was in infancy It is not a cosmetic, nor an artificial beautifier, such as rouges, paints, etc, but is a colorless liquid that is a medicine for the skin It does the work perfectly and cures in every case It has never been known to fail

Every woman whose complexion is not all that she desires it to be should secure it at once.

THE DEFEAT OF THE SUGAR TRUST.

It was a sorry day for the Republican house leaders when they made common cause with the sugar trust in an effort to take $8,000,000 out of the pockets of the western farmers for the sole benefit of the trust.

The hypocrisy of the situation was very promptly and very thoroughly exposed, and the Pharisaical arguments that the theft was "a reciprocity measure," and that it would relieve the poverty-stricken people of Cuba were punctured so full of holes that those who brought such arguments into existence refused at the last to recognize their own offspring

The chief value of the vote in the house on Friday is that it demonstrates to the country that the sugar trust is losing its grip on the congress of the United States.

It has been many years since that trust has received a rebuff in congress. It maintains at Washington the most powerful and the most unscrupulous lobby of any of the large interests. Its agents are quite as numerous inside the halls of congress as outside.

When the McKinley tariff bill was at the full height of its operations, and when public sentiment was running strongly in favor of high protection, this trust was powerful enough to force through congress a measure making the duties upon raw sugar from Cuba almost nominal.

The sugar trust owns vast plantations in Cuba, and with the cheap labor which can be obtained there they could make it impossible for American sugar planters to compete with them if they could get a suitable rate on their importations of raw sugar.

But the sugar trust does not care to compete with the sugar refineries of Europe, and when it comes to choosing between the present tariff on Cuban raw sugar and the removal of the differential tariff on refined sugar, the trust will undoubtedly choose to let the present tariff on raw sugar stand.

It will be interesting to watch the movements of the Republican advocates of this Cuban bill from this on.

They have persistently claimed that their efforts were solely and unselfishly in the interests of the Cuban people.

With the bill, as it passed the house, pinching the toes of the sugar trust, but serving Cuba just as well as the original measure could, we shall soon see whether pure philanthropy or more material influences were back of this recent effort of the house Republican leaders to break down the Republican doctrine of protection, and to throw to the winds the party's national platform pledges.

There has never been much chance of this bill passing the senate under the most favorable circumstances, and now that it has become almost a free trade measure so far as sugar is concerned, it is certain of defeat.

The situation is encouraging to the beet sugar manufacturers of Colorado, and we sincerely hope there will be no effort to sell their plants to the sugar trust.

That trust has always taken a lively interest in Colorado, not only in a business way, but also politically. It has some very powerful and useful friends in this state, and in the campaign of 1898 it contributed a large sum of money (it is reliably stated $100,000) to settle the result as it wished it.

In all probability it will be equally interested in the political result in Colorado this fall, for it always has measures pending in congress, and it usually begins at the bottom to place its advocates where they can be most useful to it.

The only gratifying feature of the recent contest over this measure in the house is the unanimity with which Colorado people, Democrats and Republicans, have stood by our home industries.

Messrs. Bell and Shafroth probably made as good a fight for us in congress as any protection Republicans could have made, and they certainly represented the state better than some weak-kneed Republican lickspittle who would have been lashed by the party whip into the sugar trust camp.

This sugar question will be an important one in the political contest in Colorado this year, and the people should make certain that the delegation which they send to congress shall be one which cannot be bought, or wheedled or driven into sacrificing the state's interests.

KEEP TO THE QUESTION.

A GOOD DEAL of the opposition to the proposed increase in the number of the city wards is based upon the assumption that this or that man will be chosen to serve as alderman by the present council.

The Gazette is not championing any particular person for alderman, and the selection of the new members of the council should be made with due deliberation and the interests and wishes of the inhabitants of the new wards should be, and we hope will be, considered when the selections are made.

But that is not the present question.

As declared so strongly and clearly by Mayor Robinson, and as set forth in the Gazette editorial yesterday, two points are certain

The city business cannot be done satisfactorily by five men

The ward boundaries and the particular individuals to be chosen to represent the new wards are secondary matters.

Opponents of the proposed increase in the number of city wards were busy yesterday circulating petitions asking in effect, the present members of the council to do more work than they can do, more work than they are paid to do, and more work than they ever will do satisfactorily to themselves or to the people.

Signatures to these petitions did not come as easily as the circulators hoped, and those that were obtained showed the truth of the oft-repeated assertion that it is an easy matter to get signatures to any kind of a paper, if you only take the trouble to go after them, and it does not involve the payment of money.

The members of the council should not attach too much importance to such papers, which are usually an evidence of the zeal of the circulators, rather than of the real desires of the signers.

That there are persons and corporations who are very desirous of making a small council is well known, and petitions are not needed to establish this fact.

But when the council comes to acting, it should do so according to its own convictions of duty, its own knowledge of what is necessary in city affairs, and its own knowledge of the wishes and opinions of its constituents.

The advocates of an increase in the number of aldermen certainly would not think for a moment of petitioning the present council to act contrary to its own belief, founded upon actual experience, of what is necessary for the proper transaction of the city business, and those who oppose the increase should be equally reasonable.

If the present members believe that they can thoroughly and satisfactorily transact the city business, they have still to consider the question whether, in view of what they know of improper pressure and influence attempted by corporations or promoters or individuals, it is safe to establish the precedent of a council in which three men will constitute a majority.

If they know, as we believe they do know, from their own experience, that the city business cannot be done properly by a council of five, they should not allow themselves to be placed in a false position by those who know far less about the actual facts and the city's needs.

One other point.

It should not be forgotten that under the old establishment the council was composed of 10 men, and as no two were chosen from the same neighborhood, and usually as far apart as was practicable, we really had 10 wards, at least in the sense that 10 separate districts of the city were represented in the council.

Under the present arrangement there are only five aldermen, and the maximum that can be put into service under the law is eight, two less than the former number.

The present wards are too large in area, too large in population and too varied in interests to be cared for properly by one alderman to each of them.

In reducing the number of aldermen from 10 to eight, we are doing something of very questionable value, however necessary it may be under the law.

But the reduction from 10 to five is wholly unreasonable and utterly inconsistent with good government in the city and the protection and care of the interests of the citizens of the various parts of it.

THE LAURA LEE STRIKE.

THERE were two articles of good fortune for the mining circles of this city in yesterday's Gazette. One was the story of continued gains in the stock market aggregating not less than a million dollars.

The other was the report of the opening up of bonanza ore in the Laura Lee, on Mineral hill, north of Cripple Creek city.

Of the two the Laura Lee strike is the more important, for the reason that gold uncovered in the hills is always of greater value than a rise on the stock market.

The Laura Lee discovery will undoubtedly prove a strong stimulus to prospecting in the northern part of the district, and outside of the limits hitherto supposed to exist. If bonanza ore exists in the Laura Lee, there is the best of reasons for believing that it may also be found in other prospects on Mineral hill, and on other hills in that region.

The importance of the Laura Lee discovery was emphasized by the Gazette at the time it was originally made, and subsequent events have more than justified the position then taken.

THE MANITOU BOULEVARD.

THE TRANSFER of the Manitou boulevard to a board of trustees, composed of public-spirited citizens, is a progressive step in the line of the best development of the city. It is fortunate indeed that there are among our citizens so many men and women who are willing to give generously towards increasing the beauty and attractiveness of our surroundings, and also, when called upon, to use their time and thoughts for the benefit of their fellow citizens.

In this connection due credit should be given not only to those whose contributions made the boulevard possible in the beginning, but also to the El Paso County Horticultural society, through whose efforts the recent improvement was effected.

A THREAT OF LOCUSTS.

A PLAGUE of locusts seems naturally connected with the desert, and, in the United States, with the arid western region. According to the entomologists of the agricultural department at Washington, however, the 17-year locusts will make their appearance next month, but no state west of the Mississippi river is threatened with the invasion.

Seventeen years ago, in 1885, one of the most dangerous species of locusts made their appearance in certain eastern localities. These places were carefully noted by the scientists of the agricultural department, and it is in them that the farmers are warned to exercise especial care and vigilance this year.

This is an illustration of the advantages of science in commonplace life, and of the importance of the service rendered to the farmers by the government.

"The tariff reformers are still in the saddle," declares The Commoner. Yes, very still. When they get active, the broncho will buck; and then they will be thrown higher than Cleveland was after his 1887 "defi" to the protection sentiment of the country.

"Mr. Babcock, of Wisconsin, seems to have exhausted himself in the prospectus," says The Commoner. Possibly that is why Mr. Bryan has a fellow-feeling for him.

Henry Watterson says "the Republican party is at sea." Sure; but it is in a mighty staunch vessel, and the opposition will not succeed in its attempt to bore holes in the hull.

They are bringing charges of agnosticism against Eugene Ware; but, singularly enough, they are not pressing the charge of spring poetry—and such poetry, too!

A recent special dispatch to the Gazette says that "Boulder oil is in demand for fuel." An intimation that they have oil to burn?

TWO SONGS AND A MORAL.

The air it was balmy enough to beguile
An anemone forth, for the sun was aglow,
And thus sang a premature bluebird, the while
The slumbering groundhog snored on down below.
"Hark ye, good people! The wild goose flies north;
"The duck taketh wing; and the grass cometh forth;
"The maple juice runneth adown every tree;
"My friend, the gay robin, sings on, merrily;
"The buxom bluebottle doth noisily hum;
"And I'm here to state that glad springtime has come;
"Wherefore, let the furnace go out if it will
"And so cease to groan at the coal-man's big bill;
"Put off the thick flannels; get out the straw hat;
"Leave the overcoat home—you'll have no need for that;
"Rejoice! For earth has awakened at last
"And the season of cold and of snow-storms is past;
"So waken ye also, good people, and greet
"The warm, balmy spring—there's no season as sweet;
"Fear not! For the bluebird now wingeth to spread
"The tidings of joy—rough old Winter is dead!"

This happened one noon; the next morning was heard
A different song from this self-same bluebird;
On a snow-bank he sat; flannel bound 'round his throat,
And, sneezing, attempted to sing this sad note:
"Forgib be, good beeble! I wish I was dead
"Because ob by lies—ad this co'd id by head;
"I didn'd expeed whed I sag by last so'g
"Thad the earth would be wrapped id a blizzard ere lo'g;
"Bud id all goes to prove thad id do'd ever pay
"For even a bird to get too bloomin' gay!"

In the Side-Show.

"I understand," said the Tattooed Man, "that the Human Skeleton is going to quit the show. Wonder if it will injure us?"

"Not at all," replied the Fat Lady, "he's so thin he won't made a shadow of difference."

Omar on the Links.

A well-placed ball; a stroke most wondrous hard
That falleth short and diggeth up the sward;
A leering caddie, insolent and rash,
By me struck dead! 'Twas but his just reward!

Exactly.

"This," sighed the just-wedded heiress as she walked out of the church with her impecunious nobleman, "is what the financiers would call my bond-ed indebtedness."

NIXON AT WORK.

(By Phineas Fletcher).

Very few men who have attained prominence among the younger generation, have risen by the caprice of fortune. In almost every instance, if you single out a man as successful among men, you will, if you investigate, discover the labor that has made him. Take, for instance, Lewis Nixon, who has attained a place for himself as a leading shipbuilder and as a political leader. As he is so conspicuous in the public eye, I made a trip the other day down to his shipyards at Elizabethport, where a thousand men are employed, and as I walked along the seven hundred feet of water front on the Staten Island sound and observed the monitor, cruiser and torpedo boats being built for the United States government, the two cruisers for the Mexican navy, two yachts and an oil boat, a fishing steamer and one submarine vessel under construction, I could not help but reflect upon the capacity of the man who manages this great industry. It takes a sort of genius to keep such a piece of work going on in an economical, efficient and businesslike way. It requires not only powers of organization and knowledge of shipbuilding, but judgment of human nature in a remarkable degree. I went into the office and asked to see Mr. Nixon.

After a few minute's delay I was ushered into his private office and informed him that my object in calling was to ask him if he would give me some idea how he divided his time so that he could attend to the business of a shipyard, and do justice to his enormous responsibility as the leader of Tammany Hall. He smiled very pleasantly, and replied: "Why, a man must now do his work upon a time table, if he has much to accomplish, and desires to do it properly. I am out of bed every morning at 6:45. I take a bath, dress and finish my breakfast by 7:30. I am living at the Waldorf-Astoria this winter, so that I take the elevated at Thirty-third street, I glance over the papers between that station and Cortlandt street. Sometimes reporters and others are waiting for me at the elevated and accompany me to the ferry. I go by rail and trolley to Elizabethport. Sometimes business acquaintances go along with me, and talk over affairs of interest to us. Immediately on arriving at the office I hear the reports of heads of departments, give instructions, work on estimates for new ships, answer letters on all kinds of subjects, and examine those that are referred to me for examination. I then look over the work of some fifty draughtsmen. Sometimes I have to consult with government inspectors and take action as determined by their wishes, and, of course, as you may imagine, I have a good many telephone calls during a morning."

In fact, as Mr. Nixon was speaking a good deal of this sort of thing was going on. People were constantly coming in and going out, and the telephone on his desk was in constant use. I could not help noticing that while everything seemed to be in a hurry about him, Mr. Nixon seemed to be in no hurry himself. He makes up his mind quickly, gives an order clearly and explicitly, and at no moment seemed to be put in a quandary by any question put to him. This quick, decisive way of attending to each matter as it comes up indicates the thoroughness of his knowledge of detail, without which it would be impossible for him to dispatch such an enormous amount of business.

"About three o'clock in the afternoon," continued Mr. Nixon, "I leave the yard and go over to Tammany Hall, where I attend to the business of the organization. There I see all the district leaders who choose to call, and many others. I seldom get away before six o'clock in the afternoon. I then go to the hotel, if I do not have a public dinner to attend, and dine quietly with my family. After that I visit some of the headquarters of the various districts. But while I am willing to talk of my own business here, I do not feel that I care to say anything about my work at Fourteenth street."

Through curiosity I went into the headquarters of Tammany Hall the same afternoon, and there found Mr. Nixon once more the principal actor in the scene. Lewis Nixon as the Tammany Hall leader presented quite a different figure from Lewis Nixon the shipbuilder. In his own office he was quiet, decisive, and gave his orders without any reservation. In Tammany Hall he was just as quiet, a little more reserved, pleasantly mannered, but more inclined to listen to others who called on him than to talk with them. He seemed to feel that he was there for the purpose of hearing men talk, but for saying little himself. Leaders of districts dropped in. As this is the era of sterility in patronage, the problems presented by them were often difficult to solve; but it is not his habit to evade, he goes right to the bottom of the situation so that leaders are beginning to rely upon his judgment, honesty and directness.

The leaders talk over district troubles, make appointments, bring men of their districts for consultation, and make suggestions of every sort. But at present his most important work is the relation of the Tammany Hall organization towards vital legislative questions, and these Mr. Nixon takes up with earnestness and vigor. I am told that on matters of this kind Mr. Nixon consults the ablest men in the city that he can find, and by doing so he avoids placing himself in an embarrassing position, which sometimes happens to the average politician. One man came to him to suggest a line of action on Erie canal matters that would tend to kill the bill, while leaving the impression that the Democratic party was in favor of it. Mr. Nixon said: "If we did not believe that the bill was to the commercial, manufacturing and business interests of this city and state, we should not be for it. We are for the canal, not for any partisan advantage to be purchased at the expense of the canal." The fact that not a Tammany Hall man voted against the bill shows what straightforward advocacy will do. When Mr. Nixon first started in on his work the old habitues were surprised by his order to move the leader's desk from the dark and poorly ventilated back room where it has always stood to the main hall close to a window, and the stock ticker which had been the altar of Johnny Carroll's devotions, was removed from the room entirely. Every afternoon Mr. Nixon is to be found at the leader's desk in full view of every man who comes. His rule is, "first come, first served."

Some persons have endeavored to make out Mr. Nixon as a novice in politics, but he has had some fourteen years of active service, which has a great deal to do with his success, while making evening visits to the general district headquarters. He is in the habit of making short speeches almost every night, and as there is always a string of reporters in attendance, ready to catch up every indiscreet or significant utterance, he has to have had a practical experience in addressing political gatherings to save himself from the pitfalls that spread before the inexperienced. [illegible] frank and he is honest and politicians are pleased with the facility with which Leader Nixon handles the various subjects. He rarely dodges. As for [illegible], in a district where there are signs of a contest and of dissension, he [illegible] to refer to them in a frank, candid manner, and yet not depart from [illegible] policy of not interfering in district fights. His experience [illegible] when he first identified himself with Tammany Hall [illegible] district; he was then a naval officer. In 1897, he [illegible] Republican district. Although defeated, he made a striking canvass and greatly cut down the adverse majority. He was placed at the head of the East River Bridge commission by Mayor Van Wyck, and thus brought closely in touch with municipal administration. From that time he was in the inner counsels of the organization and was present at all the important conferences. It was under these influences, ranging from practical ward politics to those of national and international importance, that Mr. Nixon got his schooling.

Mr. Nixon's leadership is broad and sound. He has exercised a good influence upon the spirit and ambition of the Democratic party. Party squabbles in New York city and state, have for a long time stood in the way of national party success. Mr. Nixon's effort is to bring warring factions together. Some objected to him having extended the hand of friendship to Hill, and his friends. Mr. Nixon replied: "They are Democrats, and all Democrats should work for the party's interests." And when some politician remarked to him that Mr. Croker distrusted Hill, he said "I inherit none of Mr. Croker's prejudices, and must do what seems best to me, now that I am responsible." He pays no attention to the constant source of dissatisfaction among the leaders, and I am assured that Mr. Nixon will receive the overwhelming support of the leaders. He is a staunch Democrat, and while some of the Republicans have tried to put him in a false position regarding the upbuilding of the merchant marine, he invariably refers back to some partly quoted remark which, when finished puts him squarely with his party.

During the past few weeks Lewis Nixon has met a number of the national leaders. To all of them and to those who assume to manage state affairs, he says, that he is anxious to help in every way possible, but his proper field is within Tammany Hall, and that is the place he desires to do his work.

HOW TO BE IMMUNE.

It sometimes is profitable to look backward. Experience is a teacher, and when it fails, the fault lies with the pupil. All our wonderful mechanical inventions, in whole or in part, are the result of experience. Our customs are evolved out of the experiences of our ancestors, and the laws of today find their origin in the conditions of yesterday. But when we look backward to survey the experience of those who preceded us, we are not often inclined to look back far enough. We limit our view, too often, to the records of our own race or our own civilization, why not extend it to the civilizations that preceded ours?

The reason is that when we follow back the history of this old earth, we are compelled to realize a condition to which we are inherently opposed. The condition is total extinction. We observe civilizations have passed away like a scroll and even the sites they occupied have changed beyond recognition. Facing as we do the future, we close our eyes to the past, and yet to properly face the future and escape the annihilation that overcame past civilizations, we should open wide our eyes to all assailing conditions.

Although we admit that much that was once human knowledge, has been lost, and forms no part of the vast store possessed by this civilization, we feel ourselves so tremendously superior to all who have possessed intelligence, and yet passed away without a trace that we face the future with unbounded confidence. We have done much to improve the condition of man, and much to relieve him of the hardships of gaining the sustenance of life; we have done much to make the earth fruitful by cultivation and to yield to a common market its widely diversified products; but we have not accomplished much to insure the whole race from annihilation.

Civilizations all fell. They were not all destroyed by wars by famine, by floods and fire. They decayed. Lost their powers of resistance, were overcome by those more fit to survive. When the virility of a people passes away, the people pass and the civilization they reared. At the vitals of every civilization gnaws its would be destroyer.

Today the energy of this people is directed in the conquest of things of earth. Mind seeks to dominate matter. Iron, copper, gold, coal is taken from the mine and converted to the use of man; knowledge is acquired to assist in the means of adding to the storehouse the wealth of the world, and in adapting people to the use of the earth's yield. But the great question for this civilization is the best means to be adopted for the preservation of the race. How to be immune from the diseases that war against the health and virility of the people.

Scientists find that insanity and consumption were not known to barbarous people; indeed, savages were generally found to be free from disease. Disease follows in the wake of civilizations and finally destroys them.

Insanity and consumption are at war with the present civilization. In spite of our boasted science, each is on the increase. They must be checked or this great civilization, the marvel of our own times, will pass away, and in time the desert will reclaim the fruitful field, and the populous site of our good cities. The war is on, the battle will pronounce the victory to the survivor. Will it be insanity and consumption versus civilization? What will make the Anglo-Saxon civilization immune?

AMERICAN WOMEN.

By Alfred Cecil.

For many years no voice has been raised, and no pen has written, a word save in praise of the American girl. She has been put forward as the most beautiful, the most accomplished, the most entertaining, the most modest and the most worldly-wise of all her sisters. As a girl she was the most bewitching, as a wife the most attractive and useful, and as a mother the most affectionate and best adapted to the responsibilities of maternity. But developments in the most recent years have presented American women in a light that causes the social philosopher to modify his superlatives. To be sure the women who have caused this cessation of admiration are in the minority, nevertheless, it must be borne in mind that in judging the strength of a chain we are forced to the conclusion that it is no stronger than its weakest link.

In all large cities, and for that matter, in some of the smallest towns, we find many young women are idle. To be sure, this idleness is forced by modern conditions. The work of the household is relegated to employed labor and even the needle-work of a practical kind has been lessened by the competition of machinery. But whether idleness is forced or not, has little to do with the main fact, that many young women are idle. The old saying is that his Satanic majesty finds mischief for idle hands to do.

Mischief need not find its expression in crime or in wickedness, that is, crime as defined by statute and wickedness as defied by moral laws. It may be of the negative sort, that kind which does not act but works like a secret poison through a whole system. The finger cannot be placed upon it at any one point for it spreads throughout the whole environment of the affected person.

In New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, in fact in every large city, the theaters gather these idle young women into audiences for their Saturday and Wednesday matinees. These is nothing wrong in going to a matinee, but when we find it develops a type—the matinee girl, we are compelled to ask what a matinee girl is. In the main, she is at the theater because she is idle. Listen to her talk. All matinee girls talk alike, their ideas are about the same; sift these ideas and you will discover they are largely those you would expect to find in the head of an idle girl. They are emotional, fanciful and imaginative. Gods are made of actors, who are in themselves very poor specimens of human clay; and when a genius comes along like Paderewski, who appeals to their senses by the medium of sound they pass into a semi-hysterical condition that suggests phenomena to be pictured by psychologists.

The recent remarkable demonstrations of women at the funeral of two boys, shot while escaping from a Pennsylvania prison, cannot be passed over. In this instance two young men, boys in years effected their escape through the connivance of the prison warden's wife, who eloped with them. When the bodies of the young ruffians were brought to town ten thousand women struggled to see the corpses; they actually fought. In a more recent instance, a young girl—a matinee girl—charged with murder, was on trial before a magistrate in New York city. The court room was crowded with young girls who wore "picture hats" and used opera glasses. When the accused was discharged on the ground of insufficient evidence to hold her; the "matinee girls" became excited. Some cried, others fainted, some applauded, all sought to reach the defendant. Now what does all this sort of thing mean?

On the first impulse, one would say: "Curiosity." But there is more behind this than curiosity. The nervous, delicate organism of women, that has gained them through centuries the appellation of "the weaker sex," comes strongly out in evidence. And why? Because the tendency of our times is to remove restraint; and to create idleness. If it be true that the removal of restraint and the enforcement of idleness is to result in developing this peculiar phase of feminine emotions, it may be well to inquire to what end will it lead?

Perhaps the frequency of divorce, the growth of marital infelicity, and the enormous conversion of young women into derelicts of fate, may be attributed to the growth of uncontrolled feminine emotions. Perhaps, after all, the old days were better, when the women of the household found honor in working with their mothers and their greatest happiness in working from early to late, for husband and children. The idle American girl is the weakest link in the chain of American women.

Education in the Philippines.

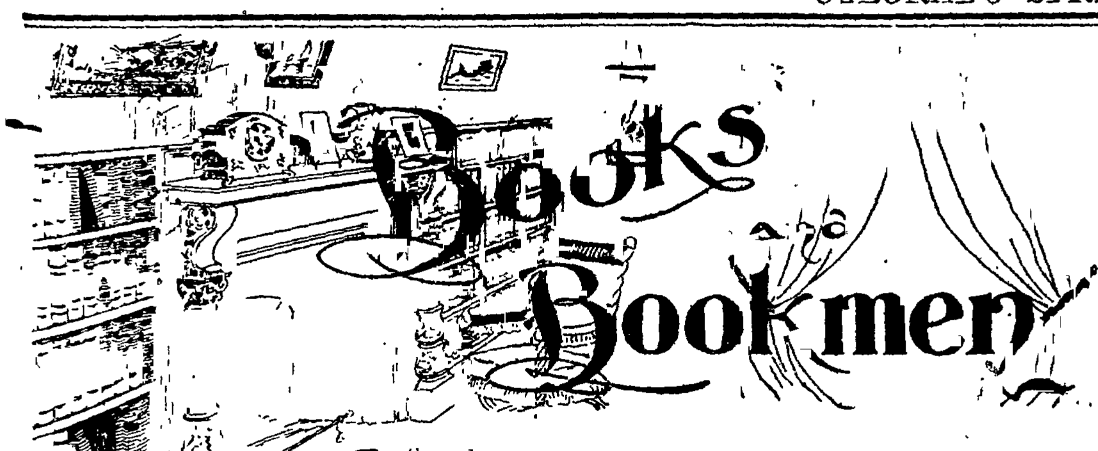

The geography formerly used in the Filipino schools devoted one page out of 200 to the United States and described that country as "one of millionaires, advertisements and eccentricities." Just now one of the eccentricities consists in giving the Filipino children real education. The superintendent of public education in the Philippines, Mr. Fred W. Atkinson, writes in The Outlook:

The majority of the school children come from ignorant homes, where there are none of the accessories and means of culture. A small but important class of Filipinos, those who possess wealth and culture, while not opposing popular education, favor plans for higher education. On the other hand the masses, for whom elementary education is intended, are ever in danger of misprizing its benefits. Fine words are heard from local presidents, but with many their deeds prove that their words serve only to conceal their thoughts.

In spite of these and other difficulties, all the superintendents and the great majority of the American teachers are enthusiastic and optimistic as to the ultimate outcome. A progressive spirit is being aroused in a considerable number of Filipino teachers, who are given, wherever their is an American teacher, daily instruction in English and in methods of teaching; and vacation normal courses are also being conducted. Modern textbooks and other school supplies, including furniture, are being distributed in large quantities. The American teachers are doing something to improve the appearance and hygienic conditions of schools and grounds, and by this means, and by inviting parents to the schools on days of public exercises, are arousing local pride and interest. While there are exceptions, yet local co-operation is forthcoming.

Almost without exception, the teachers are satisfied, enthusiastic, and intensely interested in their work. They are willing to submit to minor discomforts, and are repaid by the satisfaction of feeling that they, in close contact, are the ones who exercise direct influence in enlightening the Filipino mind, hitherto untrained and groping in darkness. As a friend, prominent in Massachusetts educational circles said, "teaching in the Philippines is the grandest kind of missionary work."

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

VENTURING to avail myself of Samuel Rogers' solicitude, I dropped in on him Wednesday morning. He was in the garden cuddled in an embrasure of the cottage, and on the two other sides, protected by a lattice and a great red boulder—one of those rare, sequestered places which only lacks color to be a garden even in winter, and which in spring seems fairly bursting with concealed life.

So he was in the garden, sitting on a little stool near the lattice. He wore a heavy, loose coat, and a red skull cap was pressed over his white locks. By his side lay a trowel—evidently he had been setting out vines, but now he was absorbed in a tiny, dilapidated book. When the gate clicked behind me he lifted his eyes and motioned toward a bench which stood beside a trim path.

"Listen," he said, and began reading very slowly and lovingly from the little book:

"'God Almighty first planted a garden. And indeed, it is the purest of human pleasures. It is the greatest refreshment to the spirits of man, without which buildings and palaces are gross handiworks, and a man shall ever see that as ages grow to civility and elegancy men come to build stately rather than to garden finely.'"

"Oh, I know what that is!" I exclaimed, as he paused. "It is Bacon's essay 'Of Gardens.'"

"The old gentleman looked at me in mild surprise. "Have I been deceived?" he inquired. "I thought you read nothing but new books. I would gladly show you the happiness and inspiration which you can get from old ones; but I never devote myself to people who share my preferences."

I lamented my eagerness, and said: "You put me under the necessity of acknowledging that I never heard until last week that Bacon wrote such an essay. A publisher is bringing out a new edition, which led me to seek an old copy."

"There is a slight disposition," said Mr. Rogers, "to reproduce the masterpieces. It was a joy to me to find in two Christmas magazines reprints of Miltonian verse. What an ideal magazine which would publish every month the product of former inspiration instead of modern inanity!"

"How would you select the contents?"

"That is a difficult question. There is so much to select from. But, at random say that the first poem should be that wonderful sonnet of Shakespeare's

"'When to the sessions of sweet silent thought.'

"The leading article, as apropos to the coming coronation, could be Irving's 'Westminster Abbey,' and, as apropos to the season, this essay of Bacon. Each could be illustrated by some celebrated artist, as 'The Deserted Village' is being illustrated in Harper's.

"Next we can have our continued story, if a magazine must have that aggravation. Let us make it 'Silas Marner.' It is now time for another poem—a longer one: 'Ode on a Grecian Urn.' For short stories let us select 'The Man Without a Country' by Dr. Hale, and 'Happiness,' by Du Maupassant. Our serious article shall be John Addington Symonds' commentary on 'The Prometheus of Aeschylus' and let us also include Walter Pater's 'Child in the House.' Two more poems: Poe's 'Haunted Palace' and the lyric of Stevenson, do you know it?—beginning:

"'Under the wide and starry sky
Dig my grave and let me die
Glad did I live and gladly die.'"

"Ah, don't I know it!" I cried.

The old gentleman observed me gravely. "But we have not finished the essay," he said, lifting again the little, dog-eared book. G.

"THE HOUND OF THE BASKERVILLES."

"The Hound of the Baskervilles," by A. Conan Doyle. New York. McClure, Phillips & Co., 12 mo., $1.25.

When Dr. Doyle caused the celebrated Sherlock Holmes to pitch over a Swiss precipice he neglected to mention that he really lost his life. So wonderful a man could hardly have decided to take such a leap with a provision for an easy landing. But it has not yet been necessary to relate this in order to keep him in contemporary literature. The expedient of a volume of memoirs was a simple one, and now a novel has appeared in which he is the hero, without even employing the expedient of calling it a memoir, although evidently it is one, for it appears to relate to a time when he was engaged with cases already chronicled.

But no one should criticise Dr. Doyle's skill in applying restoratives to his hero, for each story is better than the last. The present one is the most ingenious and daring mystery he has ever constructed, and he untangles it with even more skill than he used in putting it together, employing a strained and thrilling dramatic form. The plot is wierd and fantastic to a high degree, and yet it is developed with a form of investigation so rational, to a denouement so convincing, that it could be called a marvel of realism. Given the idea of a legend attributing the death of a baronet to a monstrous, diabolical hound, applied to the death of his modern descendant, it might readily be conceived that the author would content himself with some clever, commonplace solution of the tragedy. But not so with Dr. Doyle. His climax is tremendous, as daring as his plot, and yet as plausible as the most common motive which inspires crime.

The publishers show themselves, in their methods of advertising the book, as superbly original as the daring author. In a recent copy of a New York paper appeared the following dispatch from London under flaming headlines:

"London, March 27.—The first clue to the fate of Sir Charles Baskerville was discovered today, when a curious footprint was found in the Yew alley of Baskerville hall, hard by where his body lay. To all appearances the track is that of an enormous dog. Taken in conjunction with the undoubted fact that the unfortunate nobleman died of heart disease, brought on by an access of terror, this suggests inevitably the grisly legend of the doom of old Hugo Baskerville, and the obsession of his descendant by a demon hound. Tonight the countryside around Baskerville hall is beset with panic. No man dare venture upon the moorland where the infernal beast is supposed to range, breathing out flames and baying his terrifying note.

"Hugo Baskerville's fate, which seems so strangely connected with that of his descendant, is thus described in the local legend. In a drunken orgy he pursued, one night, at the head of his pack of hounds, a young girl of the countryside for whom he had conceived a violent passion. Other revellers followed him, but were left behind in the chase. They rode over the brow of a hill in time to see the end of the pursuit. The girl lay dead of terror and fatigue. Near her was stretched the body of Hugo, over which stood a hound so monstrous that the hearts of those who beheld it sickened with horror. As they gazed, spellbound, the great beast tore the throat from their friend, and at the sight they turned and rode for life and reason. From that day forth they were broken men. Since then, so runs the belief, the demon hound haunts the moors, seeking further vengeance on the blood of the Baskervilles.

"Incredible as this story may seem in the light of reason, Sir Charles, Hugo's descendant of more than a century later, was influenced by it. So much he has confessed to friends, saying that he would not venture forth upon the moor at night. Once he even hinted at having heard the baying of a hound, afar off in the night. More than this, there has been an astonishing recrudescence of tales about the demon-beast for several weeks past. Many have heard strange sounds from the moor. Terrified peasants have seen, so they say, a huge beast loping swiftly across the treacherous bog land. And these are not stories that have grown up since the tragedy, they were common talk for weeks before.

"Now, consider the strange facts brought to light by Sherlock Holmes. Sir Charles went out into the Yew Alley that night to meet an appointment. It is hinted that the appointment was with a woman. No scandal is suggested, for—"

The dispatch here comes to a sudden end when the reader is referred to "The Hound of the Baskervilles."

In addition to the fact that the book is a detective story of undoubted genius, it manifests literary qualities of great value. The descriptions of Baskerville hall at night, of the moor and the ghastly tragedies of the mire are worthy of Edgar Allen Poe. They are vivid, horrible, unforgettable. And yet the book is not horrible. It is always entertaining in a spirit of wild and manly adventure. The characters are men worth knowing and there is humor in the story as well. The accounts of the legal eccentricities of old Frankland are full of fun, as are the descriptions of Dr. Mortimer's mania for skulls.

Undoubtedly the novel will go to make Sherlock Holmes more popular than he ever has been, and to add another laurel to the fame of his clever and brilliant creator. G.

THE SERPENT.

By Charles MacKnight Sain. Chicago; Apollo Book Co., 12 mo., 75 cents.

It is difficult to see why such a book as "The Serpent" should have been written, and it is still more arduous to comprehend why any publisher should be willing to print it.

The scene of the narrative is laid in a Colorado mining camp, amid surroundings which, if properly handled, would make a fine setting. The hero, Paul Howard, is supposed to have had his life ruined by a pretty variety actress, the serpent of the title. But we feel that Howard, as he is presented by the author, was hardly worth the trouble of ruining. From the start he seems to have been weak, dissipated and in no way better than the common, depraved woman who is pictured to be dragging him down.

Mr. Sain has given only the low and immoral side of the life in a mining camp. The nobler side, with its rough but picturesque features which are so interesting and charming, has entirely escaped him. No use is made of the grandeur of nature. Throughout the entire book there is no touch of humor, though there is such a brilliant opportunity with the material at hand.

The moral tone of this book is very low, but it will do very little harm, if any, because the narrative is not interesting enough to be widely read. The author's English is very poor, full of colloquialisms and inaccuracies, which makes his pages tedious reading.

The one subject upon which Mr. Sain seems to be at home and in a way is a redeeming feature of his book, is his practical knowledge of mining and geology. The miner's pick is a much more suitable instrument for him than the pen. W.

MAGAZINES

Era.

The April Era is better than any of its predecessors, its table of contents showing greater variety and even greater excellence. Its numerous capital features are all brimful of amusement or instruction, while the articles, stories and poems complete the harmonious whole. Canton, the home of Li Hung Chang, is pictured by W. G. Irwin; Katherine Louise Smith writes of "Children's Flower Gardens and Their Uses"; "The English Regalia" is described by George Ethelbert Walsh, while Lucy C. Lillie chats about "The Crowning of the King." The artistic reader will welcome "Robert Reid's Mural Decoration in New State House at Boston," by Charles Henry Hart. Articles of a critical nature are contributed by Penn Steele and Alfred Mathews. "The Cause of Good Government," finds a doughty champion in Benjamin C. Potts; William S. Walsh questions whether women have intuition. There is an installment of Joel Chandler Harris' story, "Gabriel Tolliver," as well as "The House of McCann," the latter the first of a series of character studies in the guise of fiction, by Karl Edwin Harriman, who has found material in an isolated community of fisher-folk dwelling on an island in one of the great lakes. John Trotwood Moore, Theodosia Garrison, and others, contribute poems. And the aforementioned is only a part of the reading matter offered (not to speak of the many excellent illustrations) for ten cents.

Great Round World.

The April magazine number of the Great Round World is the first number of the periodical's second year under its present management. Since Mr. W. C. Gates, formerly business manager of the Review of Reviews, and publisher of the Milwaukee Sentinel, purchased the paper its scope has been greatly enlarged, and many authorities on publishing now testify that it is the best weekly news journal on the market.

Engineering.

The April issue of the Engineering Magazine has for its leader a critical study of the eports of the isthmian canal commission, from the pen of Mr. John George Leigh, who discusses this great question most exhaustively and impartially, showing the advantages of the Panama route from every point of view. Mr. Carpenter continues his papers on "Money-Making Management for Workshop and Foundry;" this series having already attracted wide-spread and interested attention. A richly illustrated and practical article is that of Mr. E. P. Watson on modern boiler-making practice, while Mr. McFarland brings his study of the growth of economy in marine engineering to the period of the introduction of higher steam pressure and the development of the compound engine. A notable contribution on technical education is furnished by Professor Boulvin, of Ghent, showing the importance of the mechanical laboratory in connection with engineering training.

Critic.

Pictorially the chief feature of the April Critic is the striking portrait of Count Tolstoi which serves as the frontispiece. The portrait was painted from life by Ilya Repin, Russia's foremost artist, and represents the master of Yasnaya Polyana standing bareheaded and barefooted in a dense grove on his estates near the house. It is the most recent and is also the most characteristic portrait of Count Tolstoi ever painted, and shows the great toiler in his rugged simplicity.

Chief among the more literary contributions to the April number of the Critic is Rev. Stopford Brook's paper on "Browning's Treatment of Nature." Few men have done such admirable work along this very line as Stopford Brooke, and the present study illuminates a difficult and elusive subject with sympathy and understanding.

LITERARY NOTES

An innovation in the matter of publishing for libraries has been undertaken by Doubleday, Page & Co. Newly issued popular novels, which always have required rebinding after a brief period of circulation they will now furnish in a special library edition with buckram covers, reinforced backs, and strong sewing. This will do away with a large item of expense and marks a new relation of the libraries with the publishers, who in this case, believe a greater free circulation of new novels does not injure the trade.

The eighth large edition of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," is on the press. It is a book that dealers say people buy, and then come back and rebuy in quantities to give away. The author, Miss Hegan of Louisville, Ky., is at work on a new book.

Richard Harding Davis, like most successful authors, had his days of grind and uphill effort before he finally found himself in "Van Bibber," "The Princess Aline," and the rest. He had the usual trials of a man who starts out to do newspaper work, and who has distinct literary aspirations. The editor who passed on Davis' reportorial copy said that the hardest work he had was to remove the literary touch from Davis' reports, and he finally said, "For heaven's sake, Dick, remember that you are writing for a newspaper and not for Harper's Magazine."

Not long afterwards Mr. Davis was writing considerably for the Harpers, and their editors then had to grapple with the problem of how to get the journalistic idiom out of Mr. Davis' extraordinarily clever literary work. All of which was rather wearing on the aspiring young author.

Mr. F. Marion Crawford's new play, "Francesca da Rimini," is just about to be brought out in Paris by Sara Bernhardt. Rehearsals are being given daily and the date for the first appearance of the play is definitely fixed for April 15.

Work from the pen of Mr. Quiller-Couch is welcome alike for its literary quality and its point of view. His latest book, "The Westcotes," a story of rural England in the time of the Napoleonic wars, which has been running in the Era and in Blackwood's magazine, has recently appeared in book form in England and is announced for early publication in this country by Henry T. Coates & Co. The reception which this charming tale has met with at the hands of the English reviewers has been most favorable.

"The Strollers"—a romance of the early American stage—by Frederic S. Isham, is to be published at once by the Bowen-Merrill company. This is a story of the struggles for the American drama in the days when to be a player was to be a pioneer. It tells of the romantic tour of a strolling company who found their audience and their stage in inns and town halls, and of their adventures as they traveled by coach through the countryside.

What is the "valley of decision?" The question is frequently asked by those who have not yet read Edith Wharton's distinguished novel. To those who have read it the meaning of the title is, of course, apparent, but even they do not all of them know the source of the quotation. "Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision," appears on her title page; "for the day of the Lord is near in the valley of decision" is the rest of the sentence, and it is quoted from the prophet Joel.

An almost unique event, the performance of a Greek tragedy, Sophocle's Antigone, accompanied by Mendelssohn's beautiful music for the lyric songs, will take place in April at Stanford university. Actors and chorus will be made up entirely from the faculty and students. In connection with the presentation, a new prose translation, prepared by two professors of the Greek department, Messrs. Fairclough and Murray, will be published almost immediately, in attractive form, by Messrs. Elder and Shepard, San Francisco, so well known for their artistic book-making.

A visit to the old home is one of the most delightful experiences of old age. In New England more and more has been made each year of the feeling for the old homestead, and it is only natural that the "old home" paper, "The Youth's Companion," should participate in this renewal of "old home" acquaintances.

Last week the publishers of the Youth's Companion enjoyed a visit from one of their seventy-five-year subscribers, Mr. R. W. Peabody of Chicago, now 91 years old, who had been spending a few weeks in New England. He is one of the few subscribers on record who has taken the Youth's Companion continuously since its first issue, April 17, 1827. The letter in which he sent his original subscription was one of the first he ever wrote. Through young manhood, maturity and old age, through times of war and times of peace, in New England and the west, through all the last 75 years of his life, his one constant companion has been the old Youth's Companion.

The growth of the Companion itself from the first small four-page issues to the great family paper of the present is merely typical of the growth of the country during Mr. Peabody's lifetime. The wonderful triumphs of steam, and electricity; the great inventions that made the nineteenth century what it was, nearly all occurred in the period through which Mr. Peabody and the Youth's Companion have passed side by side.

The regard Mr. Peabody holds for the paper is not because of its age, but because the paper, although the same in purpose in its last issue as in that of 75 years ago, has kept pace with all the extraordinary developments of these three generations, and instead of growing old has grown in enterprise, in originality, and in the ability to know and supply the literary wants of the American family.

In addition to the four novels previously announced by Little, Brown, & Co., ("The Heroine of the Strait," by Mary Catherine Crowley; "In the Country God Forgot," by Frances Charles; "In the Eagle's Talon," by Sheppard Stevens; and "The God of Things," by Florence Brooks Whitehouse) this Boston publishing house will bring out later in the spring or early in the summer the following new books:—

"A Girl of Virginia." A love story of the university, by Lucy Meacham Thurston, author of "Mistress Brent." Illustrated by Ch. Grunwald. $1.50.

"A Maid of Bar Harbor," by Henrietta G. Rowe. A charming story of Mt. Desert. Illustrated by Ellen W. Ahrens. 12mo. Decorated cloth. $1.50.

"Lafitte of Louisiana," by Mary Devereux, author of "From Kingdom to Colony," and "Up and Down the Sands of Gold." Illustrated by Harry C. Edwards. $1.50.

"Motor Cars," by Alfred Harmsworth, Sir Henry Thompson and others. (Badminton Library of Sports and Pastimes.) Illustrated. Crown 8vo, Cloth, $3.50; half Roxburghe, $5.00.

"Wharf and Fleet. Ballads of Gloucester Fishermen," by Clarence M. Falt. With illustrations from photographs. Crown 8vo. Decorated cloth. $1.50 net.

Also a novel by a powerful new Polish writer, translated by Jeremiah Curtin, whose English versions of Sienkiewicz's works are the authorized standard.

Richard Bagot's novels have opened up an extremely interesting subject—the influence of Roman Catholicism on social life today. His most recent publication in this country, "A Roman Mystery," has been greatly praised for its wonderfully truthful and observant description of modern society in Rome, showing up particularly the intrigues between the Vatican party and the Royalist party—the blacks and the whites as they are called. Many people have made the mistake of thinking that Richard Bagot is inimical to Roman Catholicism. On the contrary, he is himself a Romanist, and loyal to Holy church, but, like Dante before him, he loves her too well to watch complacently the rank abuse of temporal ambition gathering round her, and contaminating her spiritual influence. It is with this object that he has written "Casting of Nets,"—an exposer of her preselytizing methods, and "A Roman Mystery," a picture of modern Rome and its social factions. Both these novels have excellent plots, so that they may be read with pleasure by those to whom the purpose is of secondary interest. Finally Mr. Lane is publishing on April 15, "The Catholic," an anonymous novel, by a new writer, the scope of whose work is well set forth in the short prefatory note, which reads as follows:

"This is a 'Picture of Life,' not a novel with a purpose. The author has endeavored to put into artistic form the result of his observation of a section of contemporary English society interested in the Roman Catholic church, with a view, not of attacking or defending that church, but of portraying character in association with it. The story is the record of a proud Englishwoman under the influence of a great spiritual power. She is not held up to the admiration or to the reprobation of the reader; judgment is not passed upon her by the author; she is merely presented."

D. Appleton & Company are behind on their orders for "The Strength of the Weak," Chauncey C. Hotchkiss's latest novel. The duels and hair-breadth escapes in this story of the French occupation of Canada, and of the New Hampshire grants, has appealed very forcibly to the lovers of outdoor stories. It differs from those of Cooper, who at least gave an occasional breathing spell, in that adventure is hooked upon adventure so fast that one's head is in a constant whirl. Nevertheless it is a high-toned story and deserves its success.

There are no better books for boys, none more sure to instruct them well in the history of our country, and to inspire them with patriotism, than Charles Carleton Coffin's admirable series of stories from American history. The books are histories, not fiction, but they are told in fine narrative style, and are as interesting to adult readers as to the young. Over 170,000 copies of these books have been sold, among them being "Old Times in the Colonies," "The Boys of '76," "The Drum-Beat of the Nation," "Abraham Lincoln," "The Story of Liberty," etc. Mr. Coffin gave years of study to his task, and succeeded beyond any other author in making interesting American histories for young people.

In his new novel of "Mlle. Fouchette," Charles Theodore Murray gives an interesting picture of life in the Quartier Latin, where he resided two years obtaining life studies for his novel, issued by the J. B. Lippincott company. He furnished a small apartment in the Rue St. Jacques, where much of the story is laid, and was surrounded by students, professors, artists, grisettes, and the atmosphere of the great schools. For the sum of $95,000 a year he had a "salon," "chambre a coucher," "cuisine," and toilet—and there were four floors above him. He started in unable to understand or communicate a word of French; he came out able to read the language as well as English. "I got in," he says, "where I just had to do it, that's all. To get what I wanted it was necessary to live among these people and in the way they live; so I did my own cooking, and housekeeping; or as they say, lived 'de garcon'—an this involved constant, immediate contact with all sorts of small tradesmen, and a consequent familiarity with their ways."

NAT GOODWIN has come and gone, leaving the lucky few who saw him with another pleasant ideal of good acting. Mr. Goodwin is so fresh, natural and spontaneous, so radiant of sentiment that his acting must always be a delight. In every play in which he appears there will be the pervasive geniality of the man himself, the happy current of wit and the really human flashes of sentiment. His portrayal of the character of Dick Carew is not the greatest work he has done, but there is no other actor on the American stage who could play it so delightfully. The large-heartedness of the man, his affection and sacrifices, his nobility and camaraderie—the play was full of all the sweet thoughts which these words imply.

Whose heart was not touched when he knelt in the great chair and bowed his head in grief, and whose eyes did not dim with a premonition of tears when Dick and the Imp rushed joyfully into each other's arms. Joy and sorrow were admirably blended in the play. There was really no dividing line between the two emotions, so quickly, yet so naturally did the action change, and the audience was laughing again before it was cognizant of tears.

Perhaps the most delightful feature of the play was the even excellence of the company. Yet the characters were all finely individualized, and each actor was perfect in his way. The trinity was letter perfect. The little touch of Irish brogue in the speech of one of the men was one of the most artful touches in the play. It was never obtruded. One did not even always catch it when the man spoke, and yet it was there if you listened for it. This illustrates better than anything else the artistic balance which characterizes the best drama. Nothing is emphasized which will detract from the central point of interest, and although Mr. Goodwin was a star, it could be noticed how carefully he avoided the center of the stage, never disturbing the artistic unity of the stage picture or of the dramatic action.

Undoubtedly the first two and the last acts were far ahead of the third. That one did not seem to belong to the play, so different was its tone from that of the other acts. But this contrast alone should not make it any the less a vital part of the play. It was another fault which destroyed its artistic value. Clearly a change of scene was necessary; not because all the acts in a play could not possibly have the same setting, but because the exigencies of this plot required the introduction of certain characters who could not, without strained artifice, have been introduced into Dick's home.

The Imp, let it be said for the benefit of those who did not see the play, is engaged to Dick's protege, but is dazzled by the beauty of a variety actress and desires to marry her. It becomes necessary to show the Imp the difference between the two women, and as they cannot very well be brought together, Dick conceives the idea of convincing the Imp, who by the way, is also a protege of Dick's, that the Firefly will give herself to the man who will pay the most money.

The device is a good one, and the success following it should surely be convincing enough. But in the third act, which is laid in a very colorless apartment of the actress, it is too clearly evident that the plot is being developed by the playwright—a fatal thing for a play to disclose. The other three acts were natural, spontaneous. This was artificial, manufactured.

In order to prevent a contrast too vivid the act was toned down so that there was nothing to offend the prudish eye or ear. And this, for one thing, made the act unreal. It may also be said that there was just as much suggestion of the life and character of the woman in the act as there would have been if the scene had pictured a revel in a more characteristic apartment. But your prude does not mind suggestion. It is the outward show which he and she find objectionable, and that is why the prude is the most demoralizing and nocuous member of society.

Well, the offer of money is made to the woman and she walks off with another man, and the curtain goes down. The purpose of the designing playwright is fulfilled and after the Imp has a bad moment or two, declaring that all women are marketable, he comes to his senses and quits the stage. Dick can then marry his ward, and the play ends happily, although one feels as if the Imp, taken altogether, had got the short end of the stick.

Just how the plot could have been developed without a resort to artificial means is a question which is hard to answer. Probably the playwright has spent many unhappy hours over the difficulty. He first made the scene very broad, showing a rollicking supper in the firefly's rooms, but this was declared objectionable. The objection, however, in the charge which has been made, is by no means eliminated. The moral tone is in reality no higher, and the artistic tone is greatly lowered.

Probably the easiest way out of the difficulty would be to change the scene at the end of the second act, not to the apartments of the Firefly, but to some public place—such as a passably polite wine garden, or a restaurant, or even, at some sacrifice of the unity of time, to a seaside hotel or resort—where both sets of characters might reasonably be seen together. The second act is long and some of the action in it might quite easily be bridged over to the next scene. Then let it develop what a faithless, miserable creature the other woman is, thoroughly opening the Imp's eyes, and let the curtain descend upon an act which is both essential and artistic.

What the Press Agents Say of Their Attractions

"THE CHRISTIAN."

Let the matinee girl rejoice, for there is shortly to appear in your midst New York's most popular idol in the person of Mr. Edward Morgan. In previous seasons it has been Mr. Morgan's custom to appear only in New York during the winter season. In recent years, however, he has accompanied Henry Miller as co-star to San Francisco in the summer months, where he became one of the greatest favorites that ever visited the coast. For this reason great interest centers in his coming engagement here as "John Storm" in Liebler & Co.'s excellent play, "The Christian," a role which he created when that play was originally produced and in which he scored immensely.

"TAMING OF THE SHREW."

Shakespeare's plays have stood the test of centuries, and yet when comparisons are made some of the efforts of the master playwright are judged to be much better than others. Among his lighter works it is the general opinion that "The Taming of the Shrew" is entitled to first position. This sparkling piece is almost the only one of Shakespeare's comedies with a regular plot and a downright moral. It is full of bustle, animation and rapidity of action. Petruchio is a mad man in his senses, a very honest fellow who hardly speaks a word of truth and succeeding in all his tricks and impostures. The situation of poor Katherine, worn out by his incessant persecutions, becomes at last almost as pitiable as it is ludicrous. The learned critics say that Petruchio is a character which all husbands should study. Be that as it may, "The Taming of the Shrew" is undoubtedly, viewed from many standpoints, a splendid object lesson in matrimony. The comedy should be seen not only by those who have entered the bonds of wedlock, but also by those who contemplate taking that most important step. Charles B. Hanford, the well-known Shakespearean star, is presenting the play this season. He will appear as Petruchio, a role admirably adapted to his talents. The shrewish Katherine will be portrayed by Miss Helen Grantly, a young actress of beauty and distinction, who is said to have already achieved remarkable success. The supporting company includes Marie Drofrah, Emma Hayner, Irving Knight, Roland Gibson, P. A. Nannary, Harold Fiske, Paul Anderson, R. O. Meech, L. W. Browning, John C. Davis and other well-known Shakespearean artists. The play will be seen in this city at the Opera house soon.

GRIFFITH WILL MAKE A WILD DRIVE.

Griffith, the Hypnotist, who opens a week's engagement at the Opera house, commencing tomorrow evening, will give his initial performance at 2:30 on the main streets. The feature in part is as follows. At 2:30 sharp Mr. Griffith will appear at the front of the Opera house with a dashing span of horses hitched to a two seated vehicle. A committee of business men will be selected from the crowd, by the crowd, four of this committee will take the team and drive it through a devious route of 15 blocks about the city and at the conclusion will hide some small article, a pin or a pen knife, for instance. While this is being done, the remaining committee of four will have Mr. Griffith in charge. It will be their duty to so guard Mr. Griffith that he will not gain any knowledge as to where the team has been driven or where the article has been hidden. After the first committee has covered the route and hid the article, they will return to the starting point. The second committee will produce Mr. Griffith and he will, after being securely and tightly blindfolded, take the reins and drive the team at a dashing rate of speed over the exact route and find the article. Admission prices will be 25c, 35c and 50c.

New York Stage Gossip

New York, April 13.—Without any doubt the play of the week, in fact, of the season, was a revival of Oscar Wilde's play, "The Importance of Being Earnest." It was produced at the Empire in 1895, at a moment when the dramatist was in ill-odor. The unpopularity and disgrace into which its author had fallen in London—in the whole civilized world, in fact—detracted from the favor with which it might have been received by the theater-going public. But after an interval of seven years few cared about Wilde or remembered much about him, and it is possible to judge the play on its merits.

Like others of Mr. Wilde's plays, this piece does abound in epigrams. Indeed, there are persons unkind enough to say that the story is only a thread upon which to string distorted platitudes and other forms of expression commonly catalogued as epigrams. In reality, however, there is a plot as interesting as it is whimsical, and of action a plenty.

John Worthing, so the story runs, has a manor house and a pretty ward, Cecily Carew, down in Herefordshire. Country life is a bore to him, and he often runs up to London for relaxation. In order to explain these frequent absences he tells his ward and her governess, Miss Prism, that he has a younger brother, Earnest, in London, who is a sad rake and who needs frequent looking after. To complicate matters still further, John is known in London as Earnest, and under that name has fallen in love with the Hon. Gwendolen Fairfax. He proposes to her and is accepted, but her mother, Lady Bracknell, says no because Mr. Worthing has to admit when asked that he doesn't know who his parents are—that he was found in a bag at a railway station and adopted by his ward's grandfather.

In his despair Worthing confesses all about his two names to Gwendolen's cousin, Algernon Moncrieff, and also [illegible] of killing Earnest off [illegible] Moncrieff, [illegible] goes down to [illegible] himself off as Earnest. Cecily of course falls in love with him, and they are already engaged when Worthing comes in to tell of poor Earnest's death. Gwendolen appears on the scene opportunely and the whole measure of Worthing's and Moncrieff's deception is laid bare. Miss Prism, however, has also a confession to make. She, it appears, was once a nurse maid in the Moncrieff family. In a moment of weakness she wrote a novel—nurse maids do that kind of things in farces—and, being unable to find a purchaser for it, determined to abandon it in a bag at a railway station. In a fit of abstraction, however, she left Algernon's elder brother, then a baby, in the bag instead of the manuscript. This, of course, establishes Worthing's identity and everybody is happy.

It may be interesting to compare the two casts. The part of John Worthing, played in 1895 by Mr. Henry Miller, is now assigned to Mr. Charles Richman, while Miss Margaret Anglin will impersonate the Hon. Gwendolen, previously played by Miss Viola Allen. It was to Miss Allen and Mr. Miller, along with Miss Ida Vernon, who appeared as Lady Bracknell, (the part given now to Miss Ethel Hornick), that the honors fell in the original production, and it is quite likely that Miss Anglin and Mr. Richman will prove worthy successors. Mr. William Courtenay will be the Algernon Moncrieff, Mr. William Faversham's former role; Miss Margaret Dale the Cecily Carew, Miss Agnes Miller's old part, and Mrs. Thomas Whiffen the Miss Prism, the character formerly impersonated by Miss May Robson. Mr. W. H. Crompton will again appear as the Rev. Canon Chasuble, D. D., the same part he played in 1895.

Lee Ditrichstein's play, "The Last Appeal," has won at last. All previous appeals for a hearing on Broadway failed. The piece was tried months ago on the road and it went but "no boards" were ready for it, so it went into a trunk. It came out Monday night at Wallack's and caught on. This clever dramatist, when he is clean with his plays, is hailed with pleasure, but as a rule he seems to believe his audience likes dirt and smut.

The scenes of Mr. Ditrichstein's play are laid in Austria. The crown prince falls in love with the daughter of a wealthy commoner. The affair comes to the attention of the king who accuses the father of the girl of setting a trap to catch the prince. In the second act there is a highly dramatic scene between the king and the commoner. Both agree to break off the match. This would be all right except that the young woman and the prince have married in the meantime. Of course, there are other entanglements in the affairs of the young couple, and for some time they are in the hottest kind of water. At last all ends happily. It is easy to suppose that these series of episodes are founded upon the scandal of several years past at the Austrian court. The scenes, painted by Mr. Joseph Physioc, show the park and summer residence of the commoner, the library of his home, the hall of the castle and the throne room. To add to the brilliancy, there are scores of soldiers and courtiers in rich uniforms. An unusually competent cast had been provided. The king was played by Mr. D. H. Harkins, the commoner by Mr. Harold Russell. Mr. Robert Drouet was the prince, and others in the cast are Miss Cora Tanner, Miss Nancy Page, Mr. Henry Bergman and Mr. Becton Radford.

The greatest success of the season is "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast." It has had its 200th performance at the Broadway theater, with receipts exceeding $400,000; Francis Wilson will play Sammy Gigg in "The Toreador," at the Knickerbocker for the 107th time, and Christie MacDonald introduces a new song hit called "In the Moonlight With the Girl You Love." "Foxy Grandpa" will have reached its 75th performance at the Fourteenth street, and the occasion will be celebrated with souvenirs in the shape of cushion slips, and the Belasco play, "Du Barry" sweeps along brilliantly at the Criterion with never a vacant seat.

"A Modern Magdalen," at the Bijou, is also prospering, and although Miss Bingham indignantly resents any comparison between her Katinka and the Zazas, Saphos and the Tanquerays of the stage, the young woman who, as Alan Dale puts it, "falls—into ermine and on her feet," seems to have the kind of risque attractiveness which draws. Robert Edeson and his "Soldiers of Fortune" are also having wonderful success at the little Savoy. In fact, the young star has made as solid a hit as has been made by any actor this season, and that is saying a great deal, as young William Collier, in a groove peculiarly his own, has made a very distinct hit in "The Diplomat" at the Madison Square theater. Mr. Collier comes pretty near being the best of our young comedians. His humor is like brut wine of a particularly fine vintage, and I know of no one who can imitate the delightful way he has of saying things which from any one else might not be accepted. It is said that Jacob Litt is endeavoring to have him appear in London this summer. If he does William Collier will be a much greater actor when he returns than people give him credit for today.

My good friend, Dan Frohman, has written an article on the demand of the stage for dramatic talent, and accounts for the hundreds of women who apply to managers for positions on the score that occupations for women are limited. My friend knows this is nonsense. He knows as well as I do that there is plenty of occupation for women in other fields and that few who apply to him are adapted in any way to become actresses. Vanity, the desire to be before the public, a foolish idea of the work that is required, causes women to run to the theater; and again, they believe, many of them, that to be once an actress means that they have entered a province of Bohemia, governed by its own laws, which is in some way removed from the laws of New York, or for that matter of any other state. Talent! Of course the stage needs talent. It always has and always will. There is very little real talent on the stage today. Point out a single woman whose talent marks her as a great actress. Name one. There are many pleasing young women headed by Maude Adams, Viola Allen and Annie Russell; there are women who have been trained by men like Augustin Daly and David Belasco who are fine theatrical instruments to hang a role on, like Miss Rehan and Mrs. Leslie Carter, and there are patient, hard-working women who attain prominence like Miss Marlowe, Miss Arthur and Miss Crosman, but where are the women of genius like Sarah Bernhardt, the late Charlotte Cushman or Mrs. Siddons? Yes, Mr. Frohman is right, the stage wants talent and wants it badly.

Alonzo Newcombe.

Receiver Sunderlin Makes a Full Statement to Judge Cunningham, Asks Approval and Discharge.

The final report of Receiver Sunderlin in the case of William P. Bonbright, et al, versus the Goldstone M. & M. company, et al., was filed in the district court yesterday afternoon, and shows that all the business entrusted to the receiver has been transacted, and he now prays for the approval of the court and for dismissal

The report confirms the big shortage in the affairs of the old company, claims to the amount of $36,478.75 having been filed against the company. There are 210 claimants altogether, and their names and the amount of their claims are contained in a portion of the report. These can be examined by those who wish to verify the correctness of the list, and after a reasonable length of time Judge Cunningham will pass on the report, and if it be correct, he will discharge the receiever.

The total overissue in shares was upward of 3,000,000; and a reorganization committee, appointed by the court, came to the conclusion that the best way out of the difficulty was the organization of a new company in which holders of spurious stock would share equally with those who had held legitimate stock. The Goldstone Consolidated company was organized last year: and the report filed yesterday states that practically all of the claimants agreed to the compromise.

The receiver reports that he has received in cash from the reorganization committee $4,034 25; and that he has expended in salaries, necessary expenses, etc., the sum of $4,066.56. This sum was made up by a balance in the hands of the receiver before the reorganization committee turned over the $4,034 25 A full list of all expenditures made by the receiver is included with the report.

[illegible] PASO'S DEVELOPMENT

Out of 50 Men Employed 40 Are Engaged in Development---New Stope Ready in Three Months.

The El Paso company is pushing development work in many places in the mine, and at the same time producing over $30,000 a month. President Bernard stated yesterday that the mine would output about the same amount this month which it did last, and that the ore was running very well. The average grade is about $54 in gold to the ton.

The development work now being pushed includes the new shaft which is being raised from the 600-foot level to connect with the 400-foot shaft on the Columbia This raise, size 5x17, is now within 60 feet of the shaft, and a connection will be made sometime next month After the connection is made it is estimated that 10 feet a day can be accomplished in enlarging the shaft to the surface.

By the time this work is completed the foundations for the machinery and the new boilers will be in place. The machinery is contracted to be on the ground by July 10, and it is thought that the new shaft will be in operation by August 1. The new boilers will be installed this week, and the foundations for the machinery will be started soon.

The new shaft will enable the mine to make a large output. With the development work which the company is now doing it is impossible to increase the output. Fifty tons of waste is being hoisted every day. The big vein at the tunnel level is being drifted on to the north, still showing a good grade of ore, the 500-foot level is being run out, and the sixth level is also being pushed ahead. Stopes have been run up here 50 feet above the floor, and the ore has continued good all the way A crosscut is also being run for the C. K. & N. vein.

To illustrate the heavy development which the management is carrying on, it is learned that out of the 130 men employed in the mine, about 100 are engaged in either dead work or blocking out the bodies which will contribute to the output when the mine is furnished with adequate shaft room and hoisting capacity.

[illegible] CYCLE MINES AND [illegible]

Notwithstanding Heavy Development Expenses the Company Nets About $ 7,000 for March.

Although the ore returns have not all been received by the treasurer of the Golden Cycle company, the output for the month of March is estimated at 3,400 tons, the net ore returns being $39,000. The extended operations in the mine during the last month have considerably reduced the profits of the company, only $17,000 remaining after the operation and development work has been settled for

The development work includes the sinking of the large shaft, and a large amount of work at the 700-foot depth, where the ninth level has been run. The company has also bought a new boiler, which means an extra expense. The shaft has attained a depth of 900 feet, and at this point an immense chamber, 50x20x18, is to be cut out This work has been started, but it will take three months to complete the station and to install the large 1,000-gallon pump which the company will have at this depth.

The treasury reserve has now mounted up to about $60,000, and the stockholders will be looking for dividends within the next three months, as it is probable that the company will get well ahead of its development expenses within that time. Outside of this extraordinary outlay, the company is earning about $25,000 a month.

The stockholders are informed every month by the treasurer of the exact condition of the company's treasury, of the amount of ore shipped and the profits of the company. In this way their information is kept right up to date, and they are able to judge of the value of their investment as well as the officers. This is the only company which practices this admirable plan.

[illegible] MORE DEALS IN IDAHO SPRINGS

Argentine Tunnel Now Owned Entirely by Rees C. Vidler---Sold for $25,000.

One of the most important deals of the year was consummated at Idaho Springs last week. Mr Rees C. Vidler, who possessed a third interest in the Argentine tunnel, purchased the remaining two thirds interest for a consideration of $25,000.

The property is situated at Argentine pass in Clear Creek county, and the tunnel, which is known as the Horseshoe, will cut the main mineral belt of the Georgetown, Silver Plume and Argentine districts. The tunnel is a 10x10 bore and will run from 8,000 to 10,000 feet under Argentine pass. Mr. Vidler has lately returned from England, where he has placed the project on a sound financial basis. The scheme has a wide scope, for besides owning 15 lode claims, a placer of 150 acres and a tunnel site, it will prove of immense benefit to the properties on the other side, in Summit county, and will be the means of giving them an outlet during the winter snows and of opening up many properties all the year round. Georgetown is much interested in the tunnel and it is believed that it will be of great service to the district.

The Newton mine on Chicago creek has encountered $2,000 ore in the east drift of the first level. It consists of a five-inch streak of smelting ore which runs 101 ounces in gold, 114 ounces in silver and 15 per cent. copper. Besides this there is from two to three feet of mill dirt which will run about $20.

The Mattie, which belongs to the same management, has a seven-inch streak, which runs $70 to the ton. The company is taking out from 30 to 40 tons per day and hopes to have its mill running in a week's time. Manager Leebrick says that they have enough milling ore on the dumps to keep the mill at work for two years.

The Newhouse tunnel entertained visitors last Friday when Nat Goodwin, Maxine Elliott and others of the party went through the bore on a trolley car.

Colorado Springs men are still busy looking up deals in this district. Mr. Richard Willis has purchased another property on Chicago creek, and Mr. Torrey of Riedel, Torrey & Co. last week conducted a large party to the Omar, which is now in 300 feet and has opened up a good vein upon which they are drifting for 50 feet.

[illegible] MINING NOTES AND NEWS

One of the most eagerly discussed matters in mining circles yesterday was the strike of rich ore in the Laura Lee property, and fuller particulars are being eagerly awaited. It is understood that if this section of the camp furnishes many more sensations the local brokers will begin to exert themselves to boom the hill. It has been over a year since there has been a boom in new mining companies, and Galena hill has entirely collapsed. The ore which is being obtained on the Laura Lee property, and on two claims adjoining that, is better than has been mined from Galena hill, and already this district of the camp gives better promise than has been furnished by any new section in several years. Developments will be followed with the closest interest.

ORE BEING SAVED FROM THE SEDAN.

Lessee Kellum, operating the Anna Belle claim of the Sedan company, situate on Galena hill, is saving a shipment of ore from the main shoot which he has opened at a depth of 200 feet from the surface. He put his shaft to this depth some time ago, and has been driving a drift in the vein since that time, now and then encountering very favorable assays, but finding the values to be somewhat inconsistent. He now believes that he has encountered the solid shoot, and is much encouraged over the result. The values are running about the same as they were in the 110-foot level, and there is in addition to the main streak, a narrow seam of ore which shows the high values which since the discovery of this vein, have been characteristic of the claim.

BUTTERFLY-TERRIBLE CPR A GOOD VEIN.

A report from Ophir in the San Juan district, states that the Ida vein in the Butterfly-Terrible property has just been cut. It is this lode for which the company has been crosscutting for several weeks, the upper ore reserves having been considerably reduced, as well as the profits of the mine. The vein was found to be very wet, but as the mine is operated entirely by tunnels it is an easy matter to drain off the water and drifting is proceeding for the shoot from which, in the upper levels of the mine, over $225,000 has been produced. The stock on the local exchange has been very heavy for the past few months owing to the failure of the company to open good ore, but it is now believed that a more prosperous time is approaching. The company has no debts and has a good cash and stock reserve on hand.

RICH ORE LEAVES LAST DOLLAR MINE.

One of the richest shipments made from a Cripple Creek mine last week was marketed from the Last Dollar. The ore was of a very high smelting grade, coming from one of the bottom levels, and was shipped direct to the smelter at Pueblo. The ore was mined from the main vein below the 1,000-foot point, being from the rich streak opened there over a year ago. Very valuable stopes have been run on the vein, and the company has been gradually taking out the ore. It is reported that there is $1,000,000 in sight in the mine, but the company is a close corporation and it is very difficult to obtain reliable information as to the reserves. A quarterly dividend is being paid, and will be due from New York next month.

ORE WILL BE SHIPPED FROM THE LITTLE ELLEN.

A shipment of ore will leave early this week from the Little Ellen property on the west slope of Mineral hill, a very good shoot having been opened in a tunnel run in by lessees. The values are running into a very good grade, and three feet of ore is being broken. The rock is generously sprinkled with free gold, and the values are proving quite consistent at even so shallow a depth. The lessees have started a shaft which they are sinking to a depth of 50 feet where the first crosscut will be run out to the ore. They will greet ore time near the shaft, and promise to do vigorous development in following up their discovery. This strike is the fourth to be made recently on this hill, the other three having been made on the Laura Lee, the Addie C and the Consolidated Virginia and Elkton

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Colorado Springs, April 19.—The mining stock market today manifested even more strength than it did yesterday, and the trading for the one call which was held was better than either of the two held yesterday. The demand for Elkton and Portland was very brisk and there was a marked increase in the amount of the trading in the preferred prospect list. The feature of the call was the advance in Portland shares from $1.89 to $1.95 with a fine showing of buying orders in. The decided demand which set in at the very opening of the call put the shorts to the breach and they assisted in the decided advance which followed. Doctor was strong at 34¾ and gave evidences of going higher when the card was shipped, the stock being quite persistently held above the market. Elkton sold at 75, 8,000 shares going at that price, and El Paso gained a fraction to 44¼. There were one or two instances of weakness in the mines list, Consolidated going to 5⅞ and Gold Dollar Consolidated sold at 14. A small lot of Isabella sold at 25. Vindicator was not traded in, but was held at $1. Calera was the chief object of interest in the preferred list, selling up to 18¾ on good reports from the property; and several stocks recorded slight sales at prevailing prices. Sunset-Eclipse sold at 6¾. C. K. and N. was back at 5⅝, due to good reports from the mine.

The sales for the week were as follows:

ACTIVITY IN MINERAL [illegible]

Laura Lee Strike Has Stimulated Hopes of Lessees—Strike on the Kitty Wells No. 2 on Carbonate Hill—[illegible] Strike on El Paso Property.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, April 19.—A temporary ore house has been constructed at Lesher and associates' lease on the Laura Lee property on Mineral hill, and today the hoisting of ore was commenced. During the day eight or 10 tons of ore were hoisted and deposited in the new bins. The value of the mineral saved is not known, but it has the appearance of being very good rock. Fully 500 people visited the scene of the strike today, but no one was allowed down the shaft. Mineral hill, and in fact all this section of the camp, presents a very busy appearance with the numerous sets of lessees at work. The strike on the Laura Lee has had the effect of stimulating work and already the results are becoming apparent.

Quartz running two ounces in gold and 16 ounces in silver has been opened up by Lessee McDonald in the Kitty Wells No. 2 on Carbonate hill. The find was made at a depth of 10 feet. A shaft will be sunk upon the ore and as soon as conditions warrant it a steam hoisting plant will be installed. When a depth of 50 feet is attained, drifting will be started. In the past there have been good indications at this property and a few years ago a shipment was sent out.

Finnerty and associates, leasing on block No. 4 of the El Paso property on Beacon hill, have cut a two-inch streak of ore that gives assay values as high as 442 ounces in gold to the ton. This streak greatly enhances the value of the ore shoot and the shipment of coarse rock and screenings that went out today is expected to return good values. On the Little May block of this property Wilson and associates are preparing a carload shipment, which will go out in a few days. The ore comes from a north and south shoot and runs three ounces to the ton. The El Paso company did not market any great amount of ore during the past week. To transfer the ore from the mine to the car costs the company one dollar per ton. Knowing that the F. & C. C. spur to the mine will be completed within the next several days, the company is storing the greater portion of its output in order to save the transfer charges.

Work has been renewed on company account at the Theresa on Bull hill, adjoining the Golden Cycle property. Development work for the present is to be confined to the 500 and 600-foot levels and there is a strong probability that a shaft will be sunk 100 feet from the 700-foot point, the depth at present. The Theresa has been operated for the past couple of years by lessees. The lessees have shipped quite a little ore, giving the company a good sized treasury reserve from the royalties. Charles Emerson will manage the property.

Robert L. Patterson & Co., leasing the old Russell shaft of the Golden Cycle property, have made a good find at a depth of 300 feet. The lessees have encountered six inches of ore that returns assays indicating a value of three ounces to the ton. The lessees are preparing a shipment.

Stebbins and associates, leasing on the La Belle shaft of the Golden Cycle company, have cut a nice streak of ore in the 200-foot level and are saving ore for shipment. The lessees are now figuring on a larger hoisting plant to handle the output.

On the Gold Sovereign company's property on Bull hill the Cripple Creek Gold Temple company is meeting with fair success. The leasing company has just closed a carload shipment which will probably return an average value of two and one-half ounces to the ton.

It is reported that the Practical Leasing company will resume operations on May 1 on the Hannah Britt and Pauper claims on Bull hill. The properties have been idle for some time past in order to permit the leasing company to prepare for vigorous development work.

EASTERN MARKETS

New York Stock Market.

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs.)

New York, April 19.—The policy which has been consistently followed during the present speculative campaign of large buying and bidding up of some one prominent stock as an effective leader of the whole market was maintained today with Union Pacific as the favored stock. No new consideration was advanced as a reason for the buying, which carried the price up to 10½, where it closed at a net gain of 2⅝. Under cover of this sustaining influence there was a broad and active speculation in all parts of the list. The movement was accordingly irregular as the taking of profits went on side by side with new buying in a way characteristic of an active speculation. Many special stocks were under manipulation by separate pools and some of the industrial specialties made sensational movements. International Power touched 168 and fluctuated very feverishly. Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville was erratic over a range of more than three points below last night. Canadian Pacific was very strong and there was a notable advance in United States Reduction. General Electric was depressed by the strike in the company's works and Sugar showed the effect of the vote in the house of representatives to rescind the differential duty on refined sugar. Amalgamated Copper found some support, but was feverish. American Snuff, Kansas City Southern preferred and Minneapolis & St. Louis made unexplained advances. The loan contracted by the banks shows that the resources for the week's speculation have been secured from other sources, presumably the trust companies and the foreign money markets.

The Metal Market.

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs.)

New York, April 19.—The local metal market for copper and lead was steady. Copper was quoted at 12¼ for lake. Lead closed steady at 4⅛.

London Market.

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs.)

New York, April 19.—Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram: Although Balfour's statement as to peace negotiations is regarded favorably there was a slight setback in the stock market in the absence of definite peace news as yesterday's pace was too fast. Consols relapsed to 94⅞. American stocks were cheerful and active, the favorites being Erie, Union and Southern Pacific.

Money on call was unlendable, as the market was swamped by the return of the consol application funds. But this is only borrowed money for the most part and it will be returned next week.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

(By Associated Press Exclusively to the Gazette in Colorado Springs.)

Chicago, April 19.—Fears in the minds of grain speculators over the weather conditions produced another nervous market today on the board of trade. Bullish sentiment predominated, though trade was not brisk and at the close May wheat had gained ⅜@⅝c and May corn ⅛@¼c. May oats stood unchanged. Provisions closed unchanged to 20c lower.

Bright Truths For Bright Days

Are welcomed by every one. We want to tell every housekeeper of something that will intensify the pleasures of the coming summer. We would specially talk to those who are still endeavoring to work along with a coal range and all its attendant discomforts of oppressive heat, ashes and expense.

YOU CAN DO BETTER BY GETTING A GAS RANGE

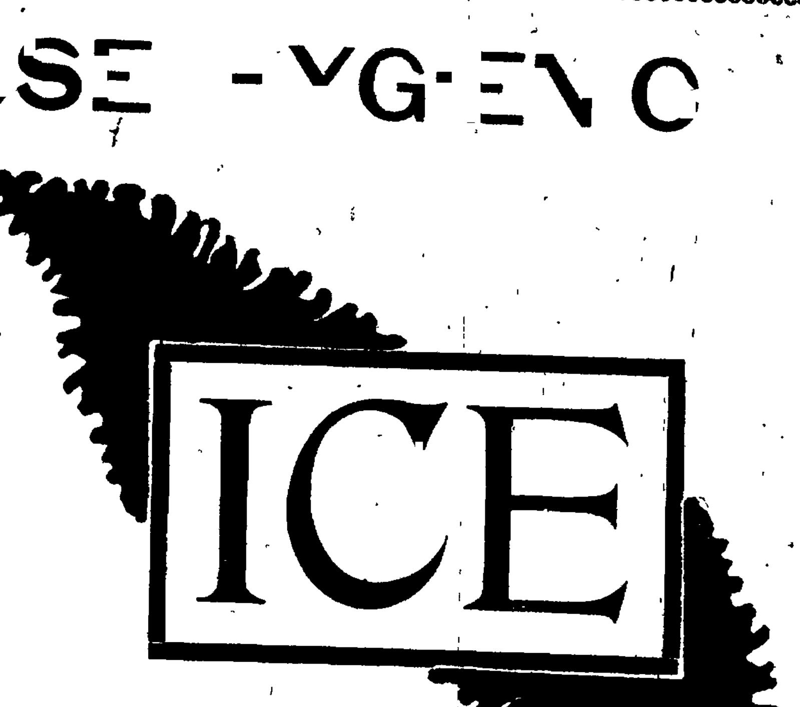

It Makes Cooking a Pleasure

Why should a woman exhaust herself over a hot coal range when the cooking can be done in comfort over a gas range. Perhaps you have not looked into the fuel question and compare the cost of running a coal range with one where gas is used. Tests show gas to be the most economical. Then again a gas range is always ready for use, and can be operated at any desired heat. There is no ashes to be moved or dirty cooking utensils. We sell or rent all sizes. You can have one placed in your home on trial.

"THE PAIN FELT LIKE A KNIFE PIERCING MY LUNGS."

Coughing until the veins in the forehead seem to swell to the bursting point, the eyes seem bulging from their sockets and every muscle of the body seems knotted in the struggle against the paroxysm. Then, falling back in the chair, the sufferer gasps for air and feels the pain like a knife piercing the lungs.

The most pathetic struggle ever made against disease is when disease attacks the lungs. Other diseases may cause as much suffering, but the suffering is not so palpable nor so pitiful as this struggle, from which doctors so often stand aloof, declaring that there is no help and no cure. Because medical skill has so often proven helpless when the lungs are diseased, there is a disposition in many of those who are suffering from pulmonary troubles to accept the fatal termination of consumption as a foregone conclusion. The sufferer loses heart and gives up hope, and can hardly be induced to try new means of cure. This is the worst possible attitude of mind for any sick person, and it is entirely unjustified by facts. In the examinations of the lungs of persons who have died from various causes, physicians have found time and again the healed scars of tuberculosis, proving that at one time tubercle had attacked the lungs and the disease had been cured. That is evidence enough that the hopeless view of lung diseases is altogether wrong. Side by side with that fact put another yet more important: There are thousands of people living to-day in the full enjoyment of health and actively engaged in the duties of life, who declare that they have been perfectly and permanently cured of lung disease by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. They had all the symptoms of consumption: cough, bleeding of the lungs, night-sweats, emaciation, weakness, etc. In many cases the local doctor, and sometimes two or three doctors, declared the disease to be consumption, and very often the sufferer was pronounced incurable. Yet these people were perfectly and permanently cured by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery." Did they really have consumption? The doctors said so. The symptoms said so. But in any case they had obstinate coughs and bleeding lungs; they were emaciated and weak, and were cured by "Golden Medical Discovery."

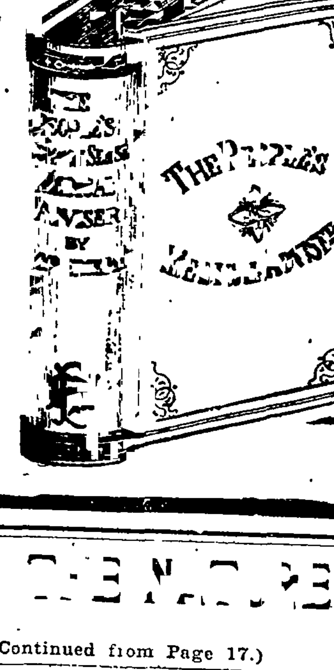

"I was very sick indeed," writes Mrs. Mollie Jacobs, of Felton, Kent Co. Delaware, "and our family doctor said I had consumption. I thought I must die soon, for I felt so awful bad. Had a bad cough, spit blood, was very short of breath; in fact, could hardly get my breath at all sometimes. I had pains in my chest and right lung, also had dyspepsia. Before I took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' I was so weak I could not sweep a room, and now I can do a small washing. I worked in the canning factory this fall, and I feel like a new person. I believe that the Lord and your medicines have saved my life. I was sick over two years. I took thirteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and four vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets."

Can man or woman read the above letter and not feel that there is hope of cure for lung diseases in the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery? If Mrs. Jacobs' cure were a solitary case it would still be a hopeful augury for any similar sufferer. But so far from being a solitary case, it is only one of thousands, and only one of the moderate cases, too. There are cures to the credit of "Golden Medical Discovery" which would be incredible if it were not for the fact that the persons cured are living witnesses to the wonderful curative powers of this medicine. For example, there's Mr. Cornelius McCawley, of Leechburg, Armstrong Co., Pa., who was given up by doctors and friends to die of consumption. He had eighty-one hemorrhages—"sometimes spitting up five pints of blood at one time." It took forty-two bottles of "Golden Medical Discovery" to cure him, but he was cured and is to-day sound and well. That's an extreme case and shows what has been done by the use of the "Discovery" when the conditions were most hopeless.

"Some two years ago I was almost a helpless victim to that dreaded disease—consumption," writes Mr. Charles Fross, P. M., of Sitka, White Co., Indiana. "I was confined to my room for several months; my friends and neighbors had given up all hope of my recovery, until one day a friend advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and after I had taken the contents of the second bottle I began to improve. After I had taken six bottles I was, I honestly believe, delivered from the grave and entirely cured. I am now a strong and hearty man. If you want to use my name in recommending your wonderful medicine to the world, you may."

If you are suffering from weak lungs, obstinate, deep-seated cough, or any form of disease which is chronic, you are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

But in completed man begins anew
A tendency to God.'

The kind of philosophy of the universe which one has must influence in some degree his attitude to his fellow men and to all life.

1. He may be a pessimist. The writer of Ecclesiastes said that "all was vanity and vexation of spirit, and that there was no profit under the sun; that there was no remembrance of the wise more than the fool forever." Schopenhauer taught that the universe is utterly bad in its essence. Von Hartman believed that it is the best world that could possibly be, but that this best is utterly bad. Byron wrote,

"Count o'er the joys thine hours hath seen,
And know whatever thou hast been,

The pessimist would naturally not make much effort to ameliorate the world.

2. One may be an optimist. Here we have the vision of Browning that the struggle with evil in all cases will have a happy issue, for there can be no final, irretrievable failure.

"Else I avert my face, nor follow him
Into that sad, obscure, sequestered state
"Where God unmakes, to remake the soul—
He else made first in vain; which must not be."

Dr. George A. Gordon, the distinguished Congregational minister says: "God is eternally interested in the whole race, that God's final purpose in scourging his children is to bring them back to himself; and that even in hell the worm must gnaw and the fire burn in the service of Eternal Grace." (Christ of Today, p. 203.)

3. Meliorism is third attitude, and is to my mind, the preferable one. Both optimism and pessimism in the extreme, are apt to breed stagnation of effort: one yields to contentment and says that there is nothing to be done, for all will come out right anyway; the other paralyzes effort because nothing can be done, no human power can ever overcome what is essentially and utterly bad. Meliorism assumes that progress can and must now be made by persistent, ceaseless effort directed by wisdom and love; it means that loving human service will bring an uplift of human conditions.

2. Sociology as Related to Biology: —We here find man's place in the life series. The question of heredity is the most important one in this connection. I shall not attempt to evaluate the theory of Lamarck who says that characteristics acquired during the lifetime of an organism may be transmitted to the offspring and may, in time, produce marked racial change; or the theory of Galton in England, and Weismann in Germany, who independently of each other, came to the conclusion that acquired traits are not hereditary. The safe and moderate view is that taken by Hoffding, the psychologist, that any habit or trait that affects the organic constitution of the parent will give a tendency to the same habit or trait in the offspring when the occasion arises. The relevancy of the study of heredity is evident in all cases of pauperism, crime, intemperance, insanity, disease and degeneracy.

3. Sociology as Related to Anthropology:— This science has to do with the natural history of the human race, the physical difference and agreements among men and with other animals. It deals with those causes which produce the various races and colors, of those agencies which gave to the different races their characteristic traits, which made the Hebrew different from the Egyptian, and gave the Hebrew a genius for religion; which made the Greek or the Roman different from the German, and gave the Greek his genius for philosophy and art. It studies those causes which make it so easy to distinguish the German, the French, the English or the Russian from one another; it considers the effect of the intermarriage of races, what unions give increased vigor and what result in degeneracy. It has been discovered that the human child before birth passes through many or all of the stages of animal evolution, and each individual is now believed to recapitulate in its psychic development the whole history of the race. Prof. Mark Baldwin of Princeton says: "The anthropological or historical method aims to discover in the history of society the same principles which individual mental growth has. Its question is, Does the individual in his progress recapitulate in any sense the progress of society as shown in its history from the earliest forms of organization to the latest?" He answers this question in his two volumes on "The Mental Development of the Child and the Race," in a decided affirmation.

The intermingling of races has been an important factor in human progress. Race contact forms a great clinic as well as material for an interesting historical and social study. It is difficult to lay down any law for the union of races from our present data, but this may be said, that, in the union of races, as in that of individuals, there should not be degenerate tendencies in either of the contracting parties. A union of any peoples having traces of degeneracy tends to emphasize their weakness in the progeny. It is plain that a union of two races through prostitution, concubinage, or through marriage of the lower types of both races, results in a positive hindrance to social, mental and moral development. It is generally believed that in a union where the law of similarity is violated, even though it be between the best types of each race, the results, though less unfavorable would tend to lower the racial level. The pathology of races is most important from the fact that human history seems most conclusively to show that any arrest of development from fixedness and immobility of institutions or the excessive "burden of history," as is said of China, or of customs, traditions, castes and religious superstitions, is most difficult to overcome. Racial degeneration once in progress has seldom been easily checked.

The value of anthropology to sociology is evident in our relation to the negroes and all lower races, to all missionary enterprises, and also in this day of modern philanthropy to show how racial progress may be endangered by keeping alive an unfit stock, without proper restraint, and allowing it rapidly and freely to perpetuate its kind. Here arises the value of proper laws restricting the marriage of paupers, criminals, degenerates and diseased persons.

4. Sociology as Related to Psychology: Psychology is now generally regarded as the direct basis of social science. Vast new fields for sociological study have now opened up. The interest in child study and the part played by imitation in both racial and individual development are providing valuable data for our present subject. Psychology has a most vital relation to our methods of religious culture. We are finding for the first time in history that religion is really native to man. We are learning that in the adolescent period, and with the process of maturing, the religious nature will easily and naturally grow into a beautifully sweet, true and strong life. The only true method of religious training is first to discover what is the psychic basis of religion in human nature, and choose only those culture agencies which will properly nourish, exercise and develop the moral and religious elements. Only in this way can a universal interest in religion ever be aroused, and religious teaching and worship be freed from the unessential and objectionable matters. A right understanding of religion is most necessary in the work of social betterment. We must learn to regard it as a life, and then seek only those things which make for life.

The psychology of peoples, a study of the mental characteristics and temperaments of races, and how these have produced the distinguishing marks of Greek or Roman, of English, American, German, French or Italian civilization; the history of peoples considered as a consequence of their character; how these peculiar traits of races are modified by religious beliefs and by great men; how nations lose vitality and die, the laws of civilization and decay— all of these topics are of profound significance. The psychology of the crowd, the mob, and of socialism and anarchy are new subjects. Abnormal psychology is full of interest in its relation to sociology in that it affords a new insight into the study of crime, insanity, intemperance, and pauperism, giving us a firmer grasp on these difficult problems. We here make inquiry as to what is lacking or what is wrong in the psychic nature of the individual that causes him to be a pauper, a criminal, or an inebriate. We may hope through this knowledge for more sane, intelligent and humane methods of dealing with these classes.

5. Sociology and Economics:— Economics treats of wealth, its production and distribution. In this connection we consider wealth in its production, distribution and exchange, as modifying society and also as modified by society, and again as a factor in promoting or hindering human welfare. Here we note the relation of capital to labor, systems of co-operation and profit sharing and labor unions of all kinds; the unemployed, voluntary and involuntary idleness, strikes and lock-outs, boards of arbitration, also questions of immigration, the entrance of women into the industrial life, the employment of children, the introduction of machinery and the consequent displacement of labor, all are seriously before the public mind. We must also become familiar with economic conditions in relation to marriage, birth of children, suicide, intemperance and crime. We must investigate the economic causes of slums, which opens up the problem of the tenement house system and the housing of the wage-earning population.

We now see the vast reach and profound significance of social science. In a large sense it is the science of life individually and collectively. Human well-being demands that every citizen shall have an intelligent understanding of some of these subjects.

Easter Pomp in Rome.

Rome is the place in which to see Easter celebrated with great pomp and brilliancy. At dawn of day the great cannon at the castle of St. Angelo is fired, and on this day the pope officiates in mass at St. Peter's. The pope is borne from the Vatican in his magnificent vestments. On his head is his tiara, which is a very high, round cap of cloth-of-gold surmounted by a triple crown. Above him is borne a canopy of silk with long gold fringe, and beside him are carried the flabelli, which are great fans of ostrich feathers in which are set the eye-like parts of peacock feathers, which are supposed to signify the eyes of watchfulness of the church. The mass is celebrated with the greatest solemnity, and at its close the pope is carried from the great altar to the balcony over the central doorway, and here he pronounces the benediction. The scene is one of great impressiveness and splendor, and it is one of the greatest days of the year in Rome.—(J. L. Harbour, in Leslie's Weekly.

GIDDINGS BROTHERS

A Special Dress Goods Event

From season to season ladies are continually on the alert to learn the new creations in dress fabrics, especially those that are most favored. As we are the recognized style leaders, you, of course, expect us to show the newest materials out. For this season there is a decided tendency for thin, clinging materials, black and colors, in both foreign and domestic weaves. These we are showing in an immense variety. To make you more interested, we make a few attractive offerings for this week, below.

$1.00 Canvas Etamines for yard 90c
Stylish 44-inch Canvas Etamine in new spring shades of tan, blue and grey; worth $1 00 yard—this week, yard 90c

Mistral Cords $1.00

CARPETS CARPETS CARPETS

Many new patterns just received. Our stock now comprises the best qualities of selected carpets only and the largest assortment to be found in Colorado Springs. We carry no trash, nor do we misrepresent our line. Our stock consists of nothing but the best standard makes known and these we are here to stand back of. For this week we are offering:

A wool 2-ply Ingrain, made, lined and laid at, yard 65c

Sanford's Velvet in elegant new patterns, made, lined and laid at $1.10, $1.25, $1.50

Full ten wire Tapestry, new designs, special at, yard 90c

Lowell Body Brussels, made, laid and lined at, yard $1.35

The new style Tapestry, plain center with fancy border, at, yard 90c

A short lengths of carpets have been made up in different size rugs, embracing all the different qualities. They are priced at the exact eastern cost, without freight or making added. This is an exceptional opportunity for you providing you can find the size you are looking for. Remember, the price is the least of our troubles with these remnants.

Our Carpet and Drapery Room
